OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK HOLDERS OF THE
REPUBLICAN PARTY

TO THE
COMMISSIONERS OF THE LAND OFFICE
ALBANY, N. Y.
JANUARY 1, 1892

SIR:
I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. in relation to the land of the State of New York.

I am sorry to hear that you are unable to attend the meeting of the Commissioners of the Land Office on the 15th inst.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
J. B. ALLEN,
Secretary of the Republican Party.

To the Pair-Royal of PEERS;
VVILLIAM,

Lord Marquis of Hartford, &c.

THOMAS;

Earl of Southampton, &c.

IOHN,

Earl of Clare, &c.

My Lords;

THis large, and elaborat Piece of industry being compos'd of so many differing Tomes, and Tounes, may, humbly under favor, admit of more Dedications than One, which puts mee upon the bold adventure of this treble and joynt-Adresse, or Triumvirat of Patrons; Nor could there under this Meridian (or any where else) a more pertinent Election be made considering the quality of the subject-matter, in regard the World knows, as well as I, how excellently you are vers'd therein, so that you may be said to be Lords of these Languages.

Therefore I may promise my self an assurance, that if your Lordships please to cast an Eye of curiosity upon this various VVork (which may be called Trigonum in Tetragono) it will not only find som entertainment, but it will allso improve your knowledg that way, and so affoord profit with pleasure; With these hopes, and in a due posture of observance, I humbly rest,

My most Highly Honored Lords,

Primo Calendas Maij, 1659.

Your Obedient, and ever Obliged

Servant,

Jam Howell.

TOUCHING

The Matter, and Method, of the ensuing

NOMENCLATURE.

VT sono nola, sic Homo Loquelà dignoscitur, As the goodness of a bell is known by the Sound, so the wisdom of a man is known by his Speech, for the Tounge may be sayed to hang in the mouth, as the clapper in a bell; Speech is the gran test, and touchstone to try ones talent and worth; Now, though Speech be a natural faculty belonging to the human creature, which differenceth him from Brute animals, yet to speak well, and eloquently, Art must co-operat with nature, as the Italian Poet hath it wittily;

*Opera di Natura è che l' huom' favella,
Mà se così ò così,

Touching the chief requisits of Eloquence, or of speaking well; ther have been many debates among Rhetoricians, and Orators, but their Opinions concentred all in this particular, that to speak properly, which is, to give every thing its due, genuin and proper peculiar term, was one of the prime, and important part of tru Eloquence: The advancement hereof was the main inducement which moved the Author to so difficult a task, as the compiling of this Nomenclature; It had required extraordinary Labor to have done it in one Language only, more in two, much more in three, but to perform it in four (which was never done before) let the discreeter sort of Readers judge how it would puzzle one's pericranium; I confesse to have had some single helps in divers things that did facilitat the Thing, and Monsieur de Novilliers did contribute more than any. Now, concerning the quality of this new Work, it is not only a Thing of curiosity, or plesure, but of very necessary use, advantage, and utility to all Writers, Poets, Orators, Lawyers, specially to Divines, who use to illustrate things by familiar similitudes, and terch them somtimes from mechanical trades; Here the Gentlemen shall know the true terms of Venery, or Hunting, what a hemuse, a pricket, a girl, what a brocket, a spayd, &c. is among Deer, the burls, the spitters, the trochings, &c. of the head, the flott of a Stag, the fuse of a Buck, the layer, the relayers; he shall learn to distinguish twixt a bevoy of Roes, a founder of Wlfs, a trip of goats; twixt the few-meats of the Deer, the crorells of the Hare, the leses of the Bore, the scumber of the Fox, the spraints of the Otter; He shall know what the stemma, the crinets, the nares, the sercells, the stern, the mail, &c. of a Hawk is, what the pantas, the silandiers, the frounces and other diseases of Hawks are; In horsemanship, he shall learn, what the narils, the champers, the briskets, &c. of a Horse are, what voltas, and boundings, what pasterms, and barnacles, &c. are; In the art of Warr he shall learn what a Camisado, piqueering, lancepresado; rallying, recruting, with other military terms are; In fortification, what a Ravelin, palesado, barbican, & parapet, &c. are; In fencing, what a stramasson, a round reverse, a foin, a diagonal posture, &c. are; Here he shall have all sorts of Arms, from the two-handed sword, to the stileto; All kind of Guns and Artillery, from the Basilisco to a potgun; Here he shall find the terms of Heraldry, the fields by themselves, the metals, the colours, the charges, the points, the ordinaries, the various sorts of crosses, the lordures, the roundles, &c. by themselves; Here he shall know the dark terms of Chymistry, or the Hermetical Art, he shall know what carbones cali, what lilium, limbus, & alcahest paracelsi are, what Etna, anima saturni, aqua cerebri, aquila philosophorum, arbor maris, what Barnabas, butyrum saturni, balneum Maria, ignis gehennae, fulminatio, filius Veneris, canis reuererij, lac virginis, leo viridis, lapis Hercules, sanguis duorum fratrum, sigillum Hermetis, venter equinus, occideris, terra fidelis, Henricus rubeus, &c. are; He shall find the diseases of men, and women, incident to every member by themselves, drugs, cordials, with Poticary wares by themselves; Jewels, and metals among themselves; He shall know in Architecture, what Chamfrings, pedestals, bases, capitals, what Metopes, triglyphs, &c. are; what the Tuscan, Doric, Jonic, Corinthian Columns, &c. are; He shall know what the ratchet, the fussy, the click, the cock, &c. of the watch, what the neb, and dapp of the key which he carrieth in his pocket are; He shall know the maundrell, the rasp, the baldock, &c. of a fletcher; the maul, the whipstave, the rabbit plain, &c. of a Carpenter; the spatula, the truss, the trepan, &c. of the Surgeon; He shall know the terms of Husbandry, and the instruments thereof from the plough to the prong, &c. He shall know the rippling, the braking, the wingling, the heckling of hemp, the tod of wool, and dick of leather, with all other trades from the Pike to the Pin-maker; By Sea he shall have the nautical, or terms of Navigation, the trouage, coursy, pavesade, &c. of a gally, the spurk, brackets, transons, trunnions, &c. of a Ship, the marabat, the drabler, the spritsayl, &c. the puddings, parbuncles, knave, the deadmans eye, the David, the furling of the spritsayl, the piking of the missen, the flinging of the mainyard, the kedger, the stream, and sheat anchor, &c. Here he shall have the Orders of Knighthood throughout all Christendom, from those of the Holy Sepulcher, to the Knights of Nova Scotia: He shall find all the Heretiques from time to time, from Simon Magus in the East, to the Quaker in the West; He shall find here the Religious Orders, both clerical, and claustral throughout all Christendom, with multitude of matter more, in several distinct partitions, and parts belonging to every thing; you shall not find the Egg, but you will have the Yelk, the white, and the Shell together in all the fower languages, which much differ in them all, as in Italian 'tis, Il torlo, la chiara, la guscia; In French, Le moyeu, l'aubin, la coque; In Spanish; Yema, clara, cascara; So, that this were a fit word to take down a braggadochian Sciolist, that wold pretend to be a great Master of these languages, (as I have known many) whereas being well sifted, he proves but a meer superficial Smatterer.

To conclude, the main thing which the Author hath studied to observe in the compile of this Work all along is brevity, and method (which will be found in all the rest of his Works); Now, ther's nothing that's more auxiliary, and advantagious to the retentive faculty of memory than a good Method; for what the Rule is to the Mason, to the Carpenter, to the Ship-wright, or other exterior Manual Trades, the same is Method to all kind of Scientifical knowledg, it is as the Gnomon to a Dyal, the Rudder to a Ship, the Compass to the Rudder, and the Lilly to the Compass, The first divides the beams of the Sun, the second the billowes of the Sea, and the two last may be said to divide the whole Heaven.

THe Peeples voice, the Voice of God we call,
And what are Proverbs but the peeples voice ?
Coin'd first, and current made by common choice,
Then sure they must have Weight and Truth withall.

They are a publick Heritage entayld
On every Nation, or like Hireloomes ^{ser} nayld,
Which passe from Sire to Son, and so from Son
Down to the Granchild till the world be done ;
They are Free-Denisons by long Descent,
Without the grace of Prince or Parlement,
The truest Commoners, and Inmate guests,
We fetch them from the Nurse and Mothers breasts ;
They can prescription plead gainst King or Crown,
And need no Affidavit but their own.

VVe thought it then well worth the pains, and cost,
To muster up these Ancients in one Host,
Which here like furbishd medalls we present
To all that breath in Christendom and Kent.

THE

TO MY HIGHEST HONORED LORD, MOUNTAGUE,

Earl of LINDZEY, Lord Great Chamberlain of England, &c.

at G RIMSTHORP.

My Lord,

Have heard the English Tounge often traduc'd abroad, that, whereas the witt and wisdom of a Nation is much discern'd in their Proverbiall Speeches, The English is more barren in this kind then other Languages; To take off this Alperſion, and rectifie the Opinion of the world herein, was one of the main Motifs that induc'd me to impose this (no easie) taske upon my self of Collecting and publishing these English Proverbs, or old Sayed-Sawes and Adages, which I dare say, have as much Witt, Significance and Salt in them as any of the other Languages that follow. Some of them may be said to be as old as Pauls Steeple; And we live in those destructive fatall Times, that are like to verifie a very ancient Proverb of that stately Temple (the greatest Ornament London ever had) viz. Pauls cannot alwayes stand, alluding to the lubricity of all sublunary things.

'Tis confessed that other Languages are fuller of Them, specially the Italian, whereof Signior Florio (who deserved so much of the English Nation, by his Dialogs and Dictionary, (specially this last which is more compleat) hath published about six thousand, and divers of them are allowed to be bald being so old.

numerous and Noble Family, whereof the late Addition of your son, James, Lord Norris, that hopefull bud of Honor, is none of the least.

But, my Lord, besides the premises, there was another main reason did prompt me to this Dedicatory addresse, which was, that late Posterity (for Proverbs are long-liv'd) as well as the present Age, may find it upon Record, how much I was your servant for so many Noble Favors of sundry kinds, so that I may say you do herein as in all things else, truly Patrizare with my Lord your Father, in whose Favor I had the happinesse to live many years, that Noble Hero, who having received some mortal wounds upon the true Stage of Honor, as he commanded in chief a Royall Army, you did preserve him for the time (though with the apparant hazard of your life and liberty) from the fury of the firing Enemy.

So with my hearty prayers to Heaven for an affluence of all Felicities upon you and yours, most humbly desiring to live still in your good Opinion and Favor, (which I account one of the greatest contentments of my life) I rest,

My Highest Honored Lord,

Your obedient, and ever obliged servant,

Proverbs may not improperly be called the Philosophy of the Common People, or, according to Aristotle, the truest Reliques of old Philosophy, whereunto he adds another remarkable Saying, That as no man is so rich who might be able to spend equally with the People, so none is so wise as the People in generall; for vox Populi Vox Dei the voice of the People is the Voice of God, voz de Pleu, voz de Deu, as the Gascon hath it, for it must needs be true what every one sayes.

Now all Proverbs consist most commonly of Caution, and Counsell, of Directions, and Document, for the regulating of Humane life; wherein as there is much Witt, so there is oftentimes a great deal of Weight wrapp'd up in a little. The chief Ingredients that go to make a true Proverb, being Sense, shortnesse and Salt; This may be the reason that induc'd the greatest of Sophies, and wisest of Kings, to Characterize his Inspirations and Precepts with the Title of Proverbs; For it may be sayed, that as the Peripatetic in his Acroamatiques, the Egyptians in their Hieroglyphics, and the Rabbies in their Caball involve the choicest of their Knowledge (though obscurely) so it may be said, that in Proverbs there is much wisdom couch'd up in a concise quaint way, and that with a kind of quicknesse, familiarity and mirth, and sometimes twixt jest and earnest.

Plato in his Dialogs called Pythagoras, makes Socrates maintain, that Proverbs are the Antientst Philosophy; Add hereunto, that among the Ancients, Proverbs carried a great sway with them in point of proof towards the Assertion of Right, and Vindication of Truth; That famous Plea twixt the Athenians and Megarenses about Salamini, was determined by an old Proverb of Solon's: 'Tis also very remarkable in the Annalls of Italy, how the Gibelins attempting to demolish Florence, were diverted by two old Proverbs, which Farinata de gli Uberti produced: In our Common Law there are some Proverbs that carry a kind of Authority with them, as that which began in Henrie the Fourths time, He that bulls the Cow must keep the Calf; In Kent they have one touching Gavelkind,

The

The Father to the bough, the son to the plough; As also, A Solo ad Cœlum, viz. That one may build as high as he will upon his own Freehold. There is another, Possession is eleven points of the Law; There are others, as, When Gabriel blowes his horn this question will be decided; There are two more that come neer to the Nature of Proverbs, The King can do no wrong, The King cannot die; (but by the fatality of the Times, these last be now grown out of date;) There is also among the Heralds, Color upon color is false Heraldrie, &c.

Moreover, some Proverbs are of so rich, and recondit a sense, that like silk wown'd up upon a small bottom, they may be drawn out into a large web; As in Salamanca one fram'd a weighty discours of an houre long out of this Proverb, Da Dios alas a la hormiga para que se pierda mas ayna; God gives wings unto the Ant that she may destroy herself the sooner, alluding to Riches and ambition ————— Tolluntur in altum ut lapsu graviore cadant —————

That inspired Instrument of saving Faith, Saint Paul, makes use of divers Proverbs (we know well) for matter of Edification; for a significant, and sapid succinct Proverb makes a firmer Impression, it sticks unto, and works upon the Intellectuals oftentimes more then a whole Oration, or long-lungd Sermon: Moreover, Proverbs may be sayed to serve as Perl, or other precious stones for the Embrodering of a Speech, or as sinews to strengthen it, and enforce a belief upon the Auditor; for as the Italian hath it, Proverbio non falla, ther's a kind of infallibility in Proverbs, for it must needs be true what every one sayes (as was pointed before); And 'tis better to be spoken of ill by one before All, then by All before one.

This made Erasmus of Roterodam, and Doctor Herman Nunnez the Spaniard, who was called the Phoenix of his Time in all kind of Literature, after they had waded through all the severest Sciences, to become Paræmiographers, or Collectors of vulgar Proverbs in their old age; Touching the latter, after he had been Reader of the Greek Tounge (the prime Philosophicall Language) as also of Rhetoric and other graver Studies in salamanca, and had writt many Glosses upon Seneca, Pomponius Mela, and Pliny, yet at last, like Cato, who fell to learn Greek at fourscore years of age, He applied himself to the study of Proverbs; Nay, to go a stepp higher, Don Innigo de Lopez, a Grande of Spain, and Marquis of Sentellana, being chief of the Family of the Mendozas, made it his study at last to purge and publish the Common Spanish Refians, or Proverbs, which will be found in this Volume.

Lastly, Proverbs may be called the truest Franklins or Freeholders of a Countrey; They have no other parent but the people, being Traditionall Sayings, Precepts and Memorandums, handed over as it were from Father to Son, from Mother to Daughter, from Nurses to Children time out of mind, and will be so as long as sermocination lasts among men; And though in point of Generation they are a kind of Naturall Children, and of an unknown birth, yet are they no by-blowes or bastards, but legitimated by per-Prescription and long Tract of Ancestrall Time, so that, that Topicall Axiom may be verified of them more, then of any other Knowledge, viz. Bonum quod communius est melius.

Now let the squeamish Reder take this Rule along with him, that Proverbs being Proleticall, and free familiar Countrey sayings do assume the Libertie to be sometimes in plain, down-right, and homely termes, with wanton naturall Expressions, that with their Salt some of them carry a kind of Salacity (which are very frequent in Gower, Chaucer, Skelton, Jo. Heywood and others) yet they cannot be taxd of beastlines, or bawdry.

To conclude, touching the Method of perusing these Proverbs or Adages, (for Varro is for that word) with benefit, the Reder shall do well to have his Leger-Book about him when he falls upon Them, to Register therein such that Quadrat with his Conceit and Genius, for a Proverb is a very slippery thing, and soon slides out of the Memory, which by that means may be made more Tenable.

A LETTER OF ADVICE, Consisting all of
PROVERBS,

(Running in one congruous and concurrent Sense) to one that was towards Mariage.

Sir,

Lthough I am none of those that love to have an Oare in every ones Boat, Or such a busie body as deserves to be hitt in the teeth, that I should keep my breath to cool my pottage, yet, you and I having eaten a peck of salt together, and having a hint that you are upon a businesse that will either make you or mar you, for a mans best Fortune, or his worst's a Wife, I would wish you to look before you leap, and make more then two words to a bargain.

Tis true, that Marriages are made in Heaven, it is also true that Marriage and hanging goeth by Destiny; But if you are disposed to marry, marry a shrew rather then a sheep, for a Fool is fulsome, yet ye run a risk also in the other, for a shrew may so tye your nose to the Grindstone, that the gray Mare will prove the better Horse; Besides, there is another old layed Saw, that every one knowes how to tame a shrew but he who hath her; If it be your Fortune to meet with such a one, she may chance put you to the charge of buying a long spoon, for he must have a long spoon who will eat with the Devill.

Moreover, if you needs must marry, do not fetch your wife from Dunmow, for so you may bring home two sides of a Sow, Nor from Westminster, for he who goeth to Westminster for a Wife, to Pauls for a Man, and to Smithfield for a Horse, may have a Jade to his Horse, a Knave to his Man, and a Wagg-tail to his Wife.

But if you needs must marry, lett her rather be little then bigg, for of two evils the least is to be chosen; yet there is another hazard in that also, for for a little pott is soon hott, and so she will be little and lowd, if you give her an Inch she will take an Ell, she will alwayes have a Rowland for your Oliver, and two words for one, such a Wife though she be as tender as a Parsons Lemman, yet she may prove a Wolf in a Lambs skinn, Instead of a Rose you will have a Burr; If you meet with such a one, you may be put to answer as he was who having a damnable scold to his Wife, and being asked by Sir Tho. Badger, who recommended her unto him? he sayed an old Courtier Sir, What Courtier? sayed Sir Tho. 'Twas the Devill Sir.

Furthermore, take heed of too handsome a Wife, for then she is likely not to be all your own, and so she may bring you to your Horn-book again, or rather make you Horn-madd, and then you have brought your Hoggs to a fair Market.

But by all means, be wary of too costly and lavishing a Wife, for so you may quickly turn a Noble to nine-pence, and come home by broken Crosse, she will in a short time make hunger to dropp out at your nose, she will thwitten a Mill-post to a pudding-prick, the Goose will drink as deep as the Gander, and then, When all is gone and nothing left, what avails the Dagger with the dudgeon heft? The Wolf will be then still at your door, and the black Ox will tread on your toe, your Neighbours will make mowes at you, and say, you are as wise as Walthams Calf, who went nine miles to suck a bull, and came home more thirsty then when he went.

You must also be wary how you marry one that hath cast her Rider, lest you fall into a Quagmire wherein another was lost, I mean a Widdow, for so you will be subject to have a Deaths head put often in your Dish; Touching the Complexion of your Wife, the Spaniard holdeth black to be the wholsomest, for He hath a Proverb, Muger negra trementina en ella; A black woman hath Turpentine in her; The Frenchman is for the broun, When he saith, Fille brunette, gaye & nette, A broun Lasse is gay and cleanly; But they both will tell you, that touching a red-haired and bearded woman, salute them a hundred paces off.

Lastly, take heed by all means of doting so farre upon any one Female, as to marry her for meer Affection; 'Tis true, that one hair of a woman will draw more then a hundred yoke of Oxen, yet meer Affection is but blind Reason, and there are more Mayds then Malkin; 'Tis true, that in love ther's no lack, yet it is as true, that nothing hath no savour, and there must be Suet as well as Oatmeal to make a Pudding; In this Case it is better to buy a quart of Milk by the penny then keep a Cow, and to follow the Italian Proverb, videlicet, Commend the Sea, but keep thy self ashoar, Commend the Hills, but keep thy self on the Plains, Commend a wedded Life, but keep thy self a Batchelor; According to another wise Proverb, He who marrieth doth well, but he who marrieth not, doth better; Whereunto alludeth a third, That next to a single Life the married is best; I will Conclude with that of the Italian, Honest men use to marry, but Wise men not.

When

When you read this, I know you will be apt to say, that a Fools Bolt is soon shott, or crie out, Witt whither wilt thou? yet, though I am none of the seven Sages, I can look as farr into a Milstone as another, and you know that the stander by seeth more then the Gamester.

What I write is the Language of a Friend, and could I steed you herein, I would do it with as good a will as ever I came from School, for I am Yours as much as any Wife can be, or rather, that I may conclude with the old Roman Proverb, I am Yours, usque ad Aras,

Yours to the Altar,

J. H.

 Enough is as good as a feast.
 Lord, take me as I am, not as I was. A saying of the penitent.
 'Tis good sleeping in a whole skin.
 She mends as sower ale doth in sommer.
 Small pitchers have wide ears.
 He setts cock on the hoop, viz. He is prodigal.
 When he should work, each finger is a thumb. Spoken of a lazy fellow.
 Better spare at the brim, then at the bottom.
 He goes out of Gods blessing to the warm Sun, viz. from good to worse.
 They are so great one with another, that the one cannot piss but the tother must let a fart.
 The shoe will hold with the sole.
 Better to be unmannerly then troublesome.
 He that's bound must obey.
 You have spun a fair threed, you have brought your hogs to a fair market. Spoken in derision when a business hath sped ill.
 Neer is my petticoat, but neerer is my smock.
 As flat as a flounder.
 There is a padd in the straw.
 Spik and span new, viz. From Spica an ear of Corn, and the spawn of a fresh fish.
 As sure as louse in bosome.
 Nothing down, nothing up.
 A good Jack makes a good Gill.
 In love is no lack.
 An inch breaks no square.
 The hasty man never wants woe.
 Wedding and hanging go by destiny.
 Better give then take.
 Butter is gold in the morning, silver at noon, and lead at night.
 In space comes grace.
 'Tis ill waking of a sleepy dogg.
 It hapneth in an hower, that happens not in seven years.
 He holds my nose to the grindstone.
 To set up a candle before the devil.
 I am made or marr'd.
 Of sufferance comes ease.
 A Lords heart, and a beggars purse.
 His heart is at his heel.
 A cunning knave needs no broker.
 Whats bred in the bone, will never out of the flesh.
 I can see as far into a millstone as another.
 God is no botcher.
 Thy capp hath more ease then thy head.
 A new broom sweeps clean.
 Make not two sorrows of one.
 His hand is still on his halfpenny.
 Good walking with horse in hand.
 He hath turnd his tipper.
 No receivers, no thieves.
 Beggars may sing before thieves.
 Thou beggest at the wrong door.
 The black Oxe never trod on thy foot, viz. Thou wast never in want.

He runneth far, that ne're returns.
 To buy a pigg in a poke.
 Hungry flies bite sore.
 This is to cast Perls before swine.
 In at the one ear, and out at the tother.
 The further we go, the further behind.
 Take heart of grace.
 As mad as a March-hare.
 Harp no more on that string.
 He casts a sheeps eye at her.
 Who is more deaf then he that will not hear?
 Have but few friends, though much acquaintance.
 'Tis a good horse that never stumbles.
 He may mend, but not grow worse.
 I cannot hear on that side.
 To set a good face on the matter.
 That which will be a sharp thorn pricks betimes:
This is meant of the disposition of children.
 One nail drives out another.
 Light burden far heavy.
 A tale of a rubb, Catt to her kind.
 A Catt may look on a King.
 Thou maist be in my Pateroster, but shalt never come into my Creed.
 There goeth the hare away.
 Loosers have leave to speak.
 Further then the wall we cannot go.
 A man far from his good is nigh his harm.
 How many miles to Cuntington Mayd? If you light my Lord, and kiss my tail, you are at the towns end.
 That which is one mans meat, is another mans poyson.
 Who would please all, and himself too, undertakes what he cannot do.
 Smooth Language grates not the tounge.
 You may put in your eye what you get by it.
 Children are a certain care, and incertain comfort.
 Give a thing, and take a thing, that's the Devils gold-ring.
 Ask my fellow whether I am a thief.
 That which is bred in the bone, will never go out of the flesh.
 Possession is eleven points of the Law.
 He hath not yet sowed all his wild oats.
 There is no cake, but there is the like of the same make.
~~They agree like bells, they want but hanging up.~~
 They agree like bells, they want but hanging up.
 He was hangd who left his drink behind him; A thief being pursued to an Alehouse, left suddenly his drink behind, and so was discover'd and hang'd.
 Every one cannot have a nose like a rhooing-horn.
 His eyes are bigger then his belly.
 To loose a Goose, and get a fether.
 As scabby as a Cuckow, as lean as a Hern.
 Ther is no deceit in a brimmer.
 Brave man at arms, but weak to Balthasar.
 What shall we starve in a Cooks-shop, and a shoulder of mutton by?

Sweet heart and bagg pudding.
 Threatned folks live long.
 He hath a good voice to beg Bacon.
 Eat less, and drink less, and buy a knife at Michael-mass.
 As plain to be seen as the nose on your face.
 Can you not be content to feed well, but you must cry roast-meat?
 To put a good face on an ill game.
 You count your chickens before they be hatch'd.
 One doth the scathe, and another hath the scorn.
 He hath swallowed a Spider, viz. He hath plaid the bankrupt.
 Fall edge, fall blade, whatsoever happen.
 He who doth an old wife wedd,
 Must eat a cold apple as he goes to bed; This relates to the flatulence of the apple which causeth Erection.
 You will make me believe that the Moon is made of green cheese.
 One pair of heels is worth two pair of hands.
 Coy Mayds lead Apes in Hell.
 You are as wise as the men of Gotham, who went to build a wall about the wood to keep out the Cuckow.
 The more hast the worse speed.
 His horses head is swoln so bigg, that he cannot come out of the stable, viz. He owes the hostler so much.
 This Tobacco grew under the King of Spains window, and the Queen piss'd upon it.
 Our Fathers which were wondrous wise,
 Did wash their throats, before they wash'd their eyes.
 With as good a will as ever I came from school.
 Who is killed by a Canon-bullet was curst in his Mothers belly.
 When thou dost hear a toul or knell,
 Then think upon thy passing-bel.
 As busie as a Hen with ten Chickins.
 A Crabb of the Wood, is sawce very good, for a Crabb of the Sea;
 The wood of a Crabb, is good for a Drabb that will not her Husband obey.
Pauls will not always stand.
 The third of November the Duke of Vandosm was under water,
 The fourth of November the Queen was delivered of a daughter,
 The fifth of November we were like to have a great slaughter,
 And the sixth of November was the next day after.
 Who wears black, must carry a brush at his back.
John would wipe his nose if he had it.
 Shitten-come-shires is the beginning of love.
 His nose will abide no jest; he hath taken a pett, or Pepper in the nose.
 You would make me believe that an Asses ears are made of horns.
 Drift is as bad as unthrift.
 Full of curtesie full of craft.
 His hair growes through his hood.

He who will thrive, must rise at five;
 He who hath thriven, may sleep till seven;
 Who will not thrive at all, may sleep till eleven.
 A drunken C. hath no Porter.
 Debt is better then death.
 Last make fast, viz. shut the dore.
 If every fool should weat a bable, fewel would be dear.
 A fit night to steal away a fair Lady, viz. A cleer Moon-shine.
 Every one a fool or a Physitian to himself after thirtie.
 To buy a pigg in a poke.
 God sends meat, the devil sends us Cooks.
 The more she weeps the less she will piss.
 Where the Turks horse doth once tread the gras never growes.
 A good conscience a continual Feast.
 The greatest wealth is contentment with a little.
 Prayer brings down the first blessing, and Praise the second.
 You are he that did eat the pudding and the bagg.
 Money makes the gray Mare to go.
 He is my neighbour who grinds at my mill.
 Strick a sprigg of Nettle in her arse and send her for a token to the devil.
 A womans advice is best at a dead list.
 Better children cry, then old men.
 In every Countrey the Sun riseth in the morning.
 The brain that sowes not corn plants thistles, *viz.
 If there be not good thoughts, there are bad.*
 He who hath no ill fortune is cloyd with good.
 Do what thou oughtst, and come what can come.
 Think of ease, but work on.
 It is more painfull to do nothing then something.
 Good is good, but better carries it.
 Good cheap is dear, for it tempts a man to buy what he needs not.
 The absent party is still faulty.
 A married man turns his staff into a stake, viz. He hath not so much liberty.
 Truth and Oyl are ever above.
 Prayer and provender never hinder journey.
 Water, fire, and war, quickly make room.
 The eye and holy things can bear no jeasting.
 Thou art wise enough, if thou canst keep thee warm.
 As wise as Walthams calf, who went nine miles to suck a Bull, and came home as dry as he went.
 Light come light go.
 Unknown, unkist.
 There is God in the almery.
 The devil's in the Orologe.
 The best is behind.
 The worst is behind.
 A wonder lasteth but nine dayes.
 Rubb a gald hors on the back and he will winch.
 A good beginning hath a good ending.
 To stumble at a straw, and leap over a block.
 The shoe will hold with the sole.
 I have hang'd up my hatchet and scap'd my self.
 An old knave is no babe.
 Thy face is shorn against the wooll.

Thou art one of them to whom God bad ho.
 The weakest goes to the walls.
 I will set all at six and seven.
 A scabby horse is good enough for a scabby squire.
 When ale is in, wit is out.
 Poor men have no souls.
 Time and Tyde stayes for no man.
 Better steal a horse then stand by and look on.
 A woman hath nine lives, and a cat so many.
 He will say the Crow is white.
 You give me a Pigg of my own Sow.
 Change is no robbery.
 I laught in my sleeve.
 I seek for a thing wife, that I would not find.
 He hath thy head under his girdle.
 He shoots wide of the mark.
 He is a Merchant without ware or money.
 Tounge breaketh bones.
 Time is tickel.
 He casts beyond the Moon.
 Backare quoth Mortimer to his Sow.
 Tis but a flea-biting.
 Wine wears no breeches.
 He that medleth with all things may shooe the Gosling.
 The plain fashion is best.
 Who cometh last, let him make fast.
 He will kill a man for a mels of mustard.
 Of two ills choose the least.
 Forberance is no quittance.
 Misreckoning is no payment.
 I will take it falth in the sneaf where ever it fall.
 He is Jack out of Office.
 Let the Cat wink, and the Mouse runs.
 Say nay and take it.
 I will say nought but mum.
 His tounge runs before his wit.
 Own is own, and home is home.
 She hath spun a fair threed.
 They may laugh that win.
 He playes best who wins.
 Let this wind blow over.
 I have seen as far come as nigh.
 The keys hang not at one mans girdle.
 A good coming in, is all in all with a widdow.
 A bow long bent at last waxeth weak.
 A broken sleeve holderh the arm back.
 A Cat may look upon a King.
 A carion kite will never be a good hawk.
 A dogg hath his day.
 A dogg will bark ere he bite.
 A fools bolt is soon shot.
 A friend is not so soon gotten as lost.
 A friend is never known till a man have need.
 A good man can doe no more harme then a sheep.
 A good tale ill told in the telling is marr'd.
 A good wife maketh a good husband.
 A good neighbour, a good good morrow.
 A grunting horse and a groaning wife never fail their Riders.
 A hard beginning hath a good ending.

A hard-fought field, where no man escapeth un-killd.
 A hasty man never wants woe.
 A hony tounge, a heart of gall.
 A legg of a Lark is better then the whole body of a Kyte.
 A friend in Court is worth a penny in purse.
 After meat comes mustard.
 As long liveth a merry man as a sadd.
 A long harvest of a little Corn.
 A low hedge is easily leaped over.
 A man is not so soon healed as hurt.
 A Man, far from his good, is nigh his harm.
 A man may buy Gold too dear.
 A man may well bring a horse to the water, but he cannot make him drink without he will.
 A mouse in time may bite in two a Cable.
 A piece of a Kid is worth two of a Cat.
 A sorry dogg that is not worth the whistling after.
 As proud comes behind as goes before.
 A proud horse that will not bear his own provender.
 A pound of care will not pay an ounce of debr.
 A scald head is soon broken.
 A swine over-fat, is the cause of his own bane.
 A traveller may ly with authority.
 A wonder lasteth but nine dayes.
 After black clouds cleer weather.
 After a storm comes a calm.
 After dinner sit a while,
 After supper walk a mile.
 All is not gold that glisters.
 All is well that ends well.
 An ill cook that cannot lick his own fingers.
 An inch breaketh no square.
 An inch in a Misle, is as bad as an ell.
 An unbidden guest knoweth not where to sit.
 As a man is friended so the Law is ended.
 As deep drinketh the Goose, as the Gander.
 As good to play for nought as work for nought.
 As I brew, so must I drink.
 Batchelors wives and, Maydens children be well taught.
 Be it better be it worse, go you after him that bears the purse.
 Believe well, and have well,
 Better be envied then pittied.
 Better tooth out then alwayes ake.
 Better fed then taught.
 Better half a loaf then no bread.
 Better late then never.
 Better leave then lack.
 Better sit still then rise and fall.
 Better spare at brim, then at bottom.
 Better to be happy then wise.
 Better to bow then break.
 Better to rule, then be ruled by the rout.
 Better unborn then untaught.
 Better a bad excuse then none at all.
 Beware of had I wist.
 Black will take no other hue.
 Blind men should nor judge of colours.

Bought wit is best.
By wisdom peace, by peace plentie.
Burnt child dreads the fire.

Cat after kind.
Christmas come's but once a year, and when it come's there is good cheer.
Close fitteth my shirt, but closer my skin.
Cloudy mornings turn to fair evenings.
Cut your coat after your cloth.

Dear bought and farr fett, are dainties for Ladies.
Dinners cannot be long where dainties want.
Do well and have well.

Enough is as good as a feast.
Ever drunk ever dry.
Even reckoning maketh long friends.
Every man batteth the fat hog.
Every man cannot hit the nail on the head.
Every man for himself and God for us all.
Every one after his fashion.
Evil gotten goods never proves well.
Evil gotten evil spent.

Fast bind, fast find.
Fair words make fools fain.
Fair words hurt not the mouth.
Few words to the wise, suffice.
Fish is cast away that is cast into dry pools.
First come first served.
Folly it is to spurn against a prick.
Foul water as soon as faire will quench hot fire.
Foul in the cradle, fair in the saddle.
Fools with fair words are pleased.
Frost and fraud have alwayes foul ends.

Give an inch, and you will take an ell.
God never sendeth mouth, but he sendeth meat.
God sendeth cold after cloth.
God sendeth fools fortune.
Good words cost nought.
Good riding at two Ankers men have told,
For if the one fail, the other may hold.
Good to be merry and wise.
Great boast small roft.
Great barkers are no biters.

Half warn'd, half arm'd.
Happy man, happy dote.
Hast makes wast.
He can ill pipe that lacketh his upper lip.
He laugheth that winneth.
He may ill run that cannot go.
He must needs swim that is held up by the chin.
He runneth far that never returneth again.
He that cometh last must make all fast.
He that cometh last to the pot soonest wroth.
He that feareth every grasse must not pisse in the meddow.
He that hath an ill name is half hanged.
He that hath plenty of good shall have more.

He that hath but a little, he shall have lesse,
And he that hath right nought, right nought shall posseffe.

He that is borne to be hanged shall never be drown'd.

He that striketh with the sword shall be beaten with the scabbard.

He that will not when he may, when he would he shall have nay.

He that winketh with the one eye and looketh with the other,

I will not trust him though he were my brother.

He that playes more then he sees, forfeiteth his eyes to the King.

He is proper that hath proper conditions.

He that worst may must hold the candle.

He that reckoneth without his Host, must reckon twice.

Hold fast when you have it.

Hope well and have well.

Hot Love soon cold.

How can the Fole amble when the horse and Mare trot?

Hunger maketh hard beans sweet.

Hunger pierceth stone-walls.

Hunger is the best sauce.

If every one mend one, all shall be mended.

Ill gotten ill spent.

Ill putting a sword in a mad mans hand.

Ill weeds grow fast.

In Love no lack.

In trust is Treason.

It chanceth in an houre that happeneth not once in seven year.

It is a bad cloth that will take no colour.

It is a foul bird that defileth his own nest.

It is an ill wind that bloweth no man good.

It is a good horse that never stumbleth.

It is better kisse a knave then to be troubled with him.

It is better to be a shrew then a sheep.

It is easier to descend then ascend.

It is good fishing in troubled water.

It is good to beware by other mens harms.

It is good to be merry and wise.

It is good sleeping in a whole skin.

It is good to have a hatch before the door.

It is hard halting before a cripple.

It is hard to wive and thrive both in a year.

It is hard striving against the stream.

It is an ill coming to the end of a feast and begining of a fray.

It is ill fishing before the net.

It is ill healing of an old sore.

It is merry in Hall, when beards wagg all.

It is merry when Tinkers meet.

It is not all butter that the Cow shires.

It must needs be true what every man saith.

It pricketh betimes that will be a good thorn.

It is not good to have an Oare in every mans boat.

It will not out of the flesh, that is bred in the bone.

It is a rare thing to doe good.
Is every man born to be rich?
In the end, things will mend.

Knowledge is a great blessing.
Kindnesse will creep where it cannot go.

Leave is light.
Like will to like.
Little said soon amended.
Little do you know what I think.
Look ere you leap.
Look not too high, lest a chip fall in thine eye.
Love cometh in at the window, and goeth out at the door.
Love is blind.
Love me little, and love me long.
Love me, love my Dogg.
Like to like, quoth the Devil to the Collier.
Like master, like man.
Look not a given Horse in the mouth.

Many hands make light work.
Many cannot see wood from trees.
Mock not quoth Mumford, when his wife call'd him Cuckold.
Many kisse the Child for the Nurses sake.
Many a little maketh a mickle.
More mayds then Mawkin.
Many small make a great.
Many words will not fill a bushel.
Many men many minds.
Measure is a merry mean.
Might overcometh right.
More afraid then hurt.

Need hath no Law.
Need maketh the old wife trot.
Never pleasure without repentance.
No man loveth his fetters, be they made of gold.
No man ought to look a given horse in the mouth.
No woman seeks another in the Oven, which hath not before been there.
Nothing hath no favor.
No man liveth without a fault.
Nothing is impossible to a willing heart.
Nothing venture norhing have.

Of a good beginning cometh a good end.
Of a ragg'd Colt cometh a good Horse.
Of little medling cometh great ease.
Of sufferance cometh ease.
One ill weed marreth a whole pot of pottage.
One ill word asketh another.
One shrewd turn followeth another.
One fool maketh many fools.
One thing well done, is twice done.
Out of sight out of mind.
Over shoes over boots.
One beateth the Bush, another catcheth the Birds.

Poor and proud, fie, fie.
Pride goes before, and shame follows after.
Pride will have a fall.
Profered service stinketh.
Prove thy friend ere thou have need.
Patience is a Vertue.
Puff not against the wind.
Patience perforce, is medicin for a mad dog.

Reckoners without their host, must reckon twice.
Rome was not built in one day.
Reason rules all things.
Righteous things will prosper.

Saying and doing are two things.
Seldom cometh the better.
Seldom seen is soon forgotten.
Self do self have.
Shame take him that shame thinketh.
Shamefull craving must have shameful pay.
Set a beggar a horse-back, and he will gallop.
Small pitchers have wide ears.
So many heads, so many witts.
Soft fire maketh sweet malt.
Salt seasons all things.
Somewat is better then nothing.
Soon gorten, soon spent.
Soon hot, soon cold.
Soon ripe, soon rotten.
So long goeth the pot to the water, that at length it cometh home broken.
Spare to speak, spare to speed.
Speak faire and think what you will.
Spend and God will send.
Store is no fore.
Struggle not against the stream.
Such a father such a son.
Such beginning such end.
Such lipps such lettice.
Such welcome such farewell.
Such Carpenters such chips.
Sweet meat will have sowre sauce.

Take time when time cometh, lest time steal a way.
Take heed is a good reed.
Tales of Robin Hood are good for fools.
That one will not another will.
That the eye seeth not, the heart rueth not.
That peny is well spent that saveth a groat.
The beggar may sing before the thief.
The best Cart may overthrow.
The best is best cheap.
The blind lead the blind, they will stumble.
The Cat knoweth whose lipps she licketh well enough.
The fewer the better fare.
The Fox fareth well when he is cursed.
The greatest talkers are the least doers.
The greatest Clarks be not the wisest men.
The more the merrier.
The malt-man comes on nunday.

The greatest Crabs be not all the best.
 The highest tree hath the greatest fall.
 The young Cock croweth as the old heareth.
 The keyes hang not all at one mans girdle.
 The longer East, the shorter West.
 The longest day hath an end.
 The low stake standeth long.
 The eye-servant is never good for his Master.
 The more thy years, the nigher thy grave.
 The Nightingall sings clear.
 The Parish-Priest forgetteth that ever he hath been Holy-water Clark.
 The Tide keeps its course.
 There is difference between staring and starke blind.
 There is falsehood in fellowship.
 Think well of all men.
 They must hunger in frost that will not worke in heat.
 They that are bound must obey.
 They that be in Hell weene there is no other Heaven.
 Threatned folks live long.
 Time lost we cannot win.
 Time stayeth for no man.
 Too much of one thing is good for nothing.
 Tread a worm on the tail, and she will turn again.
 The penny in pocket is a good companion.
 Truth shameth the Devil.
 Two eyes can see more then one.
 Two false knaves need no Broker.
 Two Apples in my hand, and the third in my mouth.
 Two heads are better then one.
 Talk not too much on State-affairs.
 Two may keep counsel when one is away.
 What is a workman without his tools?
 What the heart thinketh, the tongue speaketh.
 When the head aketh all the body is the worse.
 When the pigg is proferd hold up the poke.
 When theives fall out, true folks come to their own.
 VVelcome death quoth the Ratt, when the trapp fell down.
 When thy neighbours house doth burn be careful of thine own.
 VVe will do any thing that we may dance all.
Will. the Piper hath broke his pipes.
 VVho hath an ill name is half hang'd.
 Where nothing is a little doth ease.
 VVhere saddles lack, better ride on a padd, then on a horses bare back.
 VVhere nought is to wend witt, wise men flee the clogs.
 VVhere men are well used, they will frequent
 there.
 VVhere wine is not common, commons must be sent.
 VVithout hope the heart would break.
 VVho lacketh a stock, his gaine is not worth a chipp.
 VVho meddlet in all things,

May shoote the Gollings.
 VVho so deaf as he that will not hear?
 VVho weddeth ere he be wise, shall die ere he thrive.
Will. will have Wilt, though Will woe winn.
 VVinn gold, and wear gold.
 VVit is never good till it be bought.
 VVho that may not as they would, must will as they may.
 Yll gotten, ill spent.
 Ynough is as stood as a feast.
 The Goose drinketh as deep as the Gander.
 The masters footstep: fatten the soyl.
 He hath enough to keep the VVolf from the door;
viz. Hunger.
 Better are many meals then one merry one.
 You may scratch where it itcheth not.
 He shakerh as an Aspen-leaf.
 The grief of the head is the grief of griefs.
 A piece of Kid is worth two of a Catt.
 Ther's no butter will stick on my bread.
 'Tis ill healing of an old sore.
 He cannot see the wood for trees.
 His lust is as young as his limbs are old.
 As coy as Crokers mare.
 It would make a horse break his halter.
 A new broom sweepeth clean.
 Every thing is worse for the wearing.
 As cold as a key.
 As hott as a Toast.
 I fear neither King nor Keyfar.
 Better to be King of a Mole-hill, then a Keyfars slave.
 VVinn it and wear it.
 A mans best fortune, or his worst's a wife.
 His tounge outrunneth his witt.
 To marry a young Mayd to an old man, is to cover a new house with old straw.
 Hab or nab, Ile have her.
 VVho hath much pease may put the more in the pott.
 As bald as a Coott.
 As sure as Check.
 Foolish pitty mars the Citty.
 Spare the rodd, spill the child.
 After dinner sitt a while,
 After supper walk a mile.
 ASerjeant is the Spawn of some decayed shopkeeper.
 As lean as a Rake.
 To play least in fight.
 To walk by Owle-light, viz. To fear arresting.
 A fool is fulsome.
 Long and lazy, little and loud,
 Fatt and fulsome, prety and proud; in point of women.
 As melancholy as a Colliers horse.
 As melancholy as a gibb'd Carr.
 His witt goes a wool-gathering.
 VVitt whither wilt thou?
 The difference twixt the poor man and the rich, is that the one walketh to gett meat for his stomack, the other to get a stomack to his meat.

Are you there with your Bears?

As welcome as water into ones shooes.

As welcome as Flowers in May.

A whip for a fool, and a rodd for a School,
Is alwayes in good feason.

Answer,

A halter and a rope, for him that will be Pope,
VVithout all right and reason.

Twixt Card, Woolsey, and W. Sommers.

VVife and children, anvil of charges.

She holds her tail awry.

God grant your early rising do you no harm; Spoken jeeringly.

Soldiers in peace are like Chimneys in Summer.

His eye is bigger then his belly.

A white loaf and a hard cheese never shames the Master.

A good pawn never shame the Master.

VVare wapps quoth Will. Day.

All's fish that comes into his nett.

Your Geese are all Swans.

You shall have a flapp with a Fox tail.

Tis good walking with horse in hand.

As good a Mayd as her Mother.

Tittle tattle, give the Goof more hay.

No smoke without fire.

Much would have more.

Many women, many words,

Many geese many turds.

As merry as fourty beggars.

With as good a will as ever I came from School.

Twixt two stools the tail goes down.

Be still, then rise up and fall.

He christen my own child first.

Charity begins at home.

Long lookd for comes at last.

The more hast the worse speed.

True blew will never stain.

You will not believe one bald, except you see his brain.

One cannot catch a fly when he will.

Nine Eggs a peny and eight addle.

As fine as fippencc, as neat as nine pence.

As good without as never the nere.

To break ones head and gve him a plaster.

Harm watch, harm catch.

As a man's friended so the Law's ended.

Peace and catch a mouse.

Claw me, and He claw thee.

He have none of your flat milk.

One Swallow doth not make a Summer.

One VVoodcock does not make a winter.

Tis Midsummer Moon with you; viz. You are madd.

My Carr hath no such ears.

A pudding hath two ends, but a fool hath none.

A silent woman better then a double-toung'd man.

Silence the best ornament of a woman.

You must not let your mouse-trapp smell off cheese.

If your Plow be jogging, you may have meat for your horses.

You dance in a nett, and you think no body sees you.

A pint of Wine to a Vintner is but as a Pipping to a Cotter-monger.

He is sick of the Lombard fever.

Newes, newes, the skin of your arse will make a new pair of shooes.

Kiss my arse for a week of fair weather.

You will make hony of a doggs-turd.

Take heed of lighting at both ends.

Wheresoever you see your kindred, make much of your friends.

Words are but sands, but 'tis money buyes lands.

The penilefs man may sing before the thief.

What again quoth Palmer.

He that buyes the Cow must keep the Calf.

As sure as cheque; viz. Exchequer.

One good turn asks another.

There is no striving against the stream.

A man without reason, is a beast in feason.

Ther's no venome to that of the toung.

'Tis clear gain that remains by honest gettings.

Ther's none poor, but such as God hates.

He take no leave of you, quoth the Baker to the Pillory.

A little house well fill'd, and a little wife well will'd, and a little field well till'd, are great Riches.

Warrs are sweet to them who know them not.

'Tis ill playing with edg'd tools.

A good Recorder sets all in order.

As good never a whit as never the better.

Good Ale is meat, drink and cloth.

'Tis wisdom somtimes to run with the Hare, and hold with Hound.

When Fern grows redd then Milk is good with bread.

Farewell and be hang'd that is twise God be with you.

Good night Nicholas, the Moon is in the Flock-bedd.

Stark dead be thy comfort.

The witt of you, and the wool of an old dogg, will make a piece of lincy-woolfe.

To skin a stone for a peny, and break a knife of twelve pence.

No hast to hang true men.

As right as a Rams horn.

A turd in his teeth that owes no money.

Tis ill gathering of stones where the Sea is bottomlesse.

The Devil and John of Cumber.

An itch is worse then a smart.

If that be so, I'll give you leave to make a whistle of my arse.

Spare not to spend, but spare to go thither.

Bragg is a good dogg.

Happy is the child whose father goes to the Devil.

Every day in the week one shower of rain, and on Sunday twain; A Proverb in many shires of England.

Usurers purses and woments plackets are never satisfied.

How good witts do jump!

A hot May makes a fatt Church-yard.

Take a Hare without a muse, and a Knave without an excuse, and hang them up.
 Ready money will away.
 Every thing must leak, quoth the Wren when she piss'd into the Sea.
 A cold May and a windy, maketh a full Barn, and a findy.
 A pox on that quoth Gill to her hole.
 There you lett slip a Whiting; viz. An opportunity.
 When hath the Goose most feathers on her back? when the Gander is a topp of her.
 The Fox had a wound he knew not where,
 He look'd in his arse and found it there.
 Of all the fishes in the Sea, give me a naked woman.
 Fly brags, the Coblers nose in the Tinkers arse.
 That's even a goodly dish of Birds.
 Dabb quoth Dawkins, when he hit his wife in the arse with a pound of butter.
 Good fish, but all the craft is in the carching.
 Nippence, no pence, half a groat wanting two pench.
 You cannot fare well, but you must cry roast-meat.
 You are as welcome as water in ones shooes.
 As lazy as he who laid down his wallet to lett a fart.
 He brings meat in his mouth.
April showers bring forth May flowers.
Janivir freez the pott by the fire.
February fill dike,
 Either with black or white;
 He will fill it ere he go,
 If it be but with a fould of straw.
 Fair and soft goes farr.
 Children and fools tell truth.
 Pease-Pottage and tawny,
 Never made good medley.
 The proof of a pudding is in the eating.
 A Gentleman without money, is like a Pudding without suet.
 An old serving-man, a young beggar.
 Who is born under a three-peny Planett, will never be worth a groat.
 'Tis ill gaping before an Oven.
 Out of the frying-pan into the fire. viz. From bad to worse.
 Out of Gods blessing into the warm Sun.
 Butter's good for any thing, but to stopp an Oven, or seal a Letter.
 He will not give his head for the washing.
 Ther's difference twixt staring and stark madd.
 You come a day after the Fair.
 Manners make a man, quoth William of Wickham.
 Any tooth good Barber.
 I love it as an Ape loves a whipp.
 He will shave a whetstone.
 He will not loose the droppings of his nose.
 Give a child while he'l crave,
 And a dogg while his tail will wave,
 You shall have a fair dogg, and a foul child.
 I have a Goose to pluck with you.
 You measure every one by your own yard.

Women in State-affairs, are like Munkies in Glas-shoppes.
 For one good turn another will itch,
 Claw my elbow and Ile scratch your brich.
 Let not the Shooe-maker go beyond his Last.
 You putt the saddle on the wrong horse.
 All is is not gold that glisters.
 Ther's not a turd to choofe.
 That will be when the Devil is blind.
 Ther's reason in rolling of Eggs.
 Ile not creep in her arse to bake in her oven.
 Catt to her kind.
 It's a sory dogg that is not worth the whiffing after.
 You put the cart before the horse.
 This is to sell a pigg in a poke.
 One tale is good till the other be told.
 My elbow itches, I must change my bedfellow.
 'Tis an evil battle where the Devil carrieth the colours.
 They that love most are least set by.
 A light Christmase, a heavy sheaf.
 I would it were in again with the hedg-hogg after, it; viz. A fart.
 Give a man Fortune, and throw him into the Sea.
 All work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy.
 A red beard, and a black head,
 Catch him with a good trick, and take him dead.
 I have other Eggs to fry.
 The King and Pope, the Lion and the Wolf; A Proverb used in King Johns time, in regard of the great exactions.
 The Ratt, the Catt, and Lovell the dogg,
 Do rule all England under a hogg; A Proverb used in Richard the Third's time.
 If you are angry, turn the buckle of your girdle behind you.
 Make hay while the Sun shine.
Hinckeson Down welly wrough,
 Is worth London Town dearly bought; A Cornish Proverb, because of rich tinne Mines there.
 You are like to come by weeping crosse.
 O Master Pier, we cannot pay you your rent, for we had no grace of God this year;
 No shipwrack upon our coast; A saying of the Cornish.
 Well fare nothing once a year.
 He builds Castles in the Air.
 'Tis good to be merry and wise.
 Forewarnd, half armd.
 Like to like quoth the Devil to the Collier.
 The Father to the Bough, The Son to the Plow.
A Kentish Proverb meant of Gavelkind.
 In Rain and Sun-shine, Cuckolds go to Heaven.
 He that can gett a quart of milk for a peny, need not keep a Cow.
 A cunning Knave needs no Broker.
Sir and on the Green, thirteen Houses, fourteen Cuckolds, and never a house between; For the father and the son lay in one house.
 Who goeth to Law with your Ladiship, takerh a wrong Sow by the ear.
 Fly brags, thy father's a Tinker.

He that wraffleth with a turd shall be besmitt fall he over or under.

What's that? It is a layer for my Ladies arse, lick you the tother thing; Norfolk.
Grafs and hay, we are all mortal.

Where fell the Parson? betwixt the whore your mothers leggs; A jeere to those below London bridge.

He must have a long spoon that eats with the Devil.

In the dark, Joan is as good as my Lady.
Little said, and soon amended.

He is a wise child that knows his own father.
Better a clout then the arse out.

When the Sky falls we shall catch Larks.

Look high and fall into a Cow-turd.

Who follows Truth too close at the heels, she may chance dash out his teeth.

To swallow an Ox, and be choaked with the tail.

The Devil shites upon a great heap; viz. Of money.
Wide quoth Walley, when he thrust his pintle into the bedstraw.

Good steal the horse as look over the hedge.

Without herb-John, no good pottage.

Let John worry the hogg.

Fig John the Bear, the Devil part them.

Even John not born a Poet.

He that soaps in the dark, finds that which he would not.

He that kisseth his wife in the market-place shall have many teachers.

Farr fetcht and dear bought is meat for Ladies.

A young Saint, an old Devil.

The old Catt flapps more then the Kittling.

Drink after an Egg, as after an Ox.

Too much money makes one madd.

When thieves fall out, true men come to their own.

A good candle-holder proves a good gamester.

'Tis ill halting before a cripple.

I can look into a Mil-stone as farr as another.

He is like the Devil, alwayes in mischief.

When might overcomes right, the weakest goes to the wall.

Ther's never a promise made, but its either broken or kept.

He who dies of threats, must be rung to Church by farts.

Ther's more wayes to the wood then one.

A farr commodity hath no fellow.

No cutt to unkindness.

Once a Knave and ever a knave.

A pox on these true jests.

Ask my brother whether I am a thief.

The Lion not so fierce as he is painted.

VVords cutt more then swords.

'Tis good to help a lame dogg over the stile.

VVords are wind, but blows are unkind.

You will never make a Sattin purse of a Soves ear.

He is all hony, or all turd.

Every light is not the Sun.

Trimm tramm, like master like man.

You two are finger and thumb.

Youth and white paper takes any impression.

When Adam delv'd and Eve span,

Who was then a Gentleman?

Up starts a churl that gathered good,

From whence did spring his noble blood.

If you swear you'l catch no fish.

If the Sky fall we shall have Larks; But who will catch them?

A great cry and little wooll, quoth the Devil when he sheard the hogg.

'Tis pittie fair weather should do any hurt.

If it rain on St. Swithins day, expect twill do so forty dayes after more or lesse.

Never a barrel better Herring.

Gramercy fourty pence, Jack Noble's dead.

He that eats the Kings Goose, shalbe choaked with the feathets.

A living dogg is better then a dead Lion.

Better be a Cock for a day, then a Hen for a year.

Prate is prate, but it is the Duck that layes the Eggs.

Better have it, then hear of it.

Little difference twixt a feast and a belly-ful.

He that hath money in his purse cannot want a head for his shoulders.

Well horse, winter will come.

He found him napping as Moffe found his mare.

Better half a loaf then no bread.

He runs farr that never returns.

When you ride a young Colt, see your saddle be well girt.

Who kills a man when he is drunk, shall be hang'd when he is sober.

What do you roming so up and down?

I fished long and caught a Frogg.

There are more then four leggs in a bedd that belong to man and wife.

Money is welcome, though it come in a shitten clout.

Kindness will creep where it cannot go.

One may live and learn, and be hang'd and forget all.

Such a reason pist my Goose.

As hungry as a Church-mouse.

I will not sett at my heart what I should sett at my heel.

A broken Apothecary, a new Doctor.

A hungry man, an angry man.

He looks as if he had sold all and took nothing for it.

He deserves nor the sweet that will not taste of the sowre.

As good as ever water wet.

One scabd sheep spoils the whole flock.

He that never drank was never athirst.

Ther's a pudding in the fire, and my part lies thereinna.

He speaks like a mouse in a Cheese.

It comes by John Long the Carrier; viz. Never.

Fly, and you will catch the Swallow.

He was bredd at Hoggs-Norton.

You

You have fisht fair and catcht a frogg.
 Two hungry meals make the third a glutton.
 To take a hair of the same dogg; viz. To be drunk with the same drink again.
 Tis not worth an Egg-shel.
 By hook or crook; viz. By right or wrong.
 The worst can fall, is but a denial.
 Ther's neither pot broke, nor water spilt; viz. No hurt done.
 A lyer had need of a good memory.
 Tell me it snowes.
 One may break his neck in his house as soon as his fast.
 He look into his water hereafter.
 Tis to cast water into the Thames.
 To help a lame dogg over the stile.
 She swelld like a Toad.
 I had him in the wind, and smelt him streight.
 All your Geese are Swans.
 He is as free of his gift, as a poor man is of his eye.
 One may gett a fart from a dead horse, as soon as a farthing from him.
 He is high in the instepp, he stands a tiptoe.
 He is hide-bound, he is an Hungarian.
 Tis lost that's unfought.
 He hath many knacks in his budget.
 Gramercy horse.
 This is to turn the Catt in the pan.
 Have among you blind harpers.
 Such lipps such Lettice.
 You see the mote in my eye, but cannot see the beam in your own.
 To strain at a Gnatt and swallow a Camel.
 To stumble at a straw and jump over a stile.
 Will you have better bread then is made of Wheat?
 Best is best cheap.
 Feed sparingly, and defie the Physitian.
 Blurr Mr. Constable; spoken in derision.
 Better half a loaf then none at all.
 Pride feels no cold.
 Provender pricks him.
 Poverty pattereth friends.
 As an Owle in an Ivy-bush.
 Farewell Frost.
 He knows well enough what side his bread is butterd upon.
 Oxford knives, and London wives.
 Who goes to Westminster for a VVife, to Pauls for a Man, and to Smithfield for a Horse, may meet with a whore, a knave, and a jade.
Graves Inn for walks, Lincolns Inn for a wall, The inner Temple for a Garden, and the middle for a Hall.
Donnow Bacon, and Doncaster daggers.
Monmouth caps, and Lemsters wool.
Derby Ale, and London Beer.
 When all is gone and nothing left,
 VVhat avails the dagger with the dudgeon heft?
 So you told me; Spoken ironically.
 Like a curst Cow that gives a paille of milk, and then kicks it down.
 Butter is in the Cows horns one a year.

Like Banbury Tinkers, who in stopping one hole, make two.
 That which is got into the bone will never out of the flesh.
 Happy is the eye, that dwels twixr the Severn and the Wye.
 What's better then the Beer that's imade of Malt?
 Whats sweeter then the C. hippalt?
 There is no fishing to the Sea, nor service to the King.
 A Northern sawing saw;
 Doll, Dick, and Davie,
 Look wel to thy Pater-noster, and thy Ave;
 And if thy soul desires to speed,
 Look also well unto thy Creed;
 For tak't from me,
 That he or she Deserves to be
 VVell belted in a bridle,
 VVho leaves her werk
 To play the Clerk,
 And descant on the Bible.
 Bate me an ace, quoth Bolton.
 Mark Snelling anon.
 Find me a true man Trent Northward, will find you an honest whore.
 It works like soap in a Sowes tail.
 VVhere the hedge is lowest, all men do go over;
 viz. The poor is oppressed.
 VVords are but wind,
 But blowes are unkind.
 I must not hang all my bells upon one horse; viz.
 Give all away to one son.
 You dream of a dry Summer,
 He will live as long as old Russe of Pottern, who lived till all the world was weary of him.
 Tis an ill wind that blows no body any good.
 Grease a fat Sow in the tail, she will shite in your fist.
 He hath the better end of the staff.
 As good never a whit, as never the better.
 He hath thwittend a Mill-post to a thwittle.
 You cannot see a green Goose, but your teeth must warer.
 To come in pudding-time.
 Short-shooting looseth the game.
 Long standing and small offering maketh poore Priests.
 VVould you eat your cake, and have your cake?
 A tale of Robin Hood.
 A tale of Tom Thumb.
 You may lend your arse, and shite thorough your ribbs.
 Let him sett up shop on Goodwins sands.
 If it were not for hope the hearr would break.
 Must I tell you a tale, and find you ears?
 There was no more water then the ship drew.
 He hath not a peny to bless him.
 He looks like a Bull that hath beshit the fair.
 Tis easie to cry Ule at other mens cost.
 He hath a flea in his ear.
 He would fain flee, but he wants feathers.
 She is naught I warrant her.

VVhen

When you have told your cards you will find you have gaind but little.
Who hath a scold hath sorrow to his sopps.
'Tis the fairest flower in your garden.
He hath played wily beguile with me.
Mum is Counsel; viz. Silence.
A Merchant of Eel-skins.
In three words she is at the roof of the house.
In trust is treason.
'Tis folly to spurn against pricks.
Better sitt still, then rise and fall.
To make havock, and set cock on the hoop.
'Tis folly to strive against the stream.
An honest plain man without pleers.
No fire without smoak.
Fields have eyes, and woods have ears.
Out of sight, out of mind.
I love his little finger more then thy whole body.
His tounge is like a Lambs tail, or the clack of a Mill.
You harp still on one string.
I know him as well as the beggar knoweth his dish.
Catch that catch may.
The weaker goes to the pot.
As meet as a Sow to bear a saddle.
When a bal is heft, boot is next.
To pick a pocket, is the way to Newgate.
Fast bind, fast find.
The bird is flown.
Better to have, then to wish.
The loth stake stands long.
Strike while the iron is hot.
He waits for Moon-shine in the water.
Who never climb never fell.
He comes with his five Eggs a penny.
Once a whore, and ever a whore.
Provide for the worst, the best will save it self.
Who shall tie the bell about the cats neck?
Folly to spurn against the wall.
Use makes mastery.
Be as be may, is no banning.
Toss'd from post to pillory.
Poverty parts fellowship.
The beggar is never out of his way.
God is where he was.
I have the bent of his bow.
All the fatt is in the fire.
She thinketh her farthing good silver.
He shall sink in his own fin.
She is as tender as a Parsons Leman.
A mans spirits being very dull,
Are easily rais'd by Cunny-wooll.
The Devil danceth in a womans placker.
A drunken man seldom catcheth harm.
There is no mischief in the world done,
But that a woman is alwayes one.
Womens words are but wind.
Tell a tale to a Mare and she will let a fart.
He will ly as fast as a nagg will trot.
His provender pricks him.
Weddings are made in Heaven.
Of two evils the least is to be chosen.

As they brew, so let them bake.
As the bell tinketh, the fool thinketh.
Take time when time cometh.
Time and Tide will stay no mans leisure.
Foure farthings; and a thimble,
Will make a Taylors pocket jingle.
Whipp saith the Taylor, whir saith the shears,
Take a true Taylor and cutt off his ears.
A Miller, a Man, a Thief and a Cuckold.
He a Man? he a Mouse.
If you will not, another will.
He sitt on your skirts.
You begg breeches of a bare-ars'd man.
Who goes worse shod then the shoemakers wife,
And worse cladd, then the Taylors wife?
He goes as a Bear to the stake.
If Fortune favour, I may have her,
for I go about her;
If Fortune fail, you may kiss her rail,
and go without her.
An unbidden guest must bring his stool with him.
When drink's in the witt's out.
He is a fool, and ever shall,
That writes his name upon the wall.
Children and fools speak truth.
You gape for Gudgeons.
Cast an old shooe after him.
The rough nett is not the best catcher of Birds.
Fire in one hand, and water in tother.
He blows hot and cold.
You tell tales out of School.
He playes with a staff of two ends.
He may be gort by an Apple, and lost by a Nutt.
Come up to my shoulder, and shite in my neck.
Leave these flimsams and be earnest.
To stand to his promise is to hold an Eel by the rail.
He is neither fish, nor flesh, nor good red herring.
Lovers live by love, as Larks do by Leaks.
She looks as if butter would not melt in her mouth.
A Wolf in a Lambs skin.
As quiet as a Lamb.
As innocent as a Dove.
As fierce as a Lion.
As outrageous as a Bull.
He is a fool that kisseth the Mayd, when he may kiss the Mistresse.
Love me little, love me long.
You shall have as much favour as at Billingsgate for a box on the ear.
Well begun is half done.
God send you more witt, and me more money.
We burn day-light.
A Goshawk scorns to beat a Bunting.
We are all in the same predicament.
He blusheth like a black dogg.
He will go to Law for a straw.
The dofinell dawcock comes dropping in among the Doctors.
His tounge runs at random.
Such a reason pist my Goose.
You speak like a Potheary, viz. Ignorantly.
He was ore shooes at first stepp.

So the butcher look'd for his knife when it was in his mouth.
 Rancor sticketh long by the ribs.
 When sorrow's asleep wake it not.
 Many strokes fell down through Oaks.
 The hindmost hound may catch the hare.
 The business mendeth as sowre Ale in Summer.
 I care as little for it, as a Goose-turd for the Thames.
 Spend and be free, but make no waste.
 She is as quiet as a wasp in one's nose.
 A Scotch mist wettereth an Englishman to the skin.
 He knoweth not a B. from a battledoor.
 You are a right Englishman, you cannot tell when you are well.
 As like him as if he had been spitt out of his mouth.
 The Vicar of fools is his ghostly father.
 You seek a brack where the hedge is whole.
 Who commendeth himself, wanteth good neighbours.
 You will make a horn as soon of an Apes tail.
 Lack of looking maketh Cobwebbs in a boyes tail.
 Go meddle with your old shooes.
 To leave boyes play, and go to blow point.
 I am not like a dogg that cometh at every ones whistling.
 You putt a filly soul to be a keeper for the devils good grace.
 He carrieth all his wardrobe about him.
 Strike home when the iron's hot.
 It melteth like butter in a Sowers arse.
 He is mealy-mouth'd, he will creep into your bosome.
 There goeth but a pair of shears betwixt them.
 He spake of a Fox, but when all came to all, it was but a Fernbrake.
 Teach your Grany to groap her Goose.
 I know what I do when I drink.
 Catt after kind.
 A Hare and a Mare go one year; viz. Nine the one, and three the other.
 Too much learning maketh men madd.
 A clout is better then a hole.
 Sweet meats will have sower sauce.
 A young serving-man an old beggar.
 Words cut deeper then swords.
 Manners make a man, quoth William of Wickham; who had been Bishop of Winchester.
 A liccorish tounge, a lecherous rail.
 He hath plaid the Jack with me; viz. He hath not dealt well.
 Saint Matthias, both leaf and grasse.
 David and I had ow good and bad; viz. The first and second of March.
 'Twill make you scratch where it doth not itch.
 Lett May come early or come late,
 Yet it will make the Cow to quake.
 I think thou wast born at Hoggs-Norton, where piggs lay upon the Organs.
 If fro't in March, there will be some in May.
 Better fedd then taught.

If dreams and wishes had been true, there had been found a Mayd since the Virgin Mary to make a Nunn of.
 Ther's no more pittie to be taken of a woman weeping then of a Goose going bare-foot.
 Some have the happ, and others sticke in the gapp.
 You must not go, but gawe.
 Give losers leave to speak.
 If I be hang'd Ile chuse my gallows.
 A smiling boy seldom good servant.
 The Devil is good to some body.
 To a red man reade thy reade,
 With a brown man break thy bread;
 At a pale man draw thy knife,
 From a black man keep thy wife.
 Give me the Mayd that went to bed to her Master to keep him warm; A Proverb in Beverley.
 Wer't not for hope, the heart would break.
 Fidlers fare, meat, drink, and money.
 As warm as Wool.
 As cold as Charity.
 As comfortable as Matrimony.
 Colchester Oysters, Salzey Cockles, Rye Herrings, Severn Salmon.
 Let every Sack stand upon its own bottom.
 Happy man be thy dolé.
 Even reckoning maketh long friends.
 At Christmas great loafs, at Easter clean souls, and at Whitsontide new clothes.
 When Christ falleth in our Ladies lapp,
 Then lett England look for a clapp.
 When the Cuckow sitteth on a dry thorn,
 Sell thy Cow, and sow thy Corn.
 'Tis a good body, she wanteth but a new pair of sleeves.
 'Tis safe riding in a good Haven.
 What? must I tell you a tale; and find you ears too?
 Ile go no more on your sleevelesse errands.
 Nothing have nothing crave.
 Kissing goeth by favor.
 You begg a breech of a bare-arsed man.
 God help the rich, the poor can begg.
 The rough nett not best to catch Birds.
 He speaketh as if he would creep into ones mouth.
 He is neither fish, nor flesh, nor good red Herring.
 For all your Kindred, make much of your Friends.
 Better fedd then taught.
 A young Saint, an old Devil.
 Little knoweth the fatt Sow what the lean thinketh.
 Leave her on a ley, and lett the Devil flitt her; A Lincolnshire Proverb spoken of a scolding wife; viz. Tye her to a Plow-ridge, and lett the Devill remove her to a better Pasture.
 Cold weather, and crafty knaves, come from the North.
 A little House well fill'd,
 A little Land well till'd,
 And a little Wife well will'd, make one happy.

She looketh as if Butter would nor melt in her mouth.

We have fish'd all night and catch'd a Frogg.

He is not worthy to carry gutts to a Bear,

He hath more in his little finger then the other hath in all his whole body.

The more the merrier, the fewer the better cheer.

Peny wise and pound foolish.

A Knight of Cales, and a Gentleman of Wales, ileazy cloth, and a crafty man.

SOME OF OLD
JOHN HEIVVOODS RHIMES,

Which run for the most part in PROVERBS & ADAGES of old Ferne yeers.

Touching Mariage and against too much haste that way.

*He best or worst thing to Man for this Life,
Is good or ill choosing his good or ill Wife;
Some things that provoke young men to wedd in haste,
Shew after wedding, that haste makes waste.
When time hath turn'd white sugar to white salt,
Then such folk see, soft fire makes sweet malt.
And that deliberation doth Men assise
Before they wedd, to beware of had 1 wife:
And then their timely wedding doth soon appear
That they were early up but nere the neer;
For when their hasty heat's a little controll'd
Then perceive they well, hott love's soon cold,
And when hasty wittleffe mirth is mated weele,
Good to be merrie and wise, they think and feel.
Hast in wedding some man thinketh his own avail
When it proves at last a rod for his own tail.
In lesse things then weddings hast sheweth hast mans foe.
so that the hastie Man never wants woe.
And though some seem wives for you be never so fitt,
Yet lett not harmfull hast so farre outrun your witt,
For in all or most things we wish at need
In our carriage oft-times, the more haste the less speed:
Thus by these Lessons you may learn good cheape,
In wedding, and in all things else to looke ere you leape.*

A young Mans Answer.

H*E that will not when he may,
When he would he shall have nay.
I am profer'd fair, then hast must provoke
When the Pigg is profer'd to hold up the poke;*

when

When the Sun shines make hay, which is to say,
 Take time when time cometh, lest time steal away,
 And one good Lesson to this purpose I pike
 From the Smiths forge, when th' iron's hott strike.
 The sure Sea-man seeth, the tyde tarrieth no man,
 Delay in the Lover, is death to the woman.
 Time is tickle, and out of sight out of mind,
 Then catch and hold while thou mayest, fast binde, fast finde.
 Blame me not to hast for fear mine eye be blerde,
 And thereby the fatt clean flitt from my bearde;
 Where wooers hopp in and out long time may bring Him that hoppeth best at last to have the ring,
 I hopping without for a ring of Rush.
 And while I at length debate, and beat the bush,
 There shall stepp in other men, and catch the Burds,
 Which I by long time lost in many vain wurd.
 Between fear and hope, sloth may me confound,
 While twixt twoo stools the taile goes to the ground;
 By this since we see sloth must breed a scab,
 Ile venture my fortune, and come hab or nab,
 And I hope that none shall my fortune condole,
 Come what come will, happie man, happie dole;
 We know right well wedding is Destinie,
 And hanging likewise, we cannot them fly.

Thus all your Proverbs inveighing against hast,
 Be answer'd with Proverbs plain, and promptly plac'd;

The Complaint of one who had a Shrow to his Wife.

OH, what choyce may compare to the Devils life
 Like his, that hath chosen a Devil for his wife,
 Namely, such an old Witch, such a mackabroyne
 As evermore like a Hogg hangeth the groyne
 On her Husband, except he be her slave,
 And follow all Fancies that she would have!
 But the Proverb's true, ther's no goed accord,
 Where everie man would be a Lord.
 Before I was wedded, and since, I made reckning
 To make my wife bow at every beckning,
 Batchlers boast how they will teach their wifes good,
 But many a man speaketh of Robin Hood

That

That never shot in his bow; but now I begin to gather,
 Everie one can rule a shrew save he who hath her.
 It is said of old, an old dog biteth sore,
 But the old Bitch biteth sorer, and more.
 But this is not all, she hath another blisse,
 She will lie as fast as a dog will lick a dish,
 She is of truth as false as God is true.
 She's damnably jealous, for if she chance view
 Me kissing my Maydes alone but in sport
 That taketh she in earnest after Bedlams sort.
 The Cow is wood, Her tounge runneth on Pattens,
 If it be morn we have a pair of Mattens,
 If it be Evening Even-song, not Latine nor Greek,
 But English, and like that as in Easter week,
 She beginneth first with a cry a leysone
 To which she ringth a peal, or larom, such a one
 As folks ring the Bees with basons, the world runth on wheels,
 But except her Mayd shew a fair pair of heels
 She haleth her by the boyrope till her brains ake.
 And bring I home a dish good chear to make,
 What's this saith she? good meat say I, for you,
 God a mercy horse, a pigg of my own Sow;
 And commonly if I eat with her either flesh or fish,
 I have a dead mans head cast into my dish;
 She is as wholesome a morsell for a mans corse
 As a shoulder of mutton is for a sick horse,
 The devill with his dam, hath more rest in Hell,
 At every one of her teeth there hangs a great bell.
 A small thing amisse late I did espie
 Which to make her mend by a jest merrily
 I said but this, tantivet Wife your nose dropps,
 So it may fall I will eat no browesse sopps
 This day, but two dayes after this came in ure
 I had sorrow to my sopps enough be sure,
 This hath been her humor long and evermore
 Now, it is ill healing of an old sore.
 For the Proverb saith many years agoe,
 It will nere out of the flesh that's bred in the bone.
 If any Husband but I were handled thus
 They would give her many a recumbentibus;
 But as well as I you know the saying, I think
 The more you stir a turd, the worse it will stink.

He is my neighbour that grinds in my mill. Celuy est mon voisin qui mout en mon moulin. Colui è mio vicino chi macina nel mio molino. Mi vezino es qui machuca en mi molino.

God sends us meat, the Devil sends us cooks. Dieu nous envoie le viande, & le Diable le cuisinier. Iddio ci dà la vivande, & il Diavolo il cuoco. Dios nos embia la comida, y el Diabolo el cozinero.

Every one is a Fool or a Physician after thirty. Chacun est fol, ou Medicin apres trent' ans. Ogni uno è pazzo o Medico dopo trent' anni. Cada uno es necio o Medico despues de treynta años.

As soon comes a Lamb-skin to the market, as the Ewes. Aussi tost vient la peau de l'agneau au Marché que celle de brebis. Si tosto viene la pelle dell' agnello al Mercato che quella della pecora. Tan amenudo viene el pellejo dell cordero a la placa que de la oveja.

You give me chalk for cheese. Vous me donnez de la craye pour fourmage. Mi date creta per casio. Me days greda por queso.

The Crow thinks her own birds the fairest. Le Corbeau pense que ses poullins sont les plus beaux. Il corvo pensa ch' i suoi pulcini sieno gli più belli. El cuervo piensa que sus pollos son los mas lindos.

Put a Miller, a Taylor, and a Weaver into one bag and and shake them, the first that comes out will be a thief. Mets vn tailleur, vn tisserand, & vn muni-nier dans vn sac, & secovez les bien, & le premier qui en sortira sera larron. Metter' un sartor', un tessitore, & un molinaio dentro de un sacco, & il primiero chi uscirà sarà ne ladro. E-ches en vn sac vn fastre, vn Texedor, & vn molniero, y el primero qui saldrà sera in la-dròn.

A little pott soon hott. Vn petit pot est bien tost echauffé. Picciola pentola si scalda presto. Olla chiquita se calienta luego.

This wind shakes no Corn. Ce vent ne vanne point le blé. Questo vento no cribra la biada. Este ayre no avielda el grano.

Who intermeddeth twixt Man and Wife goeth twixt the bark and the Tree. Qui s'entremesse des affaires de Mary & Femme, se met entre l'arbre & lecorce. Chi si tramette frà marito & moglie anda frà la scorza, & l'albero.
Quien se mescla entre marido y muger, se pone entre el arbol y la corteza.

He hath got the better end of the staffe. Il a gagné le meilleur bout du baston. Hà colto il miglior capo del bastone. Ha cogido el mejor cabo del palo.

It is better to have then to wish. Il vaut mieux iouir que suhaiter. E meglio posseder che desiare. Meior es posseer que dessear.

All is fish that comes into his nett. Tout est poisson qui entre en son filé. Tutto è pesce che vi-ene nella sua rete. Todo es pece que en sured entra.

Patience is a Flower that growes not in every Ga-den. La Patience n'est pas fleur qui croit en chascue iardin. Patienza non è fiore chi cresce in ogni giardino. Paciencia no es flor que crece en cada huerto.

As good play for nothing, as work for nothing. Il vaut autant iouer pour neant que travailler pour neant. Tanto val' giocar' per niente che travagliar' per niente. Tanto vale jugar por nada que trabaia por no nada.

I suck not this out of my fingers ends. Je ne succe cecy de bouts de mes doigts. Non succhia questo delle punte de miei diti. Non chupo esto de los cabos de mis dedos.

A young man old makes th: old man young. Jeune vieil rend le vieil jeune. Giovane vecchio fà vecchio giovane. Moço vieio haze el vieio moço.

Two hands in a dish, but one in the pocket. Deux mains dans le plat, & vn' en la bourse. Due mani nel piatto, & una nella tasca. Dos manos en el plato y una en la bolsa.

A womans knee and a doggs snout are alwayes cold.
Le genovil de Femme, & le museau du chien sont tousiours froids. Il ginocchio di donna & grugno di can sempre freddi. La rodillade muger, y nariz de perro siempre frios.

He that doth kisse and doe no more, may kisse behind and not before. Qui baise, & ne fait plus, qu'il baisir par derriere. Chi bacia, & non fà altro, bascij di dietro. Qui bese, y no haze mas que bese atras.

Ther's more water passeth by the Mill then the Miller knowes. Il y a plus d'eau qui coule au moulin, que le meunier ne scait. C'è più d'acqua chi passa per il molino ch'il mugnaio sà. Mas agua corre por el molino que el molinero sabe.

Putt thy wish in one fist, and shite in the other, and try which will be fill'd soonest. Mets ton souhait en vn poing, & foires dans l'autre, & veras qui se remplira plus tost. Metter' tuo desio in un pugno & cagar' nell' altro, & vedrai chi sarà più tosto pieno. Metas tu desseo en vn puño y cagues en el otro, y veras el qual ferà mas presto lleno.

The furthest way about is sometimes the neereft way home. Le chemin d'alentour est quelques fois le plus court. Il camino intorno è qualche volta il più corto. El camino enderredor es a vezes el mas corto.

When the good Wife drinketh to the Husband all is well in the House. Quand la bonne Femme fait brindis a son Mary tout va bien en la maison.
Quando la moglie fa brindisi al marito tutta va ben' in casa. Quand la muger haze brindis a su marido todo va bien en casa.

I took her for a Rose, but she proved a Burr. Je la pris pour vne Rose mais elle devint chardon. Jo la pigliai per Rosa, ma diventiva cardone. To mavala por Rosa, mas devenia cardo.

I think she hath pist on a nettle. Je pense qu'elle a pissé sur vn' ortie. Penso ch'habbia pisci-to sopra una ortica. Pienso que hà meado sobre vna hortiga.

Go teach your Granham to grope a Goose. Va t'en enseigner la vielle a foviller vn oison. Andar' insegnare la vecchia a palpar' un' occa. Andad enseñar la vieja a palpar vna gansa.

Go teach your father to get children. Va t'en enseigner ton pere a faire d'Enfans. Andar' in-segnar' il tuo padre a far' figliuoli. Andad enseñar tu padre a hazer hijos.

A young servingman an old beggar. Jeune valet vieil caymand. Servo giovane pitoco vecchio. Cri-ado moço, mendigo viejo.

Honor bought, temporal simony. Honneur acheté est simonie Temporelle. Honore comprato è simonia Temporale. Honore comprado es simonia seglar.

Serve God in thy calling, it is better then praying.
Sers Dieu en ton mestier, il vaut plus que la priere. Servir, Idlio nella tua Vacatione è meglio que preghiere. Servid a dios en tu officio, es mejor que plegarias.

The Crow thinks her own birds the fairest. Le Corbeau pense que ses poussins sont les plus beaux. Il corvo pensa ch'i suoi pulcini sieno gli più belli.
El cuervo piensa que sus pollos son los mas lindos.

You give me chalk for cheese. Vous me donnez de la craye pour fourmage. Mi date creta per casio.
Me days greda por queso.

The bragger pisseth more then he drinketh. Le venturpille plus qu'il ne boit. Il vantatore piscia più che beve. El vana glorioso mea mas que no beve.

A great noise and little wolle, quoth the Devil when he sheard the Hogg. Beaucoup de bruit, & peu de laine, dit le Diable quand il ecorchoir le pourceau. Assaj strepito & poca lana disse il Diavolo quando scorticava il Porco. Mucho ruydo y poca lana, dixo el Diablo desollando el puerco.

Many can pack the cards, yet cannot play well. Il y a qui scavent mesler les cartes finement, toutes fois ils ne sont pas bons ioueurs. Vi sono chi fanno mescolar le carte, tutta via non fanno giocare bene. Ay qui sabent mesclar los nappes, toda via no sabent iuegar bien.

Stay a little and we shall make an end the sooner. Attendez vn peu, & nous finirons plus tost. Aspettate un poco & finiremo più presto. Esperad vn poco, y acabaremos mas presto.

There's a Devil in every berry of the Grape. Yl y a un Diable dans chascue grappe de la vigne. C'è un Diavolo in ogni grappo della vigna. Ay vn Diablo en cadarazimo de la vua.

A lie stands on one legg, and truth on two. Le menfonge se soustient sur vne jambe, la verite sur deux. La buggia si sostiene sopra una gamba, la verita sopra due. La mentira se apoya sobre vna pierna, la verdad sobre dos.

Choose thy Friends like thy Bookes, few but choice. Choisissez vos amis comme vos liures, peu, mais qu'ils soyent d'elite. Sciogli gli amici come gli Libri, pochi, ma che sieno scelti. Escoge tus amigos como tus Libros, pocos, pero que sean buenos.

Who is more deaf then he that will not hear? Qui est plus sourd que celuy qui ne veut ecouter? Chi è più sordo che colui chi non vuol ascoltare? Quien es mas tiniente de oydo que qui no quiere escuchar?

Men fear death as children do to go in the dark. Les hommes craignent la mort comme les Enfants les tenebres. Gli huomini temono la morte come gli fanciulli la scurita. Los hombres temen la muerte como los niños las tinieblas.

Soon ripe soon rotten. Tost meur, tost pourri. Tosto maturo, tosto marcio. Presto maduro, presto podrido.

Riches like muck which stinks in a heap, but scatterd fructifieth the earth. Les richesses sont comme la fiente qui put en vn monceau, mais estant esparse fructifie la terre. Ricchezze come letame chi puzza in un mucchio, ma essendo sparso fructifica la Terra. Riquezas como el estiércol que hiede amontanado, pero esparcido fructifica la Tierra.

No man loves fetters though made of Gold. Personne n'ayme les ceys quoy qu'ils soyent d'or. Nissuno ama ceppi anchor che sieno d'oro. Nadie quiere grillos aunque sean de oro.

Who hath too many friends eats too much salt. Qui a plusieurs amis mange trop du sel. Chi a molti amici mangia troppo sale. Quien tiene muchos amigos come sal en demasia.

He must rise betimes who will cosen the Devil. Il faut qu'il se leve de bon matin qui veut tromper le Diable. Bisogna che si levi di buon hora chi vuol ingannar il Diavolo. Es menester que se levante temprano quien quiere engañar el demonio.

A covetous man like a dog in a wheel that roasts meat for others. L'Usurier come chien dans vne roue qui rostit la viande pour autrui. L'avarò come can in ruota chi arrostitisce vivande per altri. El pelon como perro en rueda qui asfa carne por otros.

Who Expounds holy Scripture upon his own warrant, puts hot brands together with his fingers. Qui interprete l'écriture sainte selon sa seule phantasie ramasse charbons ardents avec se doigts. Chi interpreta la santa scrittura secondo la sua fantasia coglie carboni ardenti colli diti. Quien expone las sagradas escrituras segun su fantasia propia coge carbones ardientes con sus dedos.

Bawds, and Attorneys like Andyrans, the one holds the wood, the other their Clyents till they consume. Les Advocats & maquereaux sont comme les chenets les vns supportent le bois, & les autres leurs Clients jusqu'a tant qu'ils soient consumez. Gli Avvocati, & gli Ruffiani son, come alari del fuoco, chi appoggiano il legno fin a tanto che se ne consumi. Abogados y Alcahuetes son como los morillos los vnos apoyan la madera, y los otros sus pleyteantes hasta consumirse.

Give a shoulder of mutton to a dead horse. C'est donner vn' epaule du mouton a vn cheval malade. Questo è dar una spalla di castrato a un cavallo ammalato. Esto es dar vna espalda de carnero a vn cavallo enfermo.

No fool to the old fool. Il n'y a tel fol, comme le vieil fol. Non c'è pazzo simile al pazzo vecchio. No ay necio como el necio viejo.

One fool makes many. Vn fol en fait plusieurs. Un sciocco ne fa molti altri. Vn loco haze muchos mas.

A Scotts mist wetteth an Englishman to the skin. Les brovillars d'escosse mouilleront l'Anglois jusques a la peau. Vna nebbia escosseza bagnara l'Inglese fin alla pelle. Niebla escoceza mojara vn Yngles hasta pellejo.

Where the Turks horse once treads, the grass will never grow again. Ou le cheval du Turc plante le pied, l'herbe n'y recroitra iamais. Dove il cavallo Turchesco pianta il suo piede l'erba ne recrescera mai. Donde el cavallo del Turco planta su pie las yervas no recreceran iamas.

Cold weather and crafty knaves come from the North. Le froid, & les fins compagnons viennent du nord. Il freddo, & gli furbi vengono dal norte. El frio, y los finos compañeros vienen del norte.

You are a right Englishman, you cannot tell when you are well. Vous estes vray Anglois, vous ne savez pas quand vous estes a vostre aise. Egli è vero Inglese Inglese non sà quando stà bene. Es verdadero Ynglès no sàbè quando esta bueno.

One should take no more pity on a woman weeping, then to see a Goose go barefoot. On ne devoit plus res- sentir les larmes de femme que de voir vn oison aller pieds nuds. Non si doverebbe risentire più le lagrime de donne che de veder vn' occa andar scalza. No se devria resentir mas las lagrimas de mugeres, que de voir vna gança yr des- calça.

At Christmas great loafs, at Easter clean souls, at Whitsontide new clothes. A Noel grans pains, a Pasque mès nettes, a Pentecoste nouveaux ha- bits. Natale pani grandi, a pasqua Anime nette, a Pentecosta vestiti nuovi. A la Navidad pa- nes grandes, a las Pascuas almas limpias, a Pente- costa vestidos nuevos.

Salomon was a wiseman, and Sampson was a strong man, yet neither of them could pay money till they had it. Salomon estoit sage & Samson estoit bien fort, toutes fois ni l'un ni l'autre pouvoient payer argent devant que de l'avoir. Solomone era saggio & Sanfone era forte, tutta via ne l'uno ne l'altro poteva pagar danaro inanzi ch d'haverlo. Salomon era savio, & Sanson era fuerte, toda via ni el vno ni el otro podia pagar dinero antes de tenerlo.

That which is bred in the bone will never out of the flesh. Ce qu'est nourri dans les os ne sortira jamais hors de la chair. Quel ch'è nodrito dentro gli ossi, non uscirà mai della carne. Lo que se cria dentro los huesos no saldrà iamas de la carne.

Patience perforce is medicine for a mad horse. Pati- ence par force est remede pour vn cheval en- ragé. Patienza per forza è rimedio per un cavallo arrabiato. Paciencia por fuerça es remedio por vn cavallo arrabiado.

A friend in Court is better then a penny in purse, Amyen la Cour vaut plus qu'argent en bourse. Amico nella corte val più que bezzì in borsa. Amigo en palacio vale mas que dinero en bol- sa.

Make not thy tayl broader then thy wings. Ne fais pas ton train plus large que tes ailes. Non far la tua coda più larga que le ale. No hagas tu rabo mas largo que las alas.

He that hath the name to be an early riser may sleep till noon. Celuy qui à la renommée d'estre ma- tineux pourra dormir jusques a midy. Colui chi hà la fama d'esser matinoso potrà dormir fin a mezzo giorno. Qui a la fama de ser Ma- drugador podrá dormir hasta medio dia.

A young Mayd married to an old Man is like a new house thatchd with old straw. Jeune fille mariée a vn vieillard est comè maison nouvelle couverte de chaulme vieil. Vna giovane maritata con un vec- chione è come casa nuova coperta di strame vec- chio. Moça casada con anciano es como casa nueva cubierta de rastrojo viejo.

Find me an honest man Trent Northward, and I will find you an honest whore. Donnez moy vn honest homme de là la Trente, & je vous donneray vne honeste garce. Dammi un huomo da bene di là la Trenta & jo vi darò una puttana honesta. De me vn hombre de bien de là la Trenta y yo te darè vna puta honrada.

The stander by sees often more then the Gamester. Le spectateur voit souventes fois plus que le Joueur. Il spettatore vede ben souvente più ch' il Giocatore. El que està mirando cerca, vee muchas vezes mas que el Jugador.

Who hath married a widow, hath a deaths head put often in his dish. Qui espouse vne vefue aurà vn reste de mort iettée quelques fois en son plat. Chi sposa una vedova, hauerà una testa di morto gettato ben souvente nell' suo piatto. Quien casa con biuda tendra cabeça de muerto echada à vezes en su plato.

The colerique man never wants woe. L' homme co- lerique n'est iamais sans enuy. L'huomo Colerico mai senza fastidio. El hombre Enojadizo nun- ca sin enfado.

Penny in pocket is a good companion. Argent en po- che bon compaignon. Danaro in tasca è buon com- pagno. El Dinero es buen compañero.

Youth and white paper take any Impression. La Ieunesse, & papier blanc prennent toutes impressions. Charta bianca, & la gioventù pigliano qualunque impressione. Papel blanco y mocedad toman qual- quier impression.

Barbers are Correctors of Capitall crimes. Barbiers son correcteurs de crimes capitaux. Barbieri so- no corregitori de crimi capitali. Los Barveros son corregidores de crimines capitales.

The second blow makes the fray. Le second mornifle fait la noise. Il colpo secondo fa la rissa. El bofeton segundo haze la renzilla.

A Client twixt his Attorney and Counsellor, is like a Goose twixt two foxes. Le playdeur entre le procureur, & l'Avocat est comme vn oison entre deux renards. Il piatitore fra'l procurato- re, & l'avocato è come vn'occa fra due Vol- pi. El pleytista entre el procurador, y el Abo- gado es, como vn ganfo entre dos rapo- sos.

Where the hedge is low every one gets over. Ou la haye est basse tout le monde passe. Dove la siepe è bassa ogniuno passa. Adonde el seto es baxo to- dos pasan.

A child may have too much of his mothers blessing. L'enfant pourra auoir trop de la benediction de sa mere. Il fanciullo potrà hauer troppo della be- nedictione nella madre. El niño podrá aver la bene- diction de su madre en demasia.

He is now too old to learn his Accidence. Il est trop vieil pour apprender sa Grammaire. E troppo vec- chio per imparar la sua Grammatica. Es muy viejo por aprender su Gramatica.

With all thy knowledge know thy self. Avec tout ton sçavoir cognois toy mesme. Con tutta la tua scien- za conoscer te stesso. Con todo tu saber conoce ti mesmo.

The Devill makes his Christmas pies of Clerks fin- gers and Lawyers toungs. Le Diable fait son pa- ste ne noel de doits de Notaires, & de Lan- gues d'Avocats. Il Diavolo fa pasticci per il

LETTER (A2)

LETTRE COMPOSEE
DE PROVERBES,

Lesquels vont tres-tous,

Enchainez a un sens congru, envoyée
a un Gentilhomme,

Qui se mettoit en train pour aller en France.

MONSIEUR,

Pres avoir jetté l'œil sur la presente qui va toute farcie de Proverbes, de Dictons, & de vieux Quolibets, dont quelques uns s'usoient du temps de hauts bonnets quand on muchoit a la manche, vous direz, par aventure, que l'Auteur ayt quelques tintouins, ou grillons en la teste, qu'il ait de fable Mouvant, ou du Mercure, ou plustost un quartier de la Lune en la cervelle; Mais Vous qui avez la cabo che si bien timbrée en passerez un autre jugement.

Le bruit court, que vous avez dessein de voyager, & tracasser le monde pour quelque temps, & particulièrement de faire, le tour de France, si vous estes fiché en telle resolution permettez un vieux routier qui est madré es affaires du monde ayant pissé en beaucoup de neiges, qui sçait bien son entregent, & plus que son pain manger, de vous donner un mot d'avis touchant le Genie de ce pays là.

Quant a la conversation, vous y trouverez des gens y gens; vous y trouverez autant de testes, tant de sentimens, & plus souvent en France qu'en aucun autre Region, ou la plus part du peuple semble avoir mangé de la biche blanche, ou de la vache enragée, Estant impatient de la paix, jusques à tant qu'il ait reparé les bresches de la guerre; Mais par tout, il faut prendre les gens comme elles sont, & le temps comme il est: sur tout observez ces trois monosyllabes, Oy, voy, & tais si tu veux vivre en paix, car il vaut mieux glisser du pied que de la Langue, & l'Espagnol vous dit, En bonne serrée les mouches n'y entrent pas: sous ce boillant Climat vous rencontrerez quelques fois de bravaches, de mangeurs de charrettes ferrées, qui faisant le Roland portent mine de tuer fix de la chandelle, & saize avec le chandelier; Ils vous feront accroire que vesses sont Lanternes, & les estoilles papillotes; soyez moderé, & discret parmi telles gens, mais nullement craintif, & lasche, pource que celuy qui se fait brebis le loup le mange; Et le peuple voyfin qui boutonne le pourpoint du bas en haut, vous dira, que les François a la premiere bouffee sont plus qu'hommes, mais depuis moins que femmes.

Vous y trouverez mesmement de Jeunes desbauches qui mangent leur bled en herbe, & brulent la chandelle par les doux bouts, Il vont coiffez en l'opinion qu'on ne sçauoit estre gentilhomme parfait sans avoir fait cinq voyages en Süerie, car en France (comme part tout) a la quenoville le plus fort s'agenouille; Gardez vous bien des camarades de ceste calibie là; Ce neantmoins traitez les debonnairement, car, Belles paroles n'ecorchent par la Langue; En tout cas ne prestez pas vostre argent, car au prester cousin-germain, au rendre fils de putain; Et vous y trouverez aussi (comm'en en Angleterre) Qui preste a l'amy perd au double: Ce neantmoins, A celuy qui a son paste au four, on pourra bien prester un torreau.

Outre tout cecy, donnez vous garde de ne vous opiniâtrer, & debatre des matieres de la Religion, mais laissez le Monstier ou il est, pource que par trop debatre la verité se perd, especiallemen es points de la Foy, vous y troverex assez de gens de ceste farine là, qui seront prompts a sauter du coq a l'asne, & de treille en païsieux.

Le pays, & le peuple de France sont addonnez a toutes sortes de gaillardises, & divertissements, vous y trouverez des bons garçons, des Rogiers de bons temps, qui seront joyeux comm' Esmerillons, ou rats en paille; Vous ne deuriez pas estre d'un humeur si Saturnin, & sombre, que de ne joyializer par fois avec eux, & avec le bon vin chasser le soin & le chagrin, Car un once d'alegresse vaut cens livres de melancolie; s'il vous y avez envie d'entretenir un Laquay, vous y en trouverez a foison; mais gardez bien de n'en choisir un qui est trop officieux, car c'est un valet du diable qui faict plus qu'on ne luy commande.

Quant a la santé, & les reiglements pour la diete, qui est la chose plus principale, car qui n'a santé n'a rien, vous ferez bien en ce pays vineux de marier la cave, & le puits; Toutes fois a morcean restif esperon de bon vin; mais le vin bois comme Roy, & l'eau comme taureau; Au matin bois le vin blanc, le rouge au soir; pour faire bon sang, observez ausly, qu'apres la poire ou le vin, ou le prestre; on dit que Boeuf salé faict trouver le vin sans chandelle; Ajoustez a cecy que si tu veux engraisser promptement, mangez avec faim, bois a loisir, & lentement.

Touchant les mangeailles, salade bien lavée, & salée, peu de vinaigre, & bien huylée; Des potirons, ou champignons les meilleurs ne valent rien; Faim faict dinner, & passetemps souper; veau mal cuit, & poulets cruds font cimitieres bossus; Cest un repas pour le Diable ou il n'y a point du sel; Fourmage est sain qui vient de chiche main; Des femmes, & des poissons le milieu est le meilleur; Un œuf n'est rien, deux font gran bien, trois c'est assez, quatre c'est tort, cinq c'est la mort.

Touchant l'exercice, pourmenez jusques a tant que la sang paroisse es ioües, non pas que la sueur roupie de nez; Au matin vers les monts, au soir vers les fonts; Quant au sommeil, & le repos de nuit, il y a un'observation, que six heures dort l'ecolier, sept le Voyager, huit le Vigneron, & neuf, en demande le Poltron; Il y a un'autre Regle, que lever a six, manger a dix, souper a fix, coucher a dix, font viure l'homme dix fois dix: En conclusion, tenez chauds les pieds, & la teste, au demeurant vivez en beste.

Touchant les occurrences du temps il y en a diverses sortes de relations, mais ce'st ne'st pas E-vangile, tout ce qu'on dit par la ville, mais on le dit pour chose asseurée que Dunquerque (ce nid d'Harpyes) commence a Parlemonter, & vous sçavez, que la Ville qui parle, & la fille qu'es-coute, l'un se rend, l'autre se fou - A bon entendeur, ne faut que demy mot.

Ce'st tout ce que j'ay a vous dire pour le present, pource is veux couper le fil de mon dire, car courtes folies sont les meilleures, en vous priant de ne prendre pas en mauvaise part ces drolleries, pource qu'elles procedent de vostre ancien serviteur, & amy, & il n'y a meilleur miroir que le vieil amy; Durant vostre absence, s'il y a aucune chose imaginable, en quoy vous vous puissiez servir de moy, j'employeray verd, & sec, je mettray tous mes cinq sens pour vous rendre obeissance, car je suis du fin fond de mon cœur

Le vostre

J. H.

A LETTER COMPOSED
OF FRENCH
PROVERBS,

Concurring all to one congruous sense, and sent to a Gentleman that was going to travell abroad,

And dedicated
To the most accomplished Lord,

ROBERT
Lord WILLOUGHBY of Ersby, &c.

A personage,
Who, besides other excellent perfections, is Great Master of the French Language.

SIR,

Hen you have cast an eye upon this Letter which goeth stuff'd with all Proverbs, old Motts, and Adages, whereof some were used in the time of high bonnets, when men used to wipe their noses on their sleeves, for want of a napkin, you will judge perhaps, that the Author hath some strange freaks, or quibboms in his nodale, that he hath quicksands, or Mercury, or rather one quarter of the Moon in his pericranium; But you Sir, that have a head so well timbr'd, will, I presume, passe another judgement.

The report is rise, that you have a design to travell, and range abroad for some time, and particularly to make the turn of France: If you are fixed in such a resolution, I pray give leave to an old soker, one that is well salted in the world, and knoweth more then how to eat his bread, one that hath pissed in many Snowes, to give you some few Motts of advice touching the Genius of that Countrey.

For matter of conversation, you shall find there, more then any where else, as many heads, so many several humours, and caprichios, as if most of the people had eaten of the white Hinde, or of the mad Cow (being impatient of peace any longer then they are recovering the ruines of the former war:) But every where, you must take the people as they be, and the season as it is: Above all, observe this short worded Rule, Heare, see, and hold thy peace, if thou wilt live in peace; for a slip of the toe is better then that of the tongue, and the Spaniard will tell you that when the mouth is shut the flies cannot enter.

Under that Ayrie clime, you shall rancounter sometimes with rambling bragadochians, or devourers of iron carts, who will make a shew as if they would kill six with the candle, and sixteen with the candlestick; they will make you believe that the Stars are but Spangles, and that Bladders are Lanterns: Among such blades be moderate, and discreet, but by no means fearfull, or pusillanimous, for he that maketh himself a Sheep, the Wolf will devour him, and that Nation which button their dublets upward, will tell you, that the French at first puff is more then a man, and afterwards lesse then a woman.

You shall meet also there with debosh'd youngsters, who use to eat their Corn in the green blade, and to burn their candles at both ends; 'Tis a maxime amongst them, that one cannot be a compleat Gentleman, untill he hath been five times in Cornelius tub; For there, the stoutest of them will kneel to the distaff: Take heed of companions of that gang, yet treat them with civil Language, for fair words never blister the tongue: By all means lend them no money, for when you lend you are a cousin-german, but when you demand demand it again, you are the son of a whore; you shall verifie it there as well as in England, who lendeth to his friend exposeth himself to a double hazard, viz. the losse of friend and money: yet notwithstanding, one may safely lend a Cake to one that hath a Pastie in the Oven.

Moreover, be carefull not to shew your self such a Bigot, or babe of grace as to raise disputes of matters of Religion, but leave the Minster where it is, and oftentimes in too much debate Truth is lost, especially in matters of Religion; You shall meet with many there of this cavilling humor, that will ever and anon leap from the Cock to the Ass, or from the Arbour among the stakes.

The Countrey and people of France are given to all kind of jollities, and divertisements, There you shall meet with boon companions, the Rogers of the good time, who will be as merry as Crickets, or Mice in malt: You must not be of such a dull Saturnin humour, as not to jovialize sometimes with such, and with a cup of good liquor to chase away all care, and cumber, for one ounce of mirth, is better then a whole pound of melancholy.

If you have a mind to entertain a Lacquay, you shall find enough in that Countrey, but take heed of choosing one who is too Officieux, for he is a Lacquay for the Devil who doth more then he is commanded.

For matters of health, and order of diet, which is the principal main thing, for who hath not health, hath nothing, you shall do well in that wine Countrey to marrie the Celler, and the Cistern, yet a jadisb bitt will require a good cup of wine; But drink wine like a King, and water like a Bull; In the morning white wine is good, Claret at night to breed good blood; Observe also that after Peare, the Wine, or Priest (viz. to confesse thee,) salt Beef they say, will make one find out the wine without a candle: Adde herunto, that if thou wilt batten, and be quickly fat, eat with hunger, and drinke leisurely and slow.

Concerning thy Food, take notice, that thy Sallet must be well washed, and salted, a little Vinegar, but well oyled; We dine to drive away hunger, we sup to pass away the time; Veal ill roasted, and rawish Poullets, they say, make the Church-yard full of hillocks: It is a repast for the Devil, where there is no salt: Take notice, that the cheese is wholesome which cometh from a misers hand: Of Fish, and Women the middle part is best; Touching mushrumps, the best are worth nothing; One Egg is nothing, two do some good, three is enough, four do hurt, five is death.

Touching exercise, walk till blood appear in thy cheeks, not untill sweat drop down at thy nose: In the morning seek the Mount, in the evening the Fount: Concerning sleep the chief repose of Nature, there is a saying, that the Scholler sleeps sixe houres, the Traveller seven, eight the Vigneron, and nine every Poltron: There is another rule, to rise at six, to dine at ten, to sup at six, and bed at ten, will make one live ten times ten: To conclude, observe this general caution, keep thy head, and feet warm, and for the rest thou maist live like a beast (who never eats nor drinks to excess.)

Touching the occurrences of the present times, there be various reports of things, but all is not Gospel that is spoken up and down the Town; yet they say for certain, that Dunkerk (that neast of Harpies, and birds of English prey) beginneth to parly, and you know that the Town which parlie's, and the Woman which listneth, are half got, half a word to the wise.

'Tis all that I have to say unto you at present, therefore I will draw this threed no longer, for short follies are the best: And I doubt not but you will take these kind of Drolleries in good part, because they come from an ancient friend of yours, and you know there is not a truer looking-glass then an old friend.

During your absence, if there be any thing imaginable wherein I may steed you, I will employ green and dry, I will set my five senses on work to serve you; for I am from the center of my heart

Yours,

J. H.

He hath enough at home who is lov'd by his neighbours.
To day at good chear, to morrow on the biere.
He is a horse with four white feet, viz. he is unlucky.
To draw his pin out of the stake, viz. to disingage himself of a business.
To leave an Ox to eat an Egg.
Once is no custome.
The best way is towards God.
To sow a fox tail to the Lions skin, viz. to joyn cunning with strength.
He's not so good, but there may be as good.
'Twixt the cup and the lip a mischance may happen.
His conscience is as large as the sleeve of a Cordatier Fryer.
To fall from the pan to the fire.

The Devils flower is but bran.
Who makes himself a Sheep, the Wolf devours him.
Who hath the fame of an early riser may sleep till noon.
He burns his candle at both ends, viz. a great unthrif.
To halt before a cripple.
A good face, but a poor heart.
Who wants a heart, let him have good legs.
The fool ends alwayes at the beginning.
Who loves well is long a forgetting.
All goes by favour and acquaintance.
An object seen too oft grows contemptible.
If a Bastard be good, 'tis by chance, if bad, 'tis by nature.

For woodcocks counsels wooden bells.
He gains enough who escapes a mischance.
Ready money brings physick.
A good name is worth more then a gold girdle.
He hath enough who is content.
In time the spout makes the stone hollow.
The shadow of a wise old man is more safe then the target of the young gallant.
Better be a Cuckold then a Knave.
The rost is turn'd in our houses, we have the stomach, and others the meat.
Wholies with dogs, riseth with fleas about him.

Better be a Coward then Fool-hardy.
The tongue hurts more then the lance.
Every one is wise after the blow.
The maid which takes, sells her self, the maid which gives, forsakes her self.
A good wife worth a Crown.
A large thong of another mans leather.
Too much scratching frets, too much prating hurts.
A fat Kitchen, a lean Testament; this is meant of Prodigals.
Like earth, like pitcher.
'Twixt two stools the tail falls to the ground.
He that corrects not youth, controlls not age.
The dance comes from a full panch.
Do what thou oughtest, let come what will come.
He is easily deceived who thinks no hurt.
Your tricks are sowed with white threed, they are too apparent.

Every morn brings its own bread.
Who complains, asks enough.
Who serves well, asks enough.
He staves not long who comes at last.
To make money with his teeth, viz. by parsimony.
They have most bread who have least teeth.
The Wolf devours the last; meant of the lazy.

Who spends more then he gets needs no budget.

The secret of two, the secret of Gods.
The Devils meal turns more then half to bran.
Thy son well fed, and ill cloth'd, but thy daughter well cloth'd, and ill fed; a rule in breeding children.
Not to trust God but upon good pawn.
For one point Saint Martin lost his ass, viz. his Convent called Asellus, for this Verse, Porta patens esto, nulli claudaris honesto.

Farine du Diable n'est que bran.
Qui se fait brebis le loup le mange.
Qui a bruit de Matinois peut dormir jusques a midy.
Brusler la chandelle par les deux bouts.
Clocher devant les boiteux.
Belle chere, & cœur arriere.
Qui n'a cœur, ait jambes.
Un fol fait tousiours le comencement.
Qui bien ayme tard oublie.
Tout y va par compere, & commere.
Chose trop veue mesprisée.
Bon bastard c'est d'avanture, meschant c'est la nature.
A conseil de fols cloche de bois.
Assez gaigne qui malheur perd.
Argent contant porte medicine.
Bonne renommée vaut plus que ceinture dorée.
Assez à, qui se contente.
A la continuè d'eau cave la pierre.
Mieux vaut l'ombre d'un sage, veillard, que le bouclier d'un jeune Couard.
Il vaut mieux estre Cocu, que Coquin.
On tourne le rosti en nos maisons, nous avons la fumée, & les autres la viande.
Qui se couche avec les chiens se leve avec des puces.
Mieux vaut Couard, que trop hardi.
Coup de langue, blesse plus que coup de lance.
Chacun est sage apres le coup.
Fille qui prend, se vend; Fille qui donne s'abandonne.
Femme bonne vaut une Couronne.
De cuir d'autrui large courroye.
Trop grater cuit, trop parler nuit.
Grasse cuisnie maigre Testament; contre les Prodiges.
Telle terre, telle cruche.
Entre deux selles le cul en terre.
Qui ne chastie culot ne chastie culasse.
De la panse vient la danse.
Fais ce que tu dois, avienne ce que pourra.
Il est tost deceu, qui mal ne pense.
Vos finesses sont cousues de fil blanc, elles sont trop apparentes.
Chaque demain apporte son pain.
Assez demande, qui se plaint.
Assez demande qui bien sert.
Il ne demeure pas trop qui vient a la fin.
Faire de l'argent avec les dents.
Tel a du pain qui n'a point de dents.
Le dernier le loup le mange, cecy s'entend de paresseux, & lasches.
Qui plus despend que ne pourchasse, il ne luy faut une besace.
Secret de deux, secret de dieux.
La farine du Diable s'en va moitie en son.
Ton fils repeu, & mal vestu; Ta fille vestue, & mal repeue.
Ne croire a Dieu que sur bons gages.
Pour un point Martin perdit son asne.

Oblier Dieu parmi tous les saints.
 Dieu donne biens & bœuf mais ce n'est pas par la corne.
 Il est bien fin, la couture de ses chausses est derriere.
 A pere, a maître, & Dieu tout puissant, nul ne peut rendre l'équivalent.
 A toile ourdie Dieu mande le fil.
 Il ne perd rien, qui Dieu ne perd.
 A propos comme le Magnificat a Matins.
 La où Dieu veut, il pleut.
 En peu d'heure, Dieu labeure.
 Qui a beaucoup d'amys n'en a point.
 Diligence passe Science, & la fortune toutes les deux.
 Du dire au fait il y a un gran trait.
 Tout vray n'est pas bon a dire.
 Courtoine tardive est descourtoise.
 Mettre le doibt entre le bois, & l'escorce.
 Femme se plaint, femme se deult, femme est malade quand elle veut.
 Qui est loin du plat, est pres de son dommage.
 Le diable estoit alors en son grammaire.
 Il a un quartier de la lune en la teste.
 Assiez dort qui rien ne fait.
 De femme qui se farde, donne toy bien garde.
 Femme, argent & vin, ont leur bien, & leur venim.
 Femme sage l'ornement de son mesnage.
 Il n'est si bon que femme n'assorte.
 Homme de paille, vaut une femme d'or.
 Il n'est pas tousiours feste, où prim temps.
 Amour de femme feu d'estoupe; qui n'est pas de durée.
 A la fin seaura on qui a mangé le lard.
 Fille ayant silence, est douee de grand science.
 Fille brunette gaye, & nette.
 Ce que est venu par la fleute, s'en retourne par le tabourin.
 Fols sont sages quand ils se taisent.
 Mieux vaut un once de fortune, qu'une livre de sagesse.
 Il ne peut estre ensemble au four, & au moulin.
 Si la fortune me tourmente, l'esperance me contente.
 Sur petit commencement on fait grande fusée.
 Le fuseau doit ayvre le gorreau.
 Le petit gain emplit la bourse.
 Mieux vaut un bon gardeur, qu'un bon gaigneur.
 Celuy qui est sur les espauls du geant voit plus loin que celuy qui le porte.
 Il y a gens, & gens, viz. hommes de divers humeurs.
 Tant de gens, tant de guises.
 Chascun a son gibbier, viz. selon son naturel.
 Il n'y a cheval si bien ferré qui ne glisse.
 Attendre le gland, jusques a tant qu'il tombe.
 A goupil endormy rien ne tombe en sa gueule.
 Gourmandise rue plus de gens que l'espee tranchant.
 Goutte a goutte la mer s'egoute.
 Goutte a goutte on emplit la Cuve.
 Nul grain sans paille, nul or sans escume.
 Vin de grain, plus doux que de la presse.
 Il n'est si gran jour qui ne vienne a vespre.
 En seureté dort qui n'a que perdre.
 Renard qui dort la matinée, n'a pas la langue emplumée.

To forget God among so many Saints.
 God gives goods and cattle, but not by the horn.
 He is a cunning Jack, the seam of his breeches is backward.
 To Father, and School-master, and God Almighty we cannot be too thank ful.
 God provides threed for the work begun.
 He loseth nothing that loseth not God.
 As proper as the Magnificat in the morning.
 It rains there where God pleaseth.
 God works in a short time.
 Who hath many friends, hath none at all.
 Diligence goes beyond Science, and good fortune beyond both.
 There's a good distance 'twixt the word and the deed.
 All truths are not good to be told.
 A slow courtesie is a discourtesie.
 To put ones finger 'twixt the rind and the tree.
 Women complain, women do grieve, women are sickly when they please.
 Who is far from the dish, is neer his own loss.
 The Devil was then in his Primmer.
 He carryes a quarter of the Moon in his noddle, viz. he is mad.
 He sleeps enough who doth nothing.
 Take heed of a painted woman.
 Women, wealth and wine have their good and their venome.
 A wise woman, the ornament of the house.
 There's none so wise, but women may besot him.
 A man of straw worth a woman of gold.
 'Tis not alwayes holy-day, nor Spring-tide.
 A womans love like fire of flax, which is of no durance.
 At the end 'twill be known who did eat the bacon.
 A maid silent, shews wisdom.
 A brown maid gay and neat.
 That which came by the Pipe, goes away by the Tabor.
 Fools are wise when they hold their peace.
 An ounce of fortune is more worth then a ponne of learning.
 He cannot be at once at the Mill and the Bakers.
 If fortune me torments, yet hope doth me content.
 A small beginning makes a great web.
 The wife must follow the husband.
 Light gain makes a heavy purse.
 'Tis more to spare then to gain.
 He who is upon the Giants shoulders sees more then he who carryeth him.
 There be men of all conditions and humours.
 As many Nations, so many Fashions.
 Every one to what he is fit for.
 Let a horse be never so well shod, he may slide.
 To stay for the acorns till they fall.
 Nothing falls into the throat of a sleeping Fox.
 Gluttony kills more then the sword.
 By little and little the Sea is drain'd.
 Drop after drop fills the tub.
 No grain without stubble, no gold without dross.
 Wine from the grape is better then that of the press.
 No day so long but will have his evening.
 He sleeps safely who hath nothing to lose.
 The Fox who sleeps in the morning hath not his tongue feathered.
 That

*That which is given shines, that which is eaten stinks.
All's lost that's given to a fool.
He who borroweth much lades his back,
Fair words blister not the tongue.
He hath both the cloth and cizzars given him, viz. full power.*

*A good cause hath need of help.
Sorrow hath drink enough, viz. tears.
To last and dure, one must endure.
Who will take a bird, he must not scare him.
The bird sings according as he is beaked.
Who hath a trade, hath rent.
A Sun glittering in the morning, a Latin woman, and a child nurs'd with wine, seldome come to a good end.*

Who brings good news may knock boldly.

There's no enemy little, viz. we must not undervalue any foe.

*There's no such pride as from a begger grown rich.
He who payes his debts grows rich.
Half a word to a good understander.
The mouse who hath but one hole is quickly caught.*

*Envious men may dye, but envy never.
Who sends a fool, must expect a fool.
To rank himself among onions, being but a small scalon.*

*Of an Owl one can never make good hawk.
Every state is worms meat, viz. we are all mortal.*

*They make him believe that the stars are but spangles.
All that thunders doth not astonish.
Who accuseth himself, excuseth himself.
Hunger drives the Wolf out of the wood.
Take not a blind man for thy guide, nor a fool for thy Counsellor.*

*God directs him who despiseth himself, viz. the modest man.
The Devil is known by his clawes.*

*Who will keep his house clean, must have neither poultry nor pigeon.
Over a bridge, a plank, or river, the servant before, the master after.*

*The masters eye fattens the horse.
He answers ill who understands ill.
He thinks ill who thinks not twice.
He doth ill, who doth not all, viz. who doth not perfect his work.*

The dead hath no friend, the sick but half a one.

*One crosse never comes single.
He wip'd his nose in his own sleeve.
To wash'd hands God sends encrease.
He is giddy or shuttle headed.
A good beast gets heat in eating.
Fortune reacheth her hand to a bold man.
He who eats the Kings Goose may shite out the feathers a hundred years after.
Bad ware is never too cheap.
To make himself a Merchant of fish on Easters eve.
Good ware will never want a chapman.
If all fools hables were of wood, there would be but a small store.*

*Ce qu' on donne luit, ce qu' on mange puit.
Tout est perdu ce qu' on donne au fol.
Qui fait credos charge son dos.
Bonnes paroles n' ecorchent pas la langue.
Le drap & les ciseaux luy sont donnez.*

*Bon droit a bon mestier d' ayde.
Assez boit qui a dueil, viz. des larmes.
Pour durer il faut endure.
Qui veut prendre un oyseau qu' il ne l' effarouche.
L' oyseau gazoville selon qu' il est embecqué.
Qui scait mestier, a rente.*

Soleil qui luyserne au matin, femme qui parle latin, enfant nourry du vin ne viennent point a bonne fin.

Il peut hardiment hurter a la porte qui bonnes nouvelles apporte.

Il n' est nul petit ennemy, viz. on ne doit mespriser quel qu' ennemy qui soit.

*Il n' est orgueil que de povre enrichi.
Qui s' acquite, s' enrichit, viz. qui paye ses debtes.*

*A bon entendeur ne faut que demy mot.

 All hours are not ripe, viz. seasonable.
 Men give women milk, though they have none themselves, viz. milk.
 A bad man may be a good King.
 One trade requires one whole man.
 Who lives on the score, lives in shame.
 An ill report quickly flies abroad.
 He is got drunk.
 Love feeds on young flesh.
 A growing youth hath a wolf in his belly.
 Innocence carryeth her own defence about her.
 All things may be bought except day and night.
 One day judgeth another, and the last is judge of all.
 A long tongue, a short hand; meant of complements.
 For washing his hands one never sells lands.
 He sees no farther then the end of his nose.
 To make the wolf fiercer then he is.
 He hath the wolf by the ears.
 A small matter makes the wolf take the sheep.
 To bad language clos'd ears.
 Good laws come from lewd lives.
 To keep the Moon from wolfs.
 'Tis a good farthing that gains a penny.
 All is not Gospel that's spoken up and down the town.
 Who hath not patience wants all things.
 From an ill debtor take hay or straw.
 When all sins become old, covetousness grows younger.
 The scabby head loves not the comb.
 God knows who is the good pilgrim.
 At last the Foxes meet at the Furriers shop.
 He may safely sing who hath nothing to lose.
 You may well lose a Menow to take a Salmon.
 He loseth nothing who loseth not God.
 Who loseth his right loseth his reason.
 Who lends to a friend loseth double.
 'Tis easier to draw a fart from a dead ass.
 Sing to an ass and he will fart at you.
 Better stumble with the foot then the tongue.
 One foot is better then two stilts.
 He would find more then four feet in a Mutton.
 He is drunk.
 To give two blowes with one stone.
 To lose a Mutton for a little tar, or a Pigeon for a grain of rye.
 Better bow then break.
 To buy a cat in a poke.
 All succeeds well to him who hath patience.
 Anoint a clown, and he will prick you.

To rob Peter to pay Paul.
He is not yet such a fool that he wears the fools coat.

 Il a pissé en beaucoup de neiges.

*As many heads so many opinions.
 One Ass cannot carry two proud men.
 Like the Arcadian Ass, who eats thistles though laden with gold; meant of the covetous miser.
 Hear, see, and hold thy peace, if thou wilt live in peace.
 By degrees the Wolf eats up the Goose.
 He thought that roasted Larks would have fallen into his mouth; spoken of the sluggard.
 To make God a sheaf of straw.
 Who wants bread, wants all things.
 To leap, or digress from one thing to another.
 Peace with a little, the gift of God.
 There be eyes bigger than the belly.
 A red nose, and a great panch is no sign of repentance.*

*He's a fool who yawns before an oven.
 Farewell panniers, the vintage is ended.
 Pardon all except thy self.
 Many kindred, much trouble.
 Who hath sore teeth, hath ill neighbours.
 He serveth ill, who serve's not thoroughly.

Explications morales d'aucuns
Proverbes en la Langue Françoise.

Le morier sent toujours les aulx.

CE Proverbe est propre a celui le quel estant une fois entaché de quelque vice, en retient toujours les marques, & ne peut dissimuler son inclination a iceluy, tout ainsi qu'un mortier dans le quel on a pile des aulx ne se peut tant laver qu'il n'en retienne toujours l'odeur.

Toujours souvient Robin a ses flustes.

Ce Proverbe est prins d'un certain drol de Paris nommé Robin, & se dit quand quelq'un importunement, & sans propos fait mention de quelque chose que luy est propre, n'ayant autre chose en la bouche.

Les couteaux de Jean Colot l'un vaut l'autre.

Ce Proverbe prit son origine en la ville de Troye en Champagne ou viuvoit ce Jean Colot qui estoit un artizan, & bon compagnon qui portoit ordinairement pendue a sa ceinture une gaine dans laquelle y avoit trois ou quatre couteaux tous de peu de valeur, tarez de quelque défaut, l'un ayant la pointe rompue, l'autre estoit ebreché au taillant, l'autre estoit rebouché, l'autre ne coupoit point du tout; & de ce fut fait ce proverbe le quel se dit proprement de toutes choses où il n'y a pas gran choix, & mesmes de personnes qui valent aussi peu l'un que l'autre.

Qui a le bruit de se lever abonne heure, peut bien dormir la grasse matinée.

Par ces mots nous sommes enseigner que bien souvent la bonne opinion, & jugement que l'on fait de personnes, est fondée sur le bruit & dire du comun plus que sur la verité mesme, de sorte que la repuration surmonte le fait propre, & se voit assez de gens que le comuntient pour sages, doctes, vaillans & ornez de beaucoup d'autres vertus, qui n'ont rien de tout cela si on les regarde de pres.

Pour un poil Martin perdit son Asne.

Un nommé Martin ayant perdu son Asne a la foire, il arriva que l'on en trouva un autre qui estoit aussi perdu, de sorte que le Juge du village estoit d'opinion qu'on rendist a ce Martin l'asne qui avoit esté trouvé, mais celui qui l'avoit en sa possession pria le Juge de demander a Martin de quel poil estoit son asne, lequel ayant répondu que son asne estoit tout gris, fut débouté de sa demande d'autant qu'on trouva un poil noir en sa queue.

A morall Explication of some Proverbs in the French Language.

The mortar smelleth alwaies of the Garlick.

THis Proverb is proper to him who being once foul'd with some vice, beareth still some markes of it, nor can he dissemble his inclination thereunto; As a mortar, wherein Garlicke hath been pestelled in, cannot be so washed, but that it will still retain some smell thereof.

Robins mind runs alwayes on his pipes.

This Proverb is taken from a Droll called Robin who lived in Paris, and is meant of one who impertinently makes mention of something that his fancie runs upon, having nothing else in his mouth.

John Colots knives, one is no better then the other.

This Proverb grew up first in the town of Troy in Champany, where this John Colot lived, who was an Artizan, and a good fellow, and had commonly at his girdle a sheath, wherein there were three or four knives, all of little value, and having some fault or other, as one having the point broke, the other hacked on the edge, the other blunted, the other did not cut at all; And hence did arise this Proverb, which is properly spoken of things, whereof there is no great choice, as also of men that are of little value.

Who hath once the report to be an early riser, may sleep till noon.

We are taught by these words, that oft times the good opinion and judgement which we have of some persons are grounded more upon common report then upon Truth it selfe, in so much that the reputation is more then the thing it selfe; And it is found that there are many whom the vulgar cry up to be wise, learned, and valiant, and adorned with other Vertues, yet they have nothing of all these three if one should pry narrowly unto them.

For one Hair Martin lost his Asse.

One called Martin having lost his Asse in the Fair, it happened that another was found which had been also lost, the Judge of the place was of that opinion that that Asse should be restored to Martin, but he who had him in his possession, desired the Judge to ask Martin of what colour his Asse was, who having answered, that he was all gray, he was put by his claim, because there was a black hair found in the Asse's tail.

To be in straw up to the belly.

This Proverb is borrowed from horses, to whom the best usage they can have (besides oats and hey) is to give them good store of fresh straw for their Litter ; And by this similitude, it may be spoken of those that are at their ease, and have all things to their hearts desire.

As he spoke of the Wolf he sees his tail.

The use of this Proverb is, when one comes unexpectedly to a place where he is spoken of.

'Tis my mothers belly.

This Proverb is spoken of one, who having escaped some danger in a place, resolveth never to return thither, like the childe who being come out of his mothers wombe with much pain and danger, never entereth there again.

There is no day so long but hath his evening.

By this Proverb we are taught, that all things in this world come to an end, as there is no day ever so long, but hath its declination.

He hath a nose.

When one is commended to be well advised, sagacious, prudent, and foreseeing afarre off all accidents whereby he might be surprized, we say that that man hath a nose : And this similitude is taken from the sagacitie, and acute sent of hunting dogs, who by the smell of the nose, their heads being towards the earth discover and follow all the turns of those beasts which they pursue.

He hath so much nose.

This Proverb is spoken, when one undertaking a business, miscarrieth in bringing it about, therefore he resteth confused and ashamed.

To be in the Pies nest.

Use is made of this Proverb, when one is mounted up to the highest degree of his fortune ; For the nature of the Pie is, to build her nest upon the highest trees that she can choose.

To break a pudding on the knee.

The different nature of things require that some be managed one way, and some another ; There are some things that may be broken on the knee, as stickes of dry wood ; There are other things that require the knife, or hatchet, as green osiers, and all other wood while it is sappy, and green ; Of this kind are puddings which cannot be broken properly, but with a knife ; Now

Estre en la paille jusques au ventre.

Ce Proverbe est pris de chevaux, auxquels le meilleur traitement qu'ils puissent recevoir (outre le foin, & l'avoine) est, qu'ils ayent ample, & profonde litiere ; Et par cette similitude il se peut dire de ceux lesquels ont a leur souhait toutes choses necessaries a une vie opulente & heureuse.

Qui parle du Loup on en voit la queue.

L'usage de ce Proverbe est, quand aucun survient a l'improviste lors qu'on tient propos de luy.

C'est le ventre de ma mere.

Cecy est dit, quand quelq'un se repent d'avoir este en telle place, ou estant echappé de quelque danger, il prend resolution de n'y jamais retourner, tout ainsi que l'enfant estant sorti du ventre de sa mere jamais plus n'y rentre.

Il n'est si grand jour qui ne vienne a vespre.

Par ce Proverbe nous sommes appris que toutes choses de ce monde viennent en fin a decadence, comme il n'est point du jour si long qui n'ayt son soir.

Il a du nez.

Quand on veut donner les los a quelq'un d'estre bien avisé, accort, entendu, & prevoyant de loin tous accidents, pour ne se laisser surprendre, on dit cet homme a du nez ; Et ceste similitude est prise de la sagacité, & aigu odorat des chiens de chasse, lequel, au sentiment du nez, la teste bassée contre terre, decouvrent, & suivent tous les tours & entortillements des bestes qu'ils pourchassent.

Il a autant de nez.

Cela se dit quand quelq'un ayant entrepris de faire quelque chose, manquant d'en venir a bout, demeure confus, & tout honteux.

Estre au nid de la Pie.

Quand quelq'un est monté au plus haut degré de sa Fortune, on use communement de ce Proverbe : Car le naturel de la Pie est, de faire son nid sur les plus hauts arbres qu'elle peut choisir.

Rompre l'andonille a genouil.

La nature differente des choses porte que les unes se manient d'une sorte, les autres d'une autre ; Les uns se peuvent rompre sur le genouil ou autrement comme sont les esclats de bois sec, & deliez ; Les autres requierent le couteau, & ferremens pour estre mises en deux pieces, comme l'ozier verd & tout autre bois flexible quand il est encore verd ; De cette façon sont les andouilles, lesquelles ne se peuvent rompre, mais il faut les couper au couteau ; Ce Proverbe donc apprend, qu'en toutes nos actions nous ne pouvons parvenir a ce que nous pretendons, si ce n'est par les moyens a ce convenables.

Laissez ton Enfant morveux, plutot que luy arracher le nez.

Ce di'e nous apprend que ceux qui ont de personnes a gouverner tellement inveterez, & endurcis en aucunes complexions, & mauvaises coutumes desquelles on les voudroit bien retirer, & n'est pas possible de le faire entierement, doivent plutot tascher d'en corriger le plus, & en laisser le moins qu'ils pourront, que par les vouloir trop presser, les depiter, & rebuter du tout ; Ceste similitude est prise des petits Enfans qui estans ordinairement morveux, on les arracheroit plutot le nez, que de le garder du tout, qu'ils n'ayent tousiours quelque roupie pendante sur leurs leures.

Faire a Dieu jarbe de foin.

L'on scait que de tout temps il a esté ordonné de payer au Seigneur le di'me, cest' a sçavoir la dixieme partie que l'homme recueille de fruits de la terre ; Ce droit estoit tellement sacrosaint que chacun en toute verite laissoit sur le champ ce qui estoit du dit di'me ; Or, Il aduint qu'aucuns prophanes faisant aussy peu de difficulté de tromper Dieu comme les hommes faisoient tout expres certaines jarbes equelles il n'y avoit point de grain, & de cela payoyent leur di'mes ; Ce qui a donné lieu a ce Proverbe le quel se peut appliquer a toute personne de mauvaise conscience, soit envers Dieu, soit envers les hommes ; comme sont telles gens.

Homme de Porc & de Boeuf.

Par ces mots on veut signifier un homme grossier, mal apprins, incivil, & mal honneste, tels que sont ordinairement ceux de plus vil, & bas degre d'entre le peuple, dont la nourriture ordinaire est du lard, & du b ruf.

Jetter le manche apres la coignée.

Ce Proverbe prit l'origine d'un pavure Boscheron. lequel ayant rompu, ou autrement perdu le fer de la coignée, par un despit jettat le manche apres ; A cest' exemple nous est enseigné quand quelque perte nous advient, de retenir nostre corroux, & ne la vouloir faire plus grande par nostre propre faute, en perdant par despit le reste qui nous peut encor servir.

Maille a maille se fait le haubergeon.

Haubergeon estoit de temps passé une façon d'ar-

Now, this Proverb teacheth, that in all our actions we cannot arrive to that which we pretend, but by such means that are proper thereunto.

Rather let the Child be snottie then pluck off his nose.

This Proverb teacheth that they who have those to govern who are habituated, and hardened in some customs, from which one would withdraw and wean them, and it being impossible to doe it altogether, one should endeavour to correct the greatest part and leave alone the lesser by pressing them too much ; This similitude is taken from little children, who being commonly snotty, one might as well plucke off their noses, as keep them altogether, but they must have some small roses of snott hanging on their lips.

To leave God a sheaf of straw.

It is well known, that from all times it was ordained to pay dimes or tithes unto the Lord, which was the tenth part of our earthly increase ; This was kept so holy, that every one used to leave upon the field the tenth sheaf : Now, it happened that some prophane persons made of purpose some kinde of sheaves wherein there were no grains, wherewith they payed their tithes : Which gave occasion to this Proverb, and it may be applyed to any person of an ill Conscience, whether towards God, or man, whereof there were never more then now adayes, (thank the long Parliament.)

A man of Pork, and Beef.

By these words is meant a gross fellow ill taught, and uncivil, such as they commonly are who are of a low degree, whose ordinary food is Bacon and Beef.

To throw the helve after the hatchet.

This Proverb tooke its beginning from a poor wood-cleaver, who having broken the iron head of his hatchet foolishly threw the helve after it in despit : Hereby we are admonished, that when some small losse is befallen us, we should suppress our choler, and not make the losse bigger.

By link and link the coat of mail is made at last.

A Haubergeon in times past was a kind of armour, which was made made of the same stuff as we now make our coats of mail which use to be made of small rings of iron, or steel, clasping one another; and in regard that to make such a coat composed of so many small pieces, there must be much time and patience used this Proverb telleth us that there is nothing but by little and little may be perfected by study and labour.

There is no hunting but with old dogs.

This Proverb aimeth at young men, who cannot be so capable of any Function as the aged, who have gained experience, and studied men.

To go gather Mulberries without a crook.

The Mulberry is a tree which stretcheth her branches far from the trunk, and they are easie to be broken; wherefore they who goe to gather the fruit thereof, carry with them a kind of crook to drawe the branches: This teacheth us not to goe about any businesse, without being provided with that which is necessary to expedite it.

He hath made a hole in the night.

If any get away from a place by stealth without any bodies privacy, specially when he is least suspected, they use this Proverb, He hath made a hole in the night.

A sleeping Fox hath nothing falls into his mouth.

This Proverb teacheth us, that to entertain our selves in this world, 'tis not enough to be wise, and learned, but we must employ our care and diligence in having a hand upon the work: the Proverb is taken from the Fox, who although he be old he cunningest of creatures, if he should keep still sleeping in his earth, hole or terrier, he should never have any meat enter into his belly.

As resolute as Pihourt in his heteroclit.

The meaning of this is, when an ignorant buzzard is too ready to speak in a learned assembly; this Pihourt was a Mason of the Citie of Renes in Britany, whence sprung the Proverb.

I have paid all my English, viz. all my Creditors.

This Proverb had its beginning in the reign of John (the French King) when he was prisoner in England, at which time for his ransom, there were divers tallies, and other general Impositions laid upon the people, which lasted a long time to satisfie the English; In-somuch that English, and Creditor came to be synonimas.

Now the Pope is become French, and Jesus Christ English.

These words were used as a Proverb, when the Pope came to keep his See in Avignon, and that the English prospered so much in France, that they possessed more then half the Kingdome.

meure qui se faisoit du tell' etoffe dont nous faisons cottes de mailles; ces mailles sont petits an-nelets de fer, ou d'acier s'embranchans, & tenants, l'un l'autre pour enfair un habillement; & pource qu'a bastir cest'ouvrage composé de tant de petites pieces, il y va beaucoup de temps & de patience, ce Proverbe nous enseigne qu'il n'est rien qu'on ne puisse parfaire par le menu, & petit a petit, si on y veut mettre l'estude.

Il n'est chasse que de vieux chiens.

Ce Proverbe vise aux jeunes gens, qui ne sont si capables d'aucune fonction que ce soit, comme les aagez qu'en ont acquis l'experience.

Aller aux meures sans crocher.

Le meurier est un arbre qui estend ses rameaux loin du tronc, & sont fort aisez a rompre, qui fait que ceux qui en veulent cueiller le fruit se servent d'un crochet pour tirer les branches; cela nous enseigne de ne point s'acheminer a aucune entre-prise, sans estre pourveu, & garni de ce qui la peut faciliter.

Faire un trou a la nuit.

Si aucun part de quelque lieu a la derobee sans que personne en sache rien, & mesmes lors qu'on l'eut le moins soupconne, on use de ce Proverbe, Il a fait un trou a la nuit.

A Goupil endormi rien ne tombe, en la gueule.

Ce Proverbe nous apprend que pour s'entre tenir au monde ill ne fust pas d'estre sage, & scau-ant, mais il faut employer le soin, & la dili-gence, en mettant la main a la besongne; Cela est pris du renard, lequel encore qu'il soit tenu entre les autres bestes pour l'un des plus cauteu-leuses pour sa nourriture, neantmoins sil demeu-roit toujours dormant en son terrier, aucune vi-ande n'entreroit jamais en son ventre.

Resolu comme Pihourt en ses heteroclit.

C'est a dire, quand un ignorant est trop prompt de parler parmi les gens scavant. Ce Pihourt estoit un Maçon de la ville de Renes, d'ou vin le pro-verbe.

J'ay payé tous mes Anglois, c'est a scavoir tous mes Creanciers.

Ce Proverbe prenoit son origine du temps de Roy Jean quand il estoit prisonnier en Angleterre, car alois pour rançon, il y avoit de tailles extraor-dinaires, & diverses sortes d'Impositions gene-ales mises sur le peuple, qui duroient long temps pour satisfaire les Anglois, de sorte que Anglois, & Creancier vinrent a estre synonymes.

Ore le Pape est devenu François, & Jesu Christ Anglois.

Ces mots s'usoient comme Proverbe, quand le Pon-tife Romain tenoit le Siege papal en Avignon, & que les Anglois prosperoient tant en France ocu-pants plus de la moitié du Royaume.

Vanno tutti incatinati a far' un sentimento intiero, & Congruo;

Mandata

A vn Gentilhuomo ch'era su'l punto de viaggiare, & andarfi a Italia.

Signore mio affectionatissimo,

Icono comunemente che l'acqua corrente è piu chiara che la cheta, & che quella del stagno è assai piu torbida che la passagiera, & quella del ruscello; cosi gli spiriti di loro che andano per il mondo & s'applicano allo studio degli huomini divengono piu sottili, chiari ed acuti; Parimente frà gli vegetabili s'osserva, che gli migliori porri sono quelli che si trapiantano; Per tanto io lodo grandemente il pensiero che voi hauete di voler trappassare gli Alpi, è scender poi l'Apennino la schiena d'Italia; Mà siate auerito che per andar' saluo per il mondo, & principalmente in Italia, doue vi sono tante ~~este~~ tempeste, & feste, bisogna auer' l'occhio di falcone (per veder' lontano) orecchie d'asino, viso di simia (per compiacer' tutti) lingua de montinbanco spalle di camelo (da portar' qualunque cosa,) bocca di porco (da mangiar' tutto) gambe di ceruo per schifar' il pericolo; In Italia voi trouarete assai Marioli, più doppij che la cepolla per tanto guardate vi ben bene del gioeo, (nel quale gli Italiani si dilattano troppo) per che il gioco è un tarlo che rode fin' a l'osso; Havendo passato piemonte traghettarete quel delicatissimo fiume del Pò perche gli pioppi del Pò ligri man' à bra, tuttavia il Pò non sarebbe pò, se l'Adda, & resin non vi metessero co'. Essendo intruto la Lombardia, voi vederete Milan la Grande, tanto per la sua forza, quanto per la sua ampiezza donde nacque quel Proverbio, Milan può far, Milan può dire, mà non può far' dell' acqua vino; Guardate ui ben in quei contorni de boccon lombardo, ciò è d'un fico Italiano. Di là intrarete nell Dominio Veneto, & frà l'altre nobili Citta Vicenza è degna d'esser' salutata, perche dicono che Venetia non hà tanti Gondolieri, quanti Vicenza ha conti, & Cavalieri; Di là v'incaminate a Padoua la sede principal' d'Hippocrat. & di là a Venetia doue si può vedere l'impossibile, nell' Impossibile; là potrete salutare la Sposa di Nettuno anchor ch'alcuni (gli anni a dietro) la chiamino la concubina del Turco; gli Veneti non sono cosi facili a compiacere, perche dicono che ui sono quatro difficili cose, cuocer' un vuouo, far' al can' vn letto, insegnar' un Florentino, & servir' un Venetiano; Farete ben di visitare l'Arsenale, una delle Grandezze del mondo per la sua forza, donde nacq; il detto commune, che tutto l'Arsenale de Venetia non basta armar la paura; In Venetia guardate ui ben delle donne, perche Il sesso donnesco è dannoso; Le Cortesane di quel lago si stimano le piu belle del mondo, secondo il detto, pan Padouan, vin Visintin, tripe Trevisane, puttane Venetiane, de donde nacq; un altro, Venetia, Venetia, chi non te vede non te preggia chi t'ha troppo veduto te dispreggia; Essendo sotollato dalla Virgine Città, per che frà tutte l'altre città d'Italia, la Venetia si chiama la Virgine città, per non aver mai stato rapita dal nemico, & v'ene una profetia che continuerà Virgine fin a tanto ch'il suo marito l'abandoni, cio è il mare. Havendo dico detto adio a Venetia, farete ben di visitar Toscana, mà essendo là, siate auerito che chi hà da far con Tosco, non bisogna esser' losco; osservate donq; queste due regole, chi non si fida, non vien vien ingannato, & che chi hà il lupo per compagno, porti il can' sotto il mantello. Là, voi vederete Fierenze la bella, sì bella, che si dice che sia una città da veder' solamente le Feste, de doue nacque un altro detto, se Fierenze havesse un porto de Pisa farebbe un horto, & de Liorno un escritoio, & de Luca un cacatoio; Dipoi, Siena è degna d'esser satata anchor' che dicano, che Siena quattro cose piena, Torri, campane, Bardassi, puttanen, guardate vi di non comprar' panno in Siena, perche panno Sanese si rompe prima che si mette adosso, Farete ben di visitar Luca che si chiama casetta de api, per la sua industria; Di là u'incaminate a Genoa la superba, dove gli mariti ingravidano lor moglie cento miglia lontano, dove ancho si dice che ui sono montagne senza legno, mar senza pesce, donne senza vergogna, & huomini senza coscienza; Poi farete ben di visitar' lo stato ecclesiastico come. Bologna la grassa, doue si legano le vigne con salficcie; Di là potrete pigliar la strada Romana, &, non ci'è cosa piu pesta che la strada di Roma, Dicono che chi v' a Roma & porta buon borsetto diuenta Abbate, o Vescovo di botto, niente di manco ci'è vn' altro Proverbio che u'informa, che in Roma, chi seguita le fortune li fuggono, et chi non l'aspetta le vengono; mà offeruifi ben che la Corte Romana non vuol pecora senza lana; Di là havendo veduto (non futuro come disse il Tedesco secondo il suo accento) il Papa et tutti gli Cardinali potrete a bell'agio passar a Napoli la Gentile, tutta via, un Paradiso habitato da diavoli se si da fede al detto comune, oltra di questo dicono ch' il Napolitano è largo di bocca, & stretto di mano; de sorte che spesse volte là, tal mano si bacia che si vorrebbe veder mozza; In quella delicatissima città si troua che un' pelo di donna tira piu che cento carrà de boui, Per preuenir questo, bisogna allontanarui dal dinanzi delle moglie, di dietro delle mule, et da tutti li lati di monachi; non importa molto che si veda la Calabria terra de tarantole, perche si dice che guai a quel paese doue ci'è un Calabrese, se ui stà un anno, apporta ruina, et danno; terra sterile, tutta via piena de nobili, de sorte chi si viddero tre Marquesi sopra un albero mangiando fichi: Per tutto doue si passa bisogna haver bezzi in borsa, perche un cavalier' là senza danaro è muro senza croce da tutti scompisciato; conviene ancho star' all'erta et ardito, perche in quel paese chi pecora si fà il lupo li mangia, li meneranno per il naso come un bufalo; Fra altre cose Italia abonda de Vescovi (mà alcuni assai poveri) secondo quel Proverbio Nazionale, i conti d'Alemagna, i don di Spagna, i Monsieurs de Francia, i minori fratelli d'Ingliterra, i nobili di scotia, vescovi d'Italia, fanno una pouera compagnia, l'Italia è la scuola di prudenza, perche dicono che gli Todeschi sono saggi nel fatto, gli Francesi doppo il fatto, & gli Italiani innanzi il fatto; Tuttavia l'Italiano è gran Dormiglione conforme a quel motto, le nationi Smultiscono di versamente la lor melancholia, Il Tedesco la beue, il Francese la canta, lo Spagnuolo pigna, l'Italiano la dorme. Frà altre cose potrete offeruar' a Napoli et Milano, che affetto portano alli Spagnuoli, et Francesi, doue l'uno e l'altro dice; Amo tanto lo spagnuolo, che mi contentarei di vederlo impiccato con budelli Francesi. Per trarr' il filo di questa lettera al fine hò speranza che doppo questo viaggio non si verificherà in voi quel detto, Inglese Italionato è un diavolo incarnato; ni manco, che sarete del numero di quelli chi vanno messeri, et tornano seri; Non posso più, perche un negotio m'è subito sopravvenuto, che mi ministrerà più da fare ch'a un forno Inglese la mattina del Natale, solamente dico che se, mentre che voi mancate quà, io ui posso valere in alcuna cosa, farò quel che potrò per servirui, et un poco meno per poterui durare, Così, allo Lombardo, senza lechetto delle ceremonie rimango.

Il vostro da senno J. H.

OF ITALIAN PROVERBS

Concurring All in one congruous sense, and sent to a Gentleman, that was upon point of crossing the Alpes to ITALY.

SIR,

They say commonly that Running waters are the cleereſt, and thoſe of the Brook farr more then they of a ſtanding Bog; In like manner the Spirits of thoſe who travel up and down the world, and by their motions apply themſelves to the ſtudy of Men, become thereby more cleer, acute, and ſubtile. It is alſo obſerved among Vegetables, that (according to the Proverb) the beſt dignons are thoſe which are tranſplanted; Therefore I highly approve of the reſolution you have to croſs the Alpes, and afterwards the Apennin hill, the chinebone of Italy.

But take along with you theſe rules, that he who travereſeth the world, ſpecially Italy, muſt have the eye of a Faulcon (to ſee danger afarr off,) the ears of an Aſs, the face of an Ape, the tounge of a Mountibank, the back of a Camell (to bear any thing) the mouth of a Hog (to eat any thing) the legs of a Stag, to fly from all miſchiefs.

In Italy you ſhall meet with many cunning Rooks that have more doublings in them then a Cabage; Therefore take heed of associating with ſuch, ſpecially to fall a gaming (whereunto the Italians are extraordinarily addiſted) for they ſay that gaming doth gnaw one to the very bone. Having gone through Piemont, you will come to the moſt delicate River of Pò, where the very trees weep Ambar, yet Pò would not be Pò, unleſs Adda and Tefin did not come into her.

Being entred Lombardy, you ſhall ſee Milan the Great, ſo call'd as well for her ſtrength, as for her bigneſs, whence ſprung the Proverb, Milan can talk, and Milan can do, yet ſhe cannot tur nwater into wine; In thoſe quarters take heed of a Lombard bit, viz. an Italian figg. Thence you will paſs to the Venetian Dominions, and among other the Noble City of Vicenza deſerves to be ſaluted, for they ſay that Vienza hath more Counts and Cavaliers, then Venice hath Gondolleers: Thence you may direct your cours to Padua, called the chief reſidence of Hippocrates, and thence to Venice, where they ſay one may ſee an impoſſibility in an impoſſibility; there you may kiſs Neptunes ſpouſe, for Venice is called ſo, though ſome would have her to be a Concubine to the Turk: The Venetians they ſay are hard to be pleaſed, if the Proverb be true that there are foure difficult things, viz. To make a bed for a Dogg, to roaſt an Egg well, to teach a Florentine, and ſerve a Venetian; Being there, you ſhall do well to viſite the Arſenal, one of the Grandezas of the world for its ſtrength, whence ſprung the ſaying, that the whole Arſenal of Venice is not able to arm a Coward; In that melting City, take heed of Females, for a woman may be a woe to a man; The Courtezans of that Lake, are cried up for the faireſt in the world, according to the Proverb, Vienza wine, Treviſo tripes, Padua bread, and Venice whores; whence ſprung another, Venice, O Venice, none thee unſeen can prize, but who hath ſeen too much will thee deſpiſe.

Being gluttred with the Virgin City, for among the reſt of the Citties of Italy, Venice is called ſo, becauſe ſhe was never raviſhed by any Enemy, and there is a Propheſie that ſhe ſhall continue a Virgin for ever, untill her husband forſake her, which is the Sea, having I ſay bad Venice farewell, you ſhall do well to viſit Tuscany, but take this caution with you, that he who hath to deal with a Tuſcan muſt have both his eyes about him; Obſerve therefore theſe two Proverbial rules, Who doth not truſt ſhall not be cooſened, and that he who hath a Wolf for his companion muſt carry a Dogg under his cloake;

There

There you shall behold the fair City of Florence, so fair, that they say she is fit to be seen onely on Holydayes, whence sprung another saying, That if Florence had a Sea Port, she would make a Hortyard of Pisa, a Counting-house of Ligorn, and a Shitt-house of Luca. Siena is worth the saluting, although the saying be, that Siena is full of four things, viz. Churches and Towers, Ingles and Whores, but take heed of buying any cloth there; for they say, that Siena cloath tears before it is worn; It will not be amiss, being there, to give Luca a visit, that Hive of Bees, called so for their industry: Thence you may steer your cours to Genoa, where Husbands gets their Wives with child a hundred miles off: where also, they say, there are Mountains without Wood, Sea without Fish, Men without Conscience, and Women without shame.

Afterwards, you shall do well to visit the Ecclesiastical state, as Bologna the fatt, where 'tis said, they use to tie their Vines with Sausages; Thence you may take the read towards Rome, and never was any thing so worn out as the way to Rome: They say, that he who goes to Rome, and carrieth a good purse, become a Bishop or an Abbot; yet there is another saying, which tells us, that in Rome Fortune flies from them who follow her, and seeks after them who flye from her, yet you must take notice, that the Court of Rome will not take the sheep without her Fleece; Thence you may direct your cours to Naples the Gentle, though som call her a Paradise inhabited by devils; Take notice that the Napolitan hath a large mouth, but a narrow purse; In so much that there they often kiss the hands which they wish were cutt off; In that Syrenian City 'tis found that one hair of a woman can draw more then a hundred yokes of Oxen; To prevent this, observe the cautious Proverb, take heed of going before Women, behind a Mule, or any side of a Frier. It matters not much whether you see Calabria or no, the Territory of the Tarantolas, it being a sad barren Cuntrey, yet abounding with Nobles, In so much that sometimes three Marquesses may be seen eating Figgs upon one tree to drive away hunger. But wheresoever you pass be sure to have money in your purse, for they say in Italy, that a Gentleman without money is like a wall without a Cross that every one pisseth against; You must also be spritefull and bold, for in that Cuntrey, he who makes himself a sheep the wolf will devour him, and a simpleton will be led along like a Bufalo by the nose.

Among other things Italy abounds with Bishops, (though some of them be but poor) according to that Nationall Proverb, The Counts of Germany, the Dons of Spain, the Monnsieurs of France, the Cadets of England, the Nobles of Scotland, the Bishops of Italy make a poor company; Italy is the School of Prudence, for there is a saying, that whereas the French is wise after the Fact, the Dutch and English in the Fact, the Italian is wise before, yet he is a great sleeper, for whereas the German drinks away his melancholy, the Frenchman sings it away, the Spaniard sighs it away, the Italian sleeps it away.

Among other things, you may observe in Naples and Milan the affection that the peeple bear to the Spanish, and French, where both the one and the other use to say, that they would be content to see all the Spaniards in Italy hung up with Frenchmens gutts; whence you may judge who is best beloved.

But to wind up the threed of this coorse letter, I hope, that after your return, it will not be verified of you, that an Englishman Italionat is a Devill Incarnat, much less that you will be of the number of those who go out Masters, and come back Clarks in the point of Knowledge.

I can extend my self no further now, for ther's a sudden accident hath surprised me, that will hold me more busie then an English Furnace on Christmas day morning; Onely I say, that if I may steed you in any thing while you are absent, I will do what I can to serve you, and something less that I may last your's the longer: So, after the Lombard fashion without any clawing of Complements, I remain

Yours in earnest

J. H.

Vino da un orecchio.

Vuol dire, che quando bevete un buon vino, voi dite Buono, chinando un orecchio; Quando non vi garba, gli rimenate tutt'i due.

Eravi un mulinaccio.

Questo Proverbio è accommodato a chi dice qualche buggia, & non la può sostentare; Uno contava d'averli rotto in mare, & a nuoto esser scampato in uno luogo deserto dove non era nulla da mangiare, Dimandato come facesti tu?
disse, che havea mangiato un Tedesco, & cottolo su i carboni, & dimandato, donde havesti il fuoco? disse, che sempre portava seco il fo-cile, & ogni pietra è focaia, & pur dimandato al fin onde havesti le legne, soggiunse subito, Quivi era un mulinaccio guasto; e caca sangue li venga.

Expositions, and glosses upon some particular Italian Proverbs.

Cheese teareth the shooes, and maketh the tounge fatt.

These two Proverbs use to be spoken to children, that they should not eat too much cheese.

Wine of the one eare.

By this is meant, that when ye drink good wine, you use to say Good, bowing one eare, but when it is naught, you shake both eares.

There was an old Mill there.

This Proverb is applied to those who tell a lye, and cannot maintain it; As one who related that having suffered shipwrack, he scaped by swimming into a De-sart where there was nothing to eat; being asked, how he could live, he said, that he fed upon a Dutchman, being broyled upon the coales; and being asked, where he found the fire, he said, that he carried a tinder-box with him; At last, being asked where he found wood, he replied presently, that there was a decayed Mill there; And may the Cackrel take him.

From Verona to Vicenza there are thirty miles, from Vi-cenza to Verona thirty two; this is meant of ascents and descents, as twice Highgate and London.

The fly which pricks at the Tortoise, breaks at last her beak.

This is meant of that who doth contend with a stronger then himself, gets the worst at last.

She is in hopes to marry.

This is understood of one that hath long nails.

It seemeth he hath ill neighbours.

This is meant of one that prayseth himselfe too much.

He hath no cold at his feet.

This is understood of those which sometimes are constrained to sell their commodities at a lower rate then they are worth, because that having cold in their feet, they may goe warm themselves at the fire, and so vice versa.

A cloak is not made for one showre of rain.

This is meant of a friend that is made to doe more then one pleasure.

He thinks himself to be Caca of Reggio.

This is meant of a Braggadocian or vainglorious man, for when the Gibelines of Reggio were very powerfull, there was one Caca that was a tall Giant-like man, who carried alwayes a great barre of iron, where-with he had killed divers of the Guelphies, who were then enemies to them of Reggio in that great long civil war that happened in Italy.

A man doth never grow the poorer by giving almes.

Because almes are lent to God, who is a good pay-master.

The first Hog, and the last Dog.

This is meant that the first pig of a Sow, and the last puppy of a Bitch is the best.

Hedges have no eyes, but they have ears.

This Proverb giveth caution, that we should be wary what to speake, and in whose presence.

Gentilissima SIGNIORA,

Or chio sono al sicuro, mi voglio pur cavar questa maschera, & non intendo più far lo feiocco; Sorella mia, voi ui sete ingannata a credere, che quello Arsiccio che faceva il balordo fosse buono, Egli era più falso, più latino, & più malizioso ch'il Diavolo del Inferno; E se bene faceva la gatta di Masino, egli haveua il pane in mano, el rasòio alla cintola, & come colui cha ha fatto d'ogni lana un peso, accennava a coppe, & dava danari cercando s'ha esse potuto pigliar duo colombi a una faua; Ma la sorte volse che altri si levò prima di luy: perche l'huomo propone, & Dio dispone; Egli si pensò d'andare a pascere, & andò ad orare, & però disse ben coluy, i sogni non son veri, & disegni non riescono, & chi mal pensa, mal dispensa, & altri disse, mal habbia & disse bene, per che è giusto chi chi cerca briga la trovi a sua posta, & chi potendo stare cade trà via, s'ei si rompe il collo a suo danno sia.

Mà il male non stà sempre dove si pena, che il mondo è tondo, & doppo la notte viene il giorno; Et come si dice ogni tempo viene a chi lo può aspettare; & a chi rincresce pongali a sedere; Così farò io, ne mi spavento di quel che si dice, che chi vive a speranza, muor cacando, chio ho prisciatio sopra neve, & so hoggimai quanti pani fanno una coppia, & quanti paia fanno tre buoi, & conosco benissimo un bue frà cento persone, & per dir meglio, conosco i miei buoi, nè mi credo ingannare, che come sapete, più sà il matto in casa sua ch'il savio in quella d'altri, è basta.

Mà potreste dire, tardi torno Orlando, Jo vi rispondo che il bene non fù mai tardi, & pero anchorche la pietra sia caduta nel pozzo, & ch'io vegga che gli è un zappa in acqua, è come dicono gettar le fave al muro, & non si può scorzare il popone; Ci bisogna poi ch'habbiamo tocato il culo alla cicala ch'ella canti, & se bene egli è un stuzzicare il formicaio, & un attizzare il fuoco e' non importa, quel che ha da esse convien che sia, & chi nasce mato non guarisce mai, Jo sono oca, & oca convien ch'io muoia, Et se bene fò il cane dell' Hortolano pazienza; voi sapete che chi si contenta, gode; & io godo poiche la casa bruccia & io mi scaldarò sur le mani; & se io duro nelle scartate mio danno, il è peggio che morire: Costoro dicono che il mutar costume, e' l sopportare le corna per forza è ad pari di morire. Et pero mi delibero di sborrare un tratto, & dir come come il corfo se coglie, coglie se non sparge, & a chi toca, tocchi; A me basta mostrare che non son'io quel che hà dato al cane, & poi che hò cattivi vicini bisogna ch'io mi loda da me stesso, se bene dicono che chi loda s'imbroda. Basta ch'io possa dir per voi morìj ò viddi che mi pianse, & veggio per prova che l'alegrezze di questo mondo duran poco, & che tutto quello che riluce non è oro. Egli è mala cosa l'esser cattivo, mà gliè peggiore l'essere conosciuto.

Jo confesso chio presi un granchio, & se non fu con due boche dicalo chi lo sà; Mà che profitta rauuedersi doppo'l fatto, ò tardar pentirsi al capezzale; Chi hà tempo, non aspetti tempo, & pigli il bene quando viene, che il mondo è fatto a scale chi le scende, & chi le sale; Et l'hore non tornano a dietro che se la cosa s'havesse a fare due volte, l'asino sarebbe nostro; Ma voi sapete, come si dice, meglio è rauuederci una volta che non mai, perche il peggior de tutti peccati è l'ostinatione.

Vengo dunque a far come colui che perduti i buoi serra la stalla, & sò ch'egli è un gittare il manico dietro alla pala; pur lo faccio accio che non crediate ch'io dorma al fuoco, ò me ne vada preso alla grida, chio non son hoggimai il fanciullo di mona Cimbella, & Mostrerouì che voi mi potrete ben l' forzare, mà non ingannare, che i gattuchi hanno aperto gli occhi, ne voglia che si possa dire che mi sia stata venduta la lepre in sacco, nè fatto credere che le lucciole siano lanterne, ch'io non hò mangiato travergole, & non si pensi niissuno di farmi Calandrino, ne farmi comprar la gatta per lepre, ch'ei s'ingannerabbe di grosso, perche quando il lor diavolo nacque, il mio andava alla banca, & singannano a partito a pensar di saperne tanto essi dormendo quanto io vegghiando, mà al frigger se ne auuedranno; Al carnevale si conosce chi hà la gallina grassa, questi chi fanno tanto il savio il più delle volte vengon' a cader del lor asino, ò darli de la scure nel piede. Jo hò sempre veduto che chi più ne hà più ne imbratta, & chi Asino è & cervio esser si crede fa la zuppa nel panier.

Mà non è ben sempre dire il tutto, anzi dicono ch'egli è meglio mangiare quel che altri hà, che dir quel che altri sà, perche in bocca serrata non entrò mai mossa, & la lingua non hà osso mà fa romper' il dosso, perche chi troppo parla, spesso falla, & per cio dicono, che è saviezza parlar poco, & ascoltar assai, & di qui nacque quel Proverbio un par d'orecchie seccano cento lingue, & io ho udito sempre pentirsi più d'aver ciarlato che d'aver racciuto; Anchor che si dica che chi non parla Dio non l'ode, & però dicono molti di il fatto tuo, & lascia far al diavolo, & io confesso che si perde molto esser stoltò, & chi non s'arrischia, non guadagna, & chi vuol del pesce bisogna che s'ammolli le brache.

Ma a me è sempre intervenuto come al can d'esopo, perche anchor chio habbia rotto il scilinguagriolo la fortuna m'è stata sempre si contraria che sempre hò dato sotto le buche, & trovo verissimo quel che si canta: Ventura aver che poco senno basta: Mà io non feci mai bucata, che non piovesse, & credetti ben che piovesse, mà non che diluviasse, Tutta via non vien un male che non venga per bene, chi sà, solo Dio sà il tutto & accasca in un punto que che non accasca in centò anni, & però io ben mi conforto, che se bene le pere mature cadono in bocca aporci, non è però che chi opera bene talhora non venga remunerato, & che colui che mal vive non mucia, mà le non mi voglio gettar frà i morti, che Dio dice Ajutati, chio t'aiutaro, & veggio che chi vive verzica, & chi pecora fa il lupo sela mangia.

Jo son ben sciocco mà non tanto quanto voi mi fate, & se voi non me lo credete, metterimi, il dito in bocca, & vederete se io son terreno da porci vigna, & da piantar carotte, & se io vi riusciro meglio a pane che a farina. Voi direte forse non voglio provare che alla prova si scortica l'asino, & molte cose son meglio crederle che provarle; & io non mi voglio pigliar' gli impacci del Treccia, a chi duol il dente se lo cavi, che io non voglio che i peti d'altri rompino le mie brache. Dico che sete savia, & che gli è meglio imparare alle spese d'altri, & io che vengo dalla fossa sò che cosa è il morto; così haveisse fatto io che non mi sarei gittato adosso, & ne li occhi agresso, & detto mi che il credere, & il peure inganna le donne, & i cani: nè mi sarebbe busate le banche dietro; Mà se io feci male me ne gratto gli occhi & si può dir per me, che chi semplicemente pecca semplicemente va all' inferno, & certo io confesso chio fui cotto al boccone come i ranocchi, mà di qui a cent' anni tanto varrà il lino quanto la stoppa, & chi haverà mangiato il pesce cacherà le lische, & se bene il peccato farà vecchio la penitenza farà nuova. Hora il Loperchio rompe il coperchio, & la forza caca adosso la ragione; Bisogna quando altri è incudine soffrire, & quando martello percuotere, che giocare & perdere lo fa far ogni uno & bisogna tal volta pena patire per bella parere, & se io hò le corna in seno non me le voglio metter' in capo, fallo celato è mezzo per donato, & cercar d'aspettar il tempo, che càgna frettolosa fa i cagnuoli ciechi; si dice ancora che non si fece mai nulla ben in fretta, salvo che il fuggire la peste, & per cio voglio lasciar passar tre pani per coppia, perche io hò sentito dire che chi guarda a ogni penna non fa mai letto, tanto più chio hò da fare con gente strascinata da cani, & che sà dove il diavolo tien la coda, & come dicono hà portato le naccare & è passato dà pinton di maniera che il mio carlino non varrà cinque foldi, altre che voi sapete che chi hà poca vergogna tutto il mondo è suo.

Voi direte forse, Artificio, il cane chi vuol morder non abbaia, è dove bisognano i fatti le parole sono d'avanzo sarebbe meglio che tu ti arrecassi la mano al petto, & ti recordassi che tu non hai però il fil rosso per voler esser figlio della marrigna, & n'hai fatte le tue parti, & saj che si dice, qua l'asino che dà in parete il colpo che dà lo riceve: Ti lamenti de gamba sana, & ti si potrebbe dire, che non sai ricevere li scherzi, & che asino bianco ti vò al molino, & non sai quel che te ne fanno, & miri la brusca d'altri, & non vedi la tua trave, come se non sapessimo che sei stato l'asino nel pignataio, & hai fatto d'ogni herba fascio come falce fenaia, & quando t'è venuto bene hai arato con l'asino, & col buo, & sei andato con li zoccoli per lasciuto a tuo piacere, hora ti par miracolo che i granchi vadino a traverso, & bravi a credenza: Non sai tu chi hà bocca vuol mangiare, & che la comodità fa l'uomo ladro & dicono a l'arca aperta il savio pecca, & che il mal pertuso non vuol fine.

Tu vai a zonzo per il mondo, nè ti ricordi che chi vò al mercato perde il lato & chi non torna di corto può dire dire d'esser morto; Tu vuoi una legge per te, & un'altra per gli altri come se non sapessi che ogni grillo gilla a se, & ogniuno tira l'acqua al suo molino; & chi prende diletto di far frode, & lascia la via vecchia per la nuova, & vuol torre a Matronar' il mare, & insegnar' a volar' a gli asini, o menare l'osso a Modena si perde tempo, e parole, & j passi; si che se tu ti sei disposto a volar' senza ale & facevi fondamento in aria, lamentati di te; Tu sai che la falìa non è fatta per gli asini, & anchor che la girlanda costi un quattrino la non stà bene a ogniuno, & chi troppo presume, & troppo alto sale fa maggior caduta. Tu ti lamenti che le tue bugie non son credute, & in tanto non vuoi credere a gli altri la verità; Anzi io ui rispondo ch'io sono in cattivo stato per troppo credere, & per lasciarmi menar per il naso come le bufale, & come colui chi non bavecca più malitia ch'una colomba, stava a bocca asperta com' i passerotti quando mi davi ad intendere che la luna stava sopra il cielo del forno. In fine che ognuno se'l becca, & quello e' il tuo nemico che è di tuo ufficio, & chi offende non perdona mai, & un pensa ghiotto l'altro il taverniere & tra corsale & corsale non si perde se non i barili vuoti, nè fu mai un si tristo che non si trovasse un peggior di lui, perche ogni dritto hà il suo roversio; & però mi son risolto esser sempre fidele, perche io non voglio che mi sia fatto far' il latino a cavallo; perche per dir il vero l'huomo è impiccato; & dicono ch'egli è il vero quel che dissiace.

Farò dunque l'intronato, & parlerò per Proverbi comuni, & come i chi canta, & trova, perche è mal sordo quel che non vuol udire; & è mal busiare a forniconi di sorbo, che fanno orecchi di mercatanti, & si lasciare gracchiare, & dicono tu dirai, & io farò; & io mi son accorto che questo pigliar le mosche in aria, è un voler esser la favola de Comune, & è come voler entrar in un pettine di sette che era cava, & quattro mette, & è meglio accordarsi con la volontà del maggiore, & legate l'asino dove vuol il padrone, & non voler andar su per le cime de gli alteri, che chi fa la casa in piazza, un dice che è alta, & alto ch'ella è bassa, & quel che pone il suo culo in consiglio, l'uno dice bianco, l'altro vermiglio, & benché dicono voce di popolo voce di Dio, nientedimeno voi sapete che non è bestia più pazza di quella del popolo in acqua più grossa che quella di maccheroni, & però io mi guardo di due cose, l'una da segnati da dio, l'altra d'aque chere, come ancho da hoste nuovo, & putana vecchia; Jo hò trovato che ognun conta della fiera com' egli andò con essa, & che talhora per un brutto viso si perde una buona compagnia, che porco pigro non mangiò mai pera mazza; Tanto è il bene che non giovo, quanto il male che non nuoce, & chi non vuol ballare non vada al ballo, perche poi sete dentro bisogna ballare, non fare come il mocicone del' Arficcio che si lasciò fuggire j pesci cotti di mano.

O sciocco, come ti stà bene ogni male, v'atti in un monte di lolla, & non comparire più frà la gente è possibile che tu che fai il Gigante, & vuoi dar norma a gli altri ti sia lasciato stacciare le noci in capo, & menar' in caperuccia di questa sorte? Rispondo, che chi fai come può non fa mai bene, & che contra due non la potrebbe anche Orlando, & se io stetti cheto, & non mi dolli feci perche non mi fosse detto sempre la più trista ruota del carro è quella che gracida, & che hà da fare la luna con i granchi, intrametendo ui io dove non bisognava, & era per certo che non si direbbe di me viene l'asino di montagna, & caccia il cavallo di stalla; Et però io stava come il prete della poca offerta, che per più non poter l'huomo si lascia cadere; Mà non è chio non vedessi il mio male, perche al tutto è orbo chi non vede il sole. Pure, come videte che la pala guarda la vigna; Jo volli più tosto che si dicesse che fuggi il tale, che qu'fù morto il tale, tenendo speranza in quel che si dice, siedì & gambetta & vedrai tua vendetta; Mà chi ha la prima non ne va mai netto, quel imboccarli per man d'altri, è un non atollarli mai.

Jo vorrei veder un tratto s'io potessi cavar la muffa di questo vino, perche questo giocar il petriera, & voi sapete chi'ò sò che chi ti fa più carezze che non suole, non v' a buon camino, perche o tradire, o ingannarti vuole. Quel servir de pediglio cantar bene, & ruspar male è un arte del diavolo; Mà chi hà cotto il culo co ceci come io, è basta, elle non sono cose da stare al martello, chio hò udiro dir più d'una volta che le galline si pigliano con belle, belle, & non con scioia, scioia, & che tal mano si bacia che si vorrebbe veder mozza, & che non è ingannato se non che si fida. Jo non intendo di rubbar' il porco per dar i piedi per limosina, nè manco far com' il zolla chi dava due pecore nere per una bianca, per cioche io sò che l'amore è cieco, & pazzo, & però dice ch'io piangerò per noci, & essi per aglio, & m'accorgo ch'ogni bel giuco rinercesce, & ben spesso si piglia delle volpi; Pur credi che a cane chi lecca cenere è mal fidarli la farina, & è come porre il lupo per pecotai, & andar' alla gatta pe'l lardo; Jo fuggi ben il ranno caldo, & dubito un tempo di non me dar' in un tren' uno, temendo di non esser fatto morire di tifico. Mà chi scappa da un punro scappa di cento, & non è in tutto savio colui chi non sa bisognando esser pazzo, & però feci l'intronato, & volli prima perder il dono che la mano; Jo mi sento fin quà zuffolar gli orecchi, & parmi vedere questa tua canta favola Arficcio, non vorrei che metessi il pulce ne gli orecchi altrui in questa maniera; Jo ti conosco meglio che la madre che ti fece, tu ti vorresti metter' il cervello a partiro, & ti riuscirà quello che non ti pensi, perche tu sai che chi altri tribula se non posa, & che ti si potrebbe dire come la padella al paiuolo ognun facci i fatti suoi. Tu ti lasci imbrogliare, & poi t'ardiri, & ti maraccigli del pont' a Tressa, & non sai che maggior miracolo fù il baleno, & che l'amore, & le latosse non si possono celare; Tu hai l'esempio inanzi alla buona derrata pensavi su, & credi che non sono tutti huomini chi pisciano al muro.

Mà non intendo andar' a caccia de grilli a esser lungo tempo fastidioso, se mi scriverete farete il debito vostro, ed io ui risponderò come l'asino che raglia dandovi per ogni pane tre foggacie, dischiando ui questo mio ghiribizzo con altri termini più chiari. Di Milano dove io meno la vita di michelazzo, mangio, & beuo, & vado a solazzo; Essendo al comando tutto di V. S. la quale N. S. feliciti, del mese de gli asini,

To the Heroique Knight,
Sir LEWIS DIVES, whom God preserve with health and long life, &c.

SIR,

Health being the most precious jewel that Nature hath in her Cabinet, I recommend unto you three Doctors for the maintenance thereof, viz. Doctor Diet, Doctor Quiet, Doctor Merry-man. Touching the last, 'tis well known by Experience, which is the great Looking-Glasse of Wisedome, that an ounce of Mirth is more worth then a hundred weight of Melancholy; Sorrow quits no score, and too much care eats to the very marrow: A heart content is a great talent, which may say, Alegramente, the Devil is dead; And as the Italian saith, A little meat, and less grief make a healthful body. Touching the second Doctor, which concerns the government of the body, 'tis a great truth, that a little labour is much health; 'tis good to walk till blood appear in the cheeks, and not sweat on the brow. Touching Sleep, who is the King of Repose, sleep in the day when thou wilt, and in the night as much as thou canst; make night of night, and day of day, then thou maist sing welladay: But he who desires to sleep soundly, let him buy the boulder of one who died in debt. Moreover, dine with little, and sup with lesse, sleep high, and thou wilt live long; But take heed of sleeping on the shadow of a Wallnut-tree: Besides, 'tis good to rise early; for he who will couzen the Devil must rise betimes: Go also early to the Fish-market, and late to the Shambles, for Fish and Guests quickly stink. Concerning thy clothes, or coverings of thy body, if thou wilt live healthful, make thy self an old man betimes, leave not thy furs till the Galileans come, (viz. till Ascension day, when that Scripture is read.) It is a good rule, let me go warm, and let the world laugh at me. There's another rule, keep thy feet dry, and thy head hot, and for the rest live like a beast, (viz. eat and drink no more then will suffice nature.) Concerning the parts of the body, take notice that the eyes being not well are to be cur'd with the elbow, (viz. thou must not finger them.) The teeth require not much care, nor too much neglect; when thy tripe ake, make it known to thy tail, piss clear, and a fig for the Physician: Whereunto may be added, that if thy urine be a bright yellow, shake off thy Doctor; yet we say, who pisseth and lets not a fart, goes to the Court and see's not the King. Know also that touching the Gout the Physician is blind. Touching Marriage, the saying of the Marquesse of M. is observable, who being ask'd how he came to live so many fair years (for he was above fourscore) he answered, I married late, and I was a widower betimes; If thou desirest a woman, choose a black one, for in a black woman there is turpentine; whereunto the French man alludes, when he saith, the brown lasse is gay and cleanly: But for a red hair'd, or bearded woman, salute them a hundred paces off.

Touching Doctor Diet, who predominates much over humane health, 'tis a general rule, that he who eats much eats but little. The Italian saith, that to preserve health, one must make three meals a day, one good, one bad, and another midling one; who eats well, and drinks well, doth what he ought to do; but whether you dine well or ill, be sure to drink thrice. Touching drink, drink water like an ox, and wine like a King; Water hath three excellent vertues, for it neither makes one sick, nor puts one in debt, nor makes a widower; yet cold water and hot bread never made good belly: After the fig water, and after the pear wine; a jadis bit also requires a spur of wine, but wine that stood all night is not worth a rush. The milk told the wine, welcome friend; It is a wholesome precept, who will live healthful, let him dine sparingly, and sup betimes. Touching flesh, a Kid of a moneth, and a Lamb of three are best; for Eggs, one is scarceness, two are gentleness, three valour, and four are knavery. They say that if the Country-man knew the goodness of a hen in January, he would not leave one in his roost-house: Goats milk, Cow butter, and Sheeps cheese are best, but that cheese is best which comes from a misers hand: Young men are allowed to eat more then others, for a growing youth hath a wolf in his belly; therefore 'tis said, who from an old man steals his supper, doth him no wrong, because he who doth not sup hath no need of the Physician; Therefore if thou hast a mind to dye, eat roasted mutton at night, and go to sleep: Hereunto may be added, if thou desirest ill food, eat a roasted hare. He who eats Pilchers in May, shites out the bones in August: And he who eats mushrumps in April, let him provide week and wax, viz. let him prepare for his burial; yet when it rains in a Sun-shine, gather thy mushrumps. There is no broth like that of the juyce of Flint, (viz. of water that flowes thence) But let not the pot of pottage be without bacon, nor a Sermon without Saint Austine. Touching fruit and garden-herbs, observe that new bread and grapes paint young maids, and takes away wrinkle from old folks. One olive is gold, two silver, three brass; If you will have a good bit, eat a peel'd Medlar. The Pear which cries Rodrigo is not worth a rush. Others say, that the woman and the Pear which is silent are the best. But the French man hath a good caution touching this fruit, viz. Apres la poire, ou le vin ou le prestre, after Pear the wine or the Priest (to confesse you before death.) But after melon wine is a felon; let there be salt withall, for the French man will tell you again, 'tis a banquet for the Devil where there is no salt. Touching Fennel and Rue, there be two notable Proverbs, viz. that he who sees Fennel, and doth not gather it, he is a Devil and no man; the other is, that if the good woman did know the vertue of Rue, she would look for it in the night at Moonshine.

By observing these rules one might by the strength and complacency of Nature arrive to the age of an Elephant, whom the Naturalists observe to live longest of any Terrestrial creature; according to that gradual Proverb of lives, viz. A hedge doth last three years, a dog three hedges, a horse three dogs, a man three horses, a Stag three men, an Elephant three Stags. No more now, but that wishing you all health and gladness, I rest from my very bowels, your greatest servant, for although I am but little, I would be a Giant to serve you.

Carta Compuesta de
R E F R A N E S,

Concurrientes todos a la conservacion de la salud humana ;

A

Don LVYS DIVES, que Dios guarde mas
de mil años,

Con salud, y honras correspondientes a sus Heroicas prendas, y merecimientos.

iendo la Salud la mas preciosa Joya de quantas la Natura tiene en su retrete, Yo le encomiendo tres Doctores para mantenerla, es a saber, el Doctor Dieta, el Doctor Reposo, y el Doctor Gozo.

Tocante el pastrero, bien se sabe por experiencia, (que es aquel gran espejo de sabiduria) que una onça de alegria vale mas que cien quintales de melancolia; pesadumbres no pagan deudas, el cuydado en demasia roe hasta el tuetano, Coraçòn contento es gran talento, que puede dezir, Alegramente, el diablo es muerto, y el Italiano dize, poco cibo, & men affanno, sanità del corpo fanno, tambien dize, grave cura non ti punge, & sarà tua vita lunga.

Tocante el segundo Doctor que mira al gobierno del cuerpo, es mucha verdad, que poca fatiga es gran salud, Bueno es passear hasta que se vea la sangre en le mexilla, no el sudor en la frente, por lo que toca al sueño, que es el Rey de Reposo, Duerme el dia quando quieres, y la noche quanto puedes; la noche noche, y el dia dia, y viviràs con alegria; Mas, quien quiere bien dormir que compre la cama de un deudor; Allende de esto, come poco, y cena mas, duerme en alto y viviràs; pero sobre la sombra del nogal, no te pongas a acostar; Mas desto, bueno es madrugar, porque quien el diablo hà d'engañar, de mañana se hà de levantar; tambien tenga cuenta de yr por la mañana a la pescaria, y la tarde a la carniceria, porque pece y huespèd luego hieden; Tocante la cobertura del cuerpo, si quieres vivir sano, haz te viejo temprano, no dexes los pelliscos hasta que vengan los Galileos; buena regla es, que yo ande caliente y ríase la gente; Otra ay mas particular, enxuto el piè, caliente la cabeça por el resto vive como bestia; escuche tambien lo que dize el Romano, Vesti caldo, mangia poco, bevi assai, & vivirai. Por lo que toca las partes del cuerpo, adviertase, que los oios (siendo malos) se han de curar con el codo; Los dientes no piden in mucho cuydado, in demasiado descuydo, quando te dolieren las tripas hazlo saber al culo, mee claro, y higa para el medico; Añadese a esto, si meares de color de florin, echa el medico para ruyn, toda via quien mea, y no pee, va a la corte, y el Rey no vee; sepase tambien que a la gota, el medico no vee gota; Tocante el casamiento, el dicho del Marques de Mirabel, se hà de observar, el qual siendo preguntado como vivia tantos años, (porque tenia mas de ochenta) respondió, Caseme tarde, y embiude me temprano; si quieres hembra escoie la negra, porque la muger negra trementina en ella, tambien el Francès dize, Fille brunette, gaye, & nette; pero, muger roxa y barbuda de cien passos las aluda; mas de esto, muger, anade, y cabra mala cosa siendo magra; Observese tambien este cumplimiento, Junio, Julio, y Agosto, Señora mia, no os conosco.

Tocante el Doctor Dieta que predomina mucho sobre la salud, es Regla general, quien mucho come poco come ; El Italiano dize bisogna far tre pasti per star sano, un buono, un cattivo, ed un mezzano ; Quien come bien, y beve bien, hazelo que deve ; pero, a buen comer, ò a mal comer tres vezes haz de beber ; Por lo que toca a la bevanda, Bevasse Agua como un buey, y Vino como Rey ; El Agua tiene tres excellentes virtudes, ni enferma, ni Adeuda, ni Embiuda ; toda via, Agua fria, y pan caliente nunca hizieron buen vientre ; Siempre al higo Agua, y a la pera vino ; Tambien a bocado han espulado de vino ; pero vino trasnochado no vale un cornado ; Dixo la leche al vino, bien vengays amigo ; Regla es muy saludable, Quien quisiere vivir sano, coma poco, y cene temprano. Tocante los manjares, Cabrito de un mès, y rezentel de tres ; un huevo escafeza, dos gentileza, tres Valentia, quatro vellaqueria ; dizefe, que si el Villano supiesse el sabòr de la gallina en el Henero, no dexaria ninguna en el pollero ; Escojase siempre leche de cabra, manteca de vaca, y queso de oueja, pero, el queso que vien de corta mano es el mas sano ; A los mocòs està permitido de comer mas que a los otros, porque se dize, que el mocò creciente, hà el lobo en el vientre : Por esto se dize, que quien hurta la cena al viejo, no le haze agravio ; porque quien no cena, no hà menestèr Avicena ; otros dizen, que mas matò la cena, que no sano Avicena ; De fuerte que si tienes gana de morir, come carnero assado, y echate a dormir : Añadese a esto, que si quieres comida mala, come la liebre assada : Quien en Mayo come sardina, en Agosto caga la Espina ; Et quien come caracoles en Abril apareje cera, y pavil ; todavia quando llueve, y haze sol, coie el caracol. No ay caldo como el cumo guijarro, pero ni olla sin tocino, ni sermon sin Agostino. Tocante las frutas y legumbres, observefe, que pan reziente, y vuas, a las mocas pone mudas, y a las viejas quita las arrugas ; Azeytuna oro es una, dos plata, tercera mara ; Quieres buen bocado, el niespolo despenado ; Pera que dizir Rodrigo no vale un higo, otros dizen, la muger, y la pera, la que calla es buena ; però el Francès tiene una buena caucion tocante esta fruta, viz. Apres la poire, où le vin, où le prest e ; Mas, sobre Melòn vino follòn : Con todo sea sal porque el Francès, dize, cest un banquet du diable, où il n'y a point du sel. Tocante el Hinoio, y la ruda ay dos refranes muy notables, es a saber, Quien hinojo vee, y no coje, diablo es, que no hombre ; el otro, si supiesse la muger la virtud de la ruda, la buscaria de noche a la luna.

Observando estas Reglas se podria vivir tanto quanto un Elefante qui es de la mas larga vida de quantos animales ay, segun aquel Refran graduàl, Un feto dura tres años, un perro tres fetos, tres perros un cavallo, tres cavallos un hombre, tres hombres un ciervo, tres ciervos un Elefante. No soy por mas, si no, que desseandole en conclusion salud y gozo, y casa con un corral y pozo, quedo de todas mis Entranas su criado mayor, porque, Quisiere aunque soy chico, ser en serville Gigante

 En boca cerrada, no entra mosca.
 Mudança de tiempos, bordón de necios.
 Menea la cola el can no por ti, sino por el pán.
 Mas tiran retas, que exes, y carritas.
 Mas vale vergüenza en cara, que manzilla en coraçon.
 Mal de muchos, gozo es.
 Mas vale prenda en arca, que fiador en la plaça.
 Madre, y hija visten una camisa.

Mas tiran nalgas en lecho, que bueys en barvecho.
 Mas vale ser necio que porfiado.
 Por esto es hombre Cornudo porque dos pueden mas que uno.
 No ay tal hechizo como buen servicio.
 En la boca del discreto, lo publico es secreto.
 No son todos hombres que mean a la pared.
 No es todo vero, lo que suena el pandero.
 No se haze la boda de hongos, sino de bollos redondos.
 Todos los dedos no son y guales.
 No ay tal doctrina como la de la hormiga.
 Quien ha officio, ha beneficio.
 No es pobre el que tiene poco, mas el que codicia mucho.

Nuestro gozo en el pozo.
 No ay mal tan lastimero, como no tener dinero.
 Por do quiera ay tres leguas de mal quebranto.
 No puede mas faltar que Março en Quaresma.
 Un alma sola ni canta, ni lora.
 No ay casa do no aya su chiticalla.
 Haz bien, y no cates a quien.
 Palabras y plumas el viento las tumba.
 Duelo ageno de pelo cuelga.
 Palabra de boca, piedra de honda.
 Quando vino el orinal, muerto era Juan Pasqual.
 Quien mea y no pee, va a la Corte, y no vee al el Rey.
 Quien quisiere muger hermosa el Sabado la escoja y no el Domingo.

Il fabio muda consejo, il necio no.
 Sabe un punto mas que el Diablo.

El dia que te casas, o te fanas, o te matas.
 Toma se el hombre por la barba, y la muger por el hilo.
 Rogamos a Dios por Santos, mas no por tantos.
 Secreto de dos sabe lo Dios, secreto de tres toda Res.
 Viene Dios a vernos sin campanilla.
 El pie en la cuna, la mano en la rueca.

Ni trigo de vega, ni leña de solumbrio.

Harto es ciego, quien no vee por tela de cedaço.
 La Gente pone, y Dios dispone.
 Cobrate buena fama, y echate a dormir.

Las palabras buenas son, si assi es el coraçon.
 Quien canta sus males espanta.
 Mejor es, dexar a la muerte al enemigo, que pedir en la vida al amigo.
 Buena es la tardanza que haze el camino seguro.
 Bien vengas mal, si vienes solo.
 Casa cumplida, en la otra vida.
 Cayosele el pan en la miel.
 Cero, enseño, de mal hijo haze bueno.
 Con lo que Pedro adolece, Sancho sana.
 Como canta el Abad, assi responde el Sacristan.
 Contra Fortuna no vale Arte ninguna.
 Mucha conversacion acarrea meno precio.
 Con un mucho y des poquitos se hazen los hombres buenos.
 Perdida es la lexia en la cabeça del asno.
 Cortesia de boca mucho vale y poco cuesta.
 Con el oio y la fe no me burlaré.
 Con lo que sana el higado, enferma el bazo.
 Pregona vino, y vende vinagre.
 Da Dios alas a la hormiga, para que se pierda mas ayna.
 Del ocio, nace negocio.
 Tiene cara de dos hazes.
 De piel agena larga correa.
 Despues de descalabrado, untar el casco.
 Mas vale un toma, que dos te daré.
 De potro sarnoso cavallo hermoso.
 Dexemos padres y abuelos, y por nosotros seamos buenos.
 De moço reongador nunca buen labór.
 De espacio piensa, y obra a priessa.
 De cornada de anfarón guarde Dios mi coraçon.
 De buenas intenciones esta lleno el infierno.
 Dichofo el varón que escarmienta en cabeça agena y en la suya non.
 Dixo la farten alla caldera tirtte allà cul negro.
 Dieu consiente mas no siempre.
 Dizen mas mal de el que Mahoma del tocino.
 Dios nos dè con que iamos, mas no de hijos bovos.
 Di a tu amigo tu secreto, y tenerte hà el pié en el pescueço.
 Do fueres, haras como vieres.
 Donde vieios no andan cuervos no graznan.
 Duele me el colodrillo, y untanme el tovilla.
 Echar el mango tras el destrál.
 El alquazil y el Sol por do quiera son.
 El perdon sobra donde el yerro falta.
 El corcobado no vee su corcoba, y vee la de su compañero.
 El mal del oio curarle con el codo.
 El pie del dueño estiercol es para la heredad.
 En lo que estamos benedicamos.
 En casa del herrero cuchillo mangorrero.
 Escapè del trueno, y dè en el relampago.
 En la boca del discreto lo publico es secreto.
 Esse es mi amigo qui muele en mi molinillo.
 Doctrina buena, escarmentarse en cabeça agena.
 Galgo que muchas liebres levanta miguna mata.
 Gloria vana florece, y no grana.

The words are good if the heart be so.
Who sings scares away his sorrows.
'Tis better to leave to an enemy at ones death, then to beg of a friend in ones life.
That delay is good which makes the way the safer.
Welcome cross, if thou comest alone,
A compleat house, in the other world.
His bread fell into the honey-pot, viz. he got by the mischance.
A frown and instruction makes a good child of an ill.

The Frying-pan told the Kettle, get thee hence thou black ars.
God consents, but not always.
They speak worse of him then Mahomet spoke of bacon.
God gives us whereat to laugh, but not at foolish Children.
Tell thy friend thy secret, and he will lay his foot on thy throat.
Where so ever thou goest do as thou seest.
Where old men do not hannt, crows do not croke.
My noddle akes, and they anoint my ankle.
To hurle the Helve after the Hatchet.
The Sergeant and the Sun are every where.
Pardon is superfluous where no fault is committed.
The crumpshouldered sees not his bunch, yet he sees that of his companions.
Cure your sore eye with your elbow, viz. do not touch them.
The foot of the Master is as dung to the ground.
Let's bless God in the state we are in.
In the Cutlers house an ill knife.
I scap'd from the thunder and fell into the lightning, viz. from bad to worse.
In the wise mans mouth what is publick is secret.
He is my friend who grindes in my mill.
'Tis good Doctrine to be wise by other mens harms.
The Greyhound who starts many Hares kills none.
Vain-Glory doth flourish, but bears no grain.

By drop and drop the Sea lesseneth.
 Enjoy thou the little thou hast, while the fool seeks for more.
 By one grain after another the Ant fills his barn.
 Do for me, learn for thy self.
 I take some sport, but I finish my task.
 To scape the Bull, I fell into the River.
 Women and Wine make a man swerve from his judgement.
 Thy bowels and chests must fly ope to thy friend.
 The cobweb lets go the Rat, and holds fast the Mouse.
 Salt comes from the sea, and mischief from a woman.
 By the Popes Prick which is holy flesh.
 Since I brought forth children I never fill'd my belly.
 Words and works eat not at one table.
 Sometimes a fool gives good counsel.
 From a silent person remove thy dwelling.
 Man is the fire, woman the flax, the Devil the bellows.

To sweat at meat, and freeze at work.
 Money makes the man compleat.

 canst not do being not beloved.
 Poverty may make a chaste woman do foul things.

The bacon of Paradise for the married man that never repented.

Marry and gossip every one with his equal.
 An old man a new grief every day.
 The least hair makes a shadow.
 To sell honey to him that hath hives of his own.
 Let good luck come, and let it come whence it will.
 Put neither Jew nor Hog into thy garden.
 Shee's coif'd like a Saint, and nayl'd like a Cat.
 The wanton Sheep said to the Goat, give me wooll.
 The life pass'd makes old age heavy.
 Truth like oyl swims always on the top.
 The foolish woman by the list buyes the cloath.
 The blind mans wife needs no painting.
 A wench on the market-place hath commonly the door sweep'd, and the house beset.
 They cast the fault of the As upon the Panniers.
 Too much conversation breeds contempt.
 The cunning wife makes the husband her apron.
 Want makes the old wife to trot, and the cripple to caper.
 A good pay-master is never sorry for his pawn.
 A book shut brings not forth a Lawyer.
 The absent and the dead have no friends.
 Money makes Masters.
 He sadleth to day, and goes to morrow.
 Words are in us, deeds are in God.
 Married men need many eyes.
 What thou hast to do, do it, and say not to morrow.

Gota a gota la mar se apoca.
 Goza tu de poco, mientras busca mas el loco.
 Grano a grano bastece la hormiga su granero.
 Haz para mi, y aprende para ti.
 Huelgo me un poco, mas hilo mi copo.
 Huyendo del toro, cayne en el arroyo.
 La muger, y el vino sacan al hombre de tino.
 Las entrañas, y arquetas a los amigos abiertas.
 La telaraña suelta al rato, y la mosca apaña.
 De la mar el sal, de la muger el mal.
 Por la pija del Papa que es carne santa.
 Despues que parí, nunca mi vientre henchí.
 Dezir y hazer no comen a una mesa.
 De hombre necio a vezes buen consejo.
 De persona callada arriedra tu posada.
 El hombre es el fuego, la muger la estopa,
 viene el Diablo y sopla.
 Al comer sudar, al hazer temblar.
 El dinero, haze un hombre entero.
 Quien de miedo se murió de cagaiones le hizieron la sepultura.
 El melon y la muger, malos son de conocer.
 Gesto de oro, cabellos de plata, y oios d'escarlata.
 Hombre apercebido medio combatido.
 Hombre que madruga de algo tiene cura.
 Entre hermanos no metas tus manos.
 La Gente pone, Dios dispone.

 La muger artera, el marido por delantera.
 La necesidad haze la vieja trotar, y el coxo saltar.
 Al bien pagados nunca duele prenda.
 Libro cerrado no saca letrado.
 A muertos, y a ydos no ay amigos.
 Los dineros, hazen dueños.
 Oy enfilla, mañana se va.
 Los dichos en nos, lo hechos en Dios.
 Los que tienen muger muchos ojos han menester
 Lo que has de hazer haz, y no digas cras.

Lo que no acaece en un año, acaece en un instante.

Lo que se usa, no se escusa.

La demasiada rompe la talega.

Lo que saben tres, saben toda Res.

Los muertos abren los ojos a los vivos.

Lo peor del pleytos es, que de uno nacen ciento.

Lo ordenado en el cielo forçoso se ha de cumplir en el suelo.

Lo que se haze a la boda, no se haze hora toda.

Cada una tiene su alma en su palma.

La mançana podrida pierde a su compania.

Langoita haze la tripa angosta.

La muger, y el melon huelense por el peçon.

La muger y el vino facan al hombre del tino.

Blanda respuesta la ira quiebra.

Verdad es verde.

La mentira no tiene pies.

Mejor es huevo oy, que pollo mañana.

Palabras buenas son jonetes.

La mentira tiene las piernas cortas.

Levantar la liebre para que otro la jaco.

El pobre como el nogal apedreado de todos.

Palabras hembras, son hechos machos.

Mejor doblar que quebrar.

Llegate a los buenos, e feras uno dellos.

Desseo humano jamas encumbrado.

Arame manos y pies, y meteme entre los mios.

De burlas, ni de veras con tu señor no partas peras.

Mas vale descozer, que romper.

Mas hiere mala palabra, que espada a hilada.

Mas vale prenda en arca, que fiador en la plaça.

Mas vale humo de mi casa que fuego de la agena.

Mal me quieren mis comadres porque les digo les verdades.

Mas vale rodear que ahogar.

Mal vale soltero andar, que mal casar.

Mas vale puñado de natural, que almocada de ciencia.

Martillar en hierro frio.

Mas caga un buey que cien golondrinas.

Mas vale tarde que nunca.

Malo es pecar, diabolico perseverar.

Mas apaga buena palabra, que caldera de agua.

Mal aviendo, y bien esperando, morirne he triste, y no se quando.

Si mucho las pintas, y las regalias de buenas hijas haras malas.

Muger alvendera, mas no ventanera.

Tanto quiso el Diablo a su hijo, que le quebró el ojo.

Trafegalla porque no sepa a la madre.

Ventura ayas hijo, que poco saber te basta.

Quien hijos tiene, razon es que allegue.

Quien hijos tiene al lado, no muere ahogado.

Quien quisiere ser gran viejo, comenbeto presto.

Al hombre ofada la Fortuna le da la mano.

Al buey por el cuerno, y al hombre por el viero.

Dios le de casa de robre, taça de plata, y olla de cobre.

That which happens not in a year, falls out in an instant.

That which is used cannot be excused.

The desire of man never comes to the highest pitch.

Bind me hand and foot, and throw me among my kindred.

Divide not Pears with thy master in jest or earnest.

Better to unsow then break, viz. to go too hastily to work.

An ill word hurts more then a sharp sword.

A pawn in the chest is better then a pledge in the market.

The smoak of my own house is better then the fire of another.

My Gossips wish me ill because I tell them truth.

Better to go about then fall into the ditch.

Better be still single then ill married.

A handful of naturall wit is better then an armful of learning.

To hammer on cold Iron.

One Ox shites more then a hundred Swallows.

Better late then never.

'Tis ill to sin, 'tis devillish to persevere.

A mild word quencheth more then a whole cauldron of water.

Being ill, and hoping to be better, I must dye I know not when.

If you paint and cocker them too much, you will make bad daughters of good.

Rather a trotting wife then a gazing wife.

The Devil so loved his child, that he pulled out one of his eyes.

Put her to another vessel, because she may not smell of the mother.

Have luck enough, and a little learning will serve thy turn.

Who hath children, 'tis reason he should gather.

Who hath children, cannot die of a surfeit.

Who will be very old let him begin betimes to be so.

Fortune reacheth her hand to a bold man.

Take a Bull by the horn, and a man by his word.

God send thee a house of Oak, a bowl of Silver, and a pot of Copper.

*A Knight without money is no Knight, but a bable.
Gifts break through rocks.
Who hath daughters and sheep, he can want no complaints.*

Two shirts is better then one.

other.
Who hath a fair wife needs more then two eyes.

The good wife is made by the man.
Better to be a Cuckold and none know it, then to be none, and yet to be thought so.
An old woman with money is better then a young one with beauty.

Too many Counsellors confound the business.
Shew me thy wife, and I will tell thee what a husband thou art.
Nor so old a wife as to play the Jade, nor so young as to kick.
Nor for Cow, nor for Ox, take a mad wife, or that hath the Pox.

Neither marry with a widow, or seek help from a child.
Neither ride on a Colt, nor commend thy Wife.
Nor wedding without musick, nor burial without mourning.
Nor buy an Ass of a Mulateer, nor marry the Daughter of an Host.

For money marry not an ill man.
My husband is gone a wool gathering.
'Tis the man that makes the wife and the vineyard handsome.
Who is a Cuckold and conceals it, carries coals in his heart.
A husband behind the fire as bad as the mother, viz. the disease
Who takes not up a pin hath no care of his wife.

In avoiding the Fly he swallowed the Spider.
A large train and light purse.
To whom I wish well let his wife dye.
Speak well and seldom, thou wilt be held for some body.
To speak without fore-thinking, is to shoot without aiming.
Do well, it matters not to whom.

Do what the Fryer tells thee, not what he doth.
Who serves well, asks enough.
Where there is a fool and a turd, they will quickly be known.
An early riser hath care of something.

Honour and profit cannot hold in one bag.
To fly away and run is not one thing.
To steal a Pig and give the Petticoes in almes.
A little spindle, a great help.
A new guest a trouble to the house.

The wheat is merry under the snow, as an old man under a blanket.

I am a little merry, but I do my business.
Egges are as thousands of meats.
I beat the bush, another catcheth the birds.
I go where no Pope or Emperour can send their Embassador.
viz. To stool.

The Wolf and the Fox are of the same mind.
The fish who seeks the hook seeks his ruine.
Who dallies with his enemy dies betwixt his hands.
The Masters eye fatneth the horse.

The Fryer who begs for God, begs for two.
This is to make a hedge of thorns with naked hands.
Make thy Son thy Heir, not thy Steward.

In a dry soyl brackish water is good.
In the labourers house hunger looks in, but dares not enter.

Good fishing in troubled water.
He was born in an ill hour who gets an ill name.
In this wretched world when there is wine enough, there wants bread.
The just man may sin in an open chest.

La muger del ciego para quien se afevra?
La biuda rica con un ojo llora, con el otra repica.

El que tiene hermosa muger, mas de dos ojos ha menetter.

La muger buena, hecho del marido.
Mas vale ser Cornudo que no lo sepa ninguno, que sin serlo, pensarlo todo el mundo.
Mas vale vieja con dineros, que moça con galas.

Muchos Compondores, cohonden la novia.
Muestra me tu muger, dezirte hé que marido tiene.
Ni tan vieja que amule, ni tan moça que retoce.
Ni por buey, ni por vaca, no tomes muger maniaca.

Ni de niño te ayuda, ni te cases con biuda.
Ni cavalgues en potro, ni tu muger alabes a otro.
Ni boda sin canto, ni mortuario sin llanto.
No compres Asno de Recuero, ni te cases con hija de mesonero.

Por codicia del florin, no te cases con ruyn.
Mi marido ha ydo al mar, chirlos mirlos a buscar.
La muger y la viña el hombre la haze garrida.
Quien es Cornudo y calla, en el coraçon trae la ascua.
Marido tras del lar dolor de hijar.

Quien no alça un alfiler, no quiere bien a su muger.
Guardose de mosca y comio una araña.

Gran trençado, y chico recaudo.
Al que yo bien quiera la muger se le muera.
Habla poco y bien, tenerre han por alguien.
Hablar sin pensar es tirar sin encarar.

Haz bien, y no cates a quien.
Haz lo que el frayle dize, y no lo que haze.
Harto pide, quien bien sirue.

Donde ay estiercol y loco, luego parece.
Hombre que madruga, de algo tiene cura.
Honra, y provecho no caben en un saco.

Huyr, y correr, no es todo uno.
Hurtar el puerco, y dar los pies por Dios.
Hufada menuda a su dueño ayuda.

Huesped nuevo, baraja en casa.
Huelga el trigo so la nieve, como el viejo so la pele.

Huelgo me un poco, mas hilo mi copo.
Huevos mil manjares.

Yo acoto el matorral, y otro toma los paxaros.
Voy do el Papa, y el Emperador no pueden embiar Embaxador.

El lobo, y la vulpeja son de una conceja.
El pez que busca el anzuelo, busca su duelo.
El que a su enemigo popa, a sus manos muere.

El ojo del amo engorda el cavallo.
Frayle que pide por Dios pide por dos.
Esto es hazer seto de espinas con manos desnudas.

Haga tu hijo heredero, no tu despensero.
En tierra seca el agua salobre es buena.
En la casa del official, assoma la hambre, mas no osa entrar.

En el agua turbia haze buen pescar.
En hora mala nace, quien mala fama cobra.
En este mundo mesquino, quando ay para pan, no
ay para vino.
En arca abierta, el justo peca.

En casa del estur, poco dura el alegría.
 En luengo camino paja pesa.
 En casa llena presto se guisa la cena.
 Bastardos o del todo buenos, o del todo malvados.
 Guay al hijo, cuyo padre va a parayso.
 Eslo se haze, lo que a Dios plaze.
 Hazes buena harina, y no roques bozina.
 Guarte de puta que dexa la bolsa enxuta.
 Guarte de las ocasiones, y guardarte Dios ha de los pecados.
 Guay de la muerte, que no toma presente.
 Grano no hincha arnero, mas ayuda a su compañero.
 Gran plazer no escotar, y bien comer..
 Quiere mi padre Muñoz, lo que no quiere Dios.
 Quien yerra, y se eminenda, a Dios se enconienda.
 Quien se guarda, Dios le guarda.
 Quien vive bien, a nadie ha menester.
 Quando a nuestra Señora oyeres nombrar, no pidas si has de ayunar.
 Su alma en su palma.
 Tras este mundo otro verna.
 Tanto es Pedro de Dios, que no le medra Dios.
 Todo es nada deste mundo, si no se endereça al segundo.
 Quien no entra en la mar, no sabe a Dios rogar.
 Antes que cases, mira lo que hazes.
 Antes de casar, ten casa en que morar.
 Ala muger quinzeta, hombre de treynta.
 Mala noche, y parir hija.
 Quien bien quiere a Beltrán, quere bien a su can.
 Allegadora de la ceniza, y desparramadora de la harina.
 A cada ollaza su cobertaraça.
 Bien o mal, casado me han.
 Casar, casar, sueta bien, y sabe mal.
 Casar, y compadraz, cada qual con su yguat.
 Con buen vezino casaras tu hija, y vendras tu vino.
 Casaras, y amanaras.
 De bovos y bovas, se hinchen las bodas.
 Humo, gotera, y muger parlera echan el hombre de su casa fuera.
 El que es enemigo de la novla, como dira bien del novio.
 El ciervo muda cada año su penacho, y tu marido cada dia.
 Dios me guarde de moça adevina, y de muger ladina.
 De ayre por horado y de amigo reconciliado guarde me Dios.
 De medico moco y barbero viejo cata te.
 De madrastra, el nombre le basta.
 El Diablo le haze la cama al logrero.
 Por la boca se escalfa el horno.
 Fiar de Dios sobre buena prenda.
 Guarde te Dios de Hecho es.
 El rosario en el cuello, y el Diablo en el cuerpo.
 La oracion breve sube al Cielo.
 Mucho en el suelo, poco en el Cielo.
 Por esso te hago, porque me hagas, que no eres Dios que me valgas.
 Poridad de dos, poridad de Dios, poridad de tres de todo es.

In the gamesters house joy lasts but little.
 A straw is heavy in a long journey.
 In a full house supper is quickly ready.
 Bastards are very good, or very bad.
 Wo to the son, whose father to Heaven is gone.
 That must be which pleaseth God.
 Grind good corn, and never blow the horn.
 Take heed of a Punk that leaves thy purse light.
 Beware of the occasion, and God will save thee from the sin.
 Death takes no bribe.
 A grain fills not the sive, but it helps its companions.
 A great pleasure to eat well and spend nothing.
 My father Muñoz desires what God doth not.
 Who erres and mends he recommends himself to God.
 Who preserves himself, God preserves him.
 Who lives well hath no need of any.
 When thou hearest our Lady named, ask not whether thou must fast.
 He hath his soul in his fist.
 After this world another will come.
 Peter is so much Gods, that God gets him not.
 All is nothing in this world, unless you direct it to the other.
 Who goes not to sea knows not how to pray.
 Before thou marry see what thou doest.
 Before thou marry have a house wherein to tarry.
 A husband of thirty for a wife of fifteen.
 An ill night, and yet a girl.
 Who loves Beltrán loves his dog.
 She gathers ashes, and scatters corn.
 Let every pot have its cover.
 Well or ill they have married me.
 Marry, marry, sounds well, and savours ill.
 Marry and converse with your equal.
 Marry thy daughter with a good neighbour, and thou wilt sell thy wine.
 Marry, and thou wilt be tame enough.
 Weddings have fools of all kind.
 Smoak, a dropping gutter, and a scold, cast the good man out of his hold.
 Who is an enemy to the Bride, how can he speak well of the Bridegroom?
 The Stag casts his horns every year, and thy husband every day.
 From a prognosticating Maid, and a Latine Wife, the Lord preserve me.
 God guard me from the wind through a hole, and from a reconciled friend.
 Beware of a young Physitian, and an old Barber.
 The name of a Step-mother is enough.
 The Devil makes the Usurers bed.
 The Oven is heated by the mouth.
 To trust God upon a good pawn.
 God keep thee from tis done.
 Beads about his neck, and the Devil in his body.
 A short prayer penetrates heaven.
 Much on earth, little in heaven.
 I do for thee, because thou mayst do for me, for thou art not God.
 The secrecy of two is the secrecy of God, the secrecy of three is all mens secrecy.

When

*When God will, it rains with all winds.
Praying to God, and driving the plow, viz. prayer and labour will do well.*

*Let thy hand go to what thou art fit for.
Whom God doth bless, his Bitch brings forth Piggs.
To a chaste woman God is sufficient.
Whom God doth bless, the Ant seeks him out.
He is rich who is well with God.
By right or wrong God speed our Council.
I come very conveniently.
Give me some meat.
To lock up or keep safely.
To send a message.
Give me wherewith to write.
To give order.*

It is to be noted, that this word Recaudo is a word of the largest extent in all the Spanish tongue, for it signifies a Message by word or Letter, a Present, a Commission, or any accomodation, Assurance or Security, Victuall or Provision for war, or any place else, and all things that a man needs, or is provided of, for himself or his beast, &c.

*God gives Beans to him who hath no gums.
God betters us from hour to hour.
Let me have a rich Husband though he be an Ass.
From a fools holt God deliver me.
God send thee joy and health, and a house with a Court and a Well.
God send me to do with him who understands me.
God put strife among those that maintain us, viz. Clients.
God consents, but not alwayes.
From smooth water God deliver me, for I shall preserve my self from the rough.
Tripe porredge dost thou brag? Against presumption.
Let good luck come, and let it come whence it will.
A rich widow a quiet house.
A Whore and a Hare, seek them near the high way.
Jew, pay what thou owest, for what I owe thee stands upon account.
Go when thou art sent, come when thou art called.
I was dust, there came water and made me dirt.
Much corn, never bad year.
For rising early the day breaks never the sooner.
For newes never trouble thy selfe, thou shalt know it time enough.
Little wealth little care.
Over shoes over boots.
By no means leave not the high-way for a by-path.*

*Take thy wifes first counsel, not the second.
Ask Muñoz, for he tells more lies then two.
An open gate tempts a Saint.
They set up a Croß because he should not piss in the place.
When the beast groans, load on and do not fear.
When the Devil is at his Beads he will couzen thee.
When the Devil comes to thy gate and shall beg thy sleeves, cut them off and give them him.
Like bell like clapper.
When thou art an Anvil suffer like an Anvil, when thou art a Hammer strike like a Hammer.
When thou art with thy wife belly to belly, do not tell her what-soever comes into thy mind.
Tho Saint can do nothing when God is not pleased.*

*Quando Dios quiere, con todos vientos llueve.
A Dios rogando, y con el mazo dando.*

A quien Dios quiere bien, la perra le pare lechones.
A muger casta, Dios le basta.
A quien Dios quiere bien la hormiga le va a buscar.
Aquel es rico, que esta bien con Dios.
A tuerto o a derecho ayude Dios a nro consejo.
A buen recaudo vengo.
Dame recaudo para comer.
Poner a recaudo.
Embiar un recaudo.
Dame recaudo para escrevir.
Dar recaudo.*

*Da Dios higos a quien no tien muelas.
De hora a hora Dios mejora.
Dios me de marido rico, si quiera sea borrico.
De cornada de anaron guarde Dios mi coraçon.
Dios te de salud y gozo, y casa con un corral, y pozo.
Dios me decontienda con quien me contienda.
Dios de savenga, quien nos mantenga.
Dios consiente, mas no siempre.
Del agua mansa me guarde Dios que de la brava yo me guardare.
Caldo de tripas bien te repicas?
Venga el bien, y venga do quisiere.
La biuda rica, casa fica.
La liebré y la puta, cabe la senda la busca.
Judio, paga lo que debes, que lo que yo te deuo cuenta es que tenemos.
Vé embiado, ven llamado.
Yo me era polvo, vino agua, y hizo me lodo.
Por mucho pan nunca mal año.
Por mucho madrugar no amanece mas ayna.
Por nuevas no peneys, hazerse han viejas, y saber las heys.
Poca hazienda, poco cuydado.
Poco por mil, preso por mil y quinientos.

Carta Embiada de un Galan a su Dama, en que por los mas usitados refranes le da cuenta de cosas que en su ausencia le avian Sucedido;

A Letter sent by a Gallant to his Mistress, wherein he giveth account of what fell out in her absence, all in Proverbs, taken out of Blasco de Garay.

SEÑORA,

Como quien habla de talanquera darè a vuestra merced cuenta de mi vida, y porque en tal caso dicen que las paredes han oydos, le suplico no se sepa lo que aqui dirè, pues en la boca del discreto lo publico es secreto; y es que oyendo algunas vezes dezir que a quien muda, Dios le ayuda, y otras, por el contrario, que piedra movediza no cria moho; Vino me desseo de saber qual de esto era verdad, considerando que valia mas auer, que saber; Assi acordè de mudar de vida, y no estar, siempre como dicen, en calma, porque quien no haze mas de otro, no vale mas de otro: Y fue tal la mudanza que pudieran dezir por mi, quien bien tiene y mal escoje por mal que le Venga no se enoie. Al fin viendo que perdia tiempo porque no me dexassen cantar mal y porfiar, o que me preciava de andar como cuchillo de melonero, dexè a quel camino, y tornè me a mi menester, Acordandome de lo que dize el Refran, Quien bien està no se muda, que por do quiera ay tres leguas de mal quebranto; Mas como quien adelante no mira a tras se halla, mirando yo que un alma sola ni canta ni llora, y que una golondrina no haze verano, pareciome que devia buscar compania, puesto que a la verdad, mas vale ser solo, que mal acompañado, porque dicen, Dime con quien andas, y dezirre hè quien eres, aunque es el mal, que el peor se tiene por muy bueno, mas harto es ciego quien no vee por tela de cedazo: Con este desseo que digo, madruguè un Dia que no deviera, y como vale mas al que Dios ayuda, que al que mucho madruga, pues por mucho madrugar no amanece nece mas ayna, tropecè, y no adelantè me camino con cierta moça que venia ladrada de los perros, Mas como dizen, haz bien, y no cates a quien, puesto que por otra parte digan, que no es bueno caçar por monte traqueado, toda via acòrdeme de abrigarme con essa aunque auia propuesto de ayunar, ò comer trucha, mas la necesidad no tiene ley; Empero por el bien suena, y el mal buela, no faltò quien lo supo (porque no ay cosa secreta) y me reprehendio, que quien ha buen vezino hà buen maytino; Aunque toda via quise mas verguença en cara que manzilla en coraçon; Y assi acordè de no mudar bifiesto por no parecer perrillo de muchas bodas, y porque quica de rocin a ruyn; y porque tambien la Señora no dixesse, que el moco por no saber, y el viejo por no poder dexar las cosas perder, ò que se hazia encuentro feo, ò que da Dios havas a quien no tiene quixadas; De manera que sossegùè mi coraçon disimulando con las gentes, y haziendo del gato de Juan Hurtado porque las buenas callan; Yo como la moça traya hambre de tres semanas, y picado el molino y el diente agudo, en topando con la despena, porque luego le entregùè las llaves de la casa, quiso darme tanta priessa, que aunque dizen, camino de Santiago tanto anda el coxo como el sano, mucho avia de madrugar quien la avia de alcançar, porque toda su tema era, Muera Marta, y muera harta, diziendo ni al gastador falta que gastar, ni al enduredor que endurear, y que vale mas un dia de plazer qui ciento de pesar. Yo como vi que se desmandava dixe, a cavallo comedor cabestro corto; Aunque ya venia tarde el gato a la longanica, porque estava la Señora muy apofessionada en mi hazienda, y assi dizen mete mendigo en tu paiar, y hazerte se hà tu heredero; de suerte que fue necessario lo mejor que hombre pudo tornar a coger la hembra y quitarle el mando y el bando porque, como dizen. Vezo pon, vezo quites; Despues de esto concertè me para no menester con un moço mio pensando que le tenia hecho a mis mañas, avisandole que quando viesse que me pedia alguna cosa, porque era romero hito, saca catico atravesasse, con un ruinfio con que el juego se les barataffe: Yo fue el moço con el gaytero de Arganda, porque le davan uno para que començasse, y diez porque acabasse; porque tomò la cosa tan a pechos, que ya no era Señor de mi hazienda, ni podia dar nada a nadie quando dezia, el hartò, del ayuno no tiene cuydadò ninguno; mal mira mi amo lo que hemos menester a unos mucho, y a otro no nada, unos monies, otros calones; Al freyr me lo dirà para mi Santiaguada, que algun dia mande tanto pedro como su amo; Mas como a perro viejo nunca cuz cuz, yo como le entendia, respondiale, oyr, ver y callar, que en la boca cerrada no entra mosca: Assi algunas vezes se yua gruñendo diziendo entre dientes con mal va todo, a otro perro con este huefio, mas cerca estan mis dientes que mis parientes: Quiero dexar este amo que tanta sobervia tiene, y tomar asno que me lleve, y no cavallo qui me derrueque, que mas vale ser cabeça de raton, que cola de leon; Yo quando vi tantas consideraciones en un moço, y que se subia a mayores, dixe, antes que digas tanto pan come queso, esto: tiros teneys? No lo echareys en saco roto; En fin acordeme que dizen, que a las vezes lleva el hombre a su casa con que llora, y que el necio por la pena es cuerdo, determinè de despedirle conformandome con el refran de las viejas, que dize, ni mula mohina, ni moça marina, ni poyo a la puerta, ni Abad por vezino, ni moço pedro en casa, que siempre lo hè oydo dezir que de los enemigos los menos; Assi me determinè, que quise mas bien de lexos, que mal de cerca; Esto hize por me quedar a solas con la ioya pensando que tenia trapillo con dineros porque dizen que quien guarda, halla; Mas, como al fin se canta la gloria quando bolui a poner recaudo en mi casa sin confiarme de nadie, porque duelo ageno de pelo cuelga soplo el viento en mi cara, y pensando echarme a dormir, espulgò me el gato; porque como el dormir, no quien priessa, quando yo estava mas a sueño suelto echa otra sardina, nuestro gozo en el pozo: Vase me la moça de casa, porque dadivas quebrantan peñas, mas quien tendrà el candil al ayre? Quando yo me hallè solo no pude dezir, Compania de dos, compania de dios, si no bien vengas mal, si vienes solo, pues en verdad, que no fue por mi culpa; que hartò le dezia, Hija sey buena, y ella, madre he aqui un clavo, y le dezia que la muger, y la gallina por andar se pierde mas ayna, y que la pierna quebrada, y en casa, y le dezia que trabajasse, que quien ha officio, hà beneficio, y que no dixessen por ella, andate por ay Maria sin toca, estate ay no hiles en oro de cesilla. Mas ella hazia el caso de esto que el Rey de un labrador, yo a quebrarme la cabeça, y ella buena que buena; Unas vezes callava, porque dizen que quien calla, piedras a paña; Otras me respondian que quando la hormiga se ha de perder nacenle las alas, diziendome, cantar mal y porfiar, bien canta marta despues de harta, porque quien canta sus males espanta, por do passa moia peor es hurgallo no me lo digays mas que primero bevèrè, que me toque gran sabor es comer, y no escotar, dezid lo que quisièredes, que al loco, y al toro dalle corto, que siempre lo ohi dezir, que de los leales se hinchen los hospitales, y por aqui quanto mandaredes, en fin como a dineros pagados braços quebrados, y la codicia rompe el saco, quando mas pensava que la tenia convertida a effotra puerta que esta no se abre, nadar, nadar, y ahogar a la orilla, mas quien da lo suyo antes de su muerte, mereçe que le den con maço en la frente; por esto escarmientren todos en mi, que bueno es escarmentar en cabeça agena, y en la confiança de las gentes nadie de lo suyo a los parientes, especial en la cama porque no es todo oro que reluze; Mas si bien le fue tornese al regosto, que en verdad acordandome de un consejo, que dize, la muger; la muger, & la Sardina de rostros en la ceniza, y que la mesa, y la muger han de ser sojulgadas quando mucho la via salir de madre, pegava con sus bienes y deziafe assi se usa del pan, y del palo, Aunque ella como buena sin auer miedo de dios, ni verguença a las gentes, acorde de poner tierra en medio y tomar las calças de Villadiego; porque mas vale salto de mata, que ruego de hombres buenos, y mas vale una traspuessa, que dos assomadas: Y esto no para emendarfe que no le passava por pensamiento, si no para andarse a sus vicios, y como dizen de aquel en aquel, que quien malas mañas hà en la cuna, ò las pierde tardè, ò nunca: De manera que como hombre experimentado, y que sabe en que caen las cosas, porque no ay mejor cirviano que el bien acuchillado, podria con ella dar consejo a otros, y dezir, De la mala muger te guarda, y de la buena no fies nada, aunque hablo en perviyzio de muchas m:s por un ladron pierden otro el meson; Bien se que do ay malo ay bueno, mas tambien se que por un bueno ay cien malos, que un Cavallero sobre ciento, y un hombre sobre un cuetito; Esta no se contentava con uno en casa, y otro a la puerta, si no como dicen, Duero tiene la fama, y Pisverga lleva el agua, ella lo tenía todo, y encubrialo yo por mi honra, más treíquilenme en consejo, y no lo sepan en mi casa: Pero siempre lo ohi dezir, que no ay mal que no venga por bien; y así fue, que desde allí a pocos dias se me bolvió al pefebre rogando me que por amor de dios, y por lo pasado entre los dos, y muy mas humilde y mansa que un cordero aunque despues de averse dado un muy buen verde en el prado no pude rehusalla, así por no prubar condiciones nuevas, como porque dos que se conocen de lexos se saludan, y tornela a mi casa, diziendo, Dios me de contienda con quien me entienda; Desde a pocos dias como in el Invidioso medro ni quien cabe el moro, atravesoseme otra dama, porque donde una cabra va allí quieren yr todas: Yo por pagarme en la misma moneda tomé lo que me davan, y por desseo de quecos meti el pie en un cantaro, y huyendo del trueno di en el rayo, mas quien quisiera mula sin racha que se este sin ella; Acontecio que riéron dos comadres, y descubrieronse las verdades, y todo me llovía en casa, y mal para el cantaro, porque por contentallas a entrambas, yo ponía, correo, y correas, y aun no me aprovechava, que cada uno creya que endurava para dar a la otra, mas el pensar no es saber, Que en verdad no avia cosa en mi casa no estuviesse mas escurrida que alcuza de santero: Verdad es, que si yo mirara el refran de la vieja, que dize, quien come, y dexa, dos vezis pone mesa, y que mas vale que sobre, que no que falte, y dexar a la muerte al enemigo, que pedir en la vida al amigo, y guardar, que no prestar, y no cobrar que quien presta, no cobra, y si cobra no todo, y si todo, no tal, y si tal, enemigo mortal; no viniera mi bolso a tal estremo como estava, porque no ay mal tan lastimero como no tener dinero; Estas dos damas a porfia me venian a visitar, y a dezirme una mal de otra, porque no haze poco el que echa su mal a otro; Yo otorgando con todas porque así se ganan los amigos, que si dezis la verdad quebraros ha la cabeza, una dezia, quien a la postre viene primero llora, otra, quien espera, desespera, y ambas, bien ayuna quien mal come; Mas porque no esperassen a comer en mi casa, siempre dezia, o que avia comido, o que no querria comer, que hombre harto no es comedor; Desta manera complia con ellas, ya combidando la una a beber, como los pollos de Marta, que no han comido, y dan les agua, ya llevando la otra a pasear, Así una por otra mal penan ambas; Las quales como yuan entendiendo, dezian me algunas vezes, a las que sabes mueras, gran tocado, y chico recaudo; Mas como ya me hedian en casa, porque el pan quiere ser de ante dia, y el vino de año, y dia, y la carne desse dia; no les dixe, que se fuesen, mas hizeles obras con que lo hiziesen; Aunque otros las rogavan, y así es, nos por lo ageno, y el diablo por lo nuestro como los peces de la red, que unos mueren por entrar, y otros por salir; Hazia esto, porque via ya mi daño, y oxala antes fuera, pero mas vale tarde que nunca, porque esso dicen tiempo tras tiempo, y agua tras viento; Al fin acordé de apartar panielas viendo que valia mas hasta el tovillo que no hasta el codrillo, con intencion de nunc a mas perro al molino, que ni de estopa buena camisa, ni de puta buena amiga; Estando en este proposito cargado de hierro, y cargado de miedo, determinado de no vivir mas de emprestado sino como dicen ave de ruyo levántose un viento que de la mar salia alcome las faldas de la mia camisa, y fue, que como que no ay cosa firme, vinieron en discordia dos hermanas de buena fama, y aunque dicen, que entre hermanos no metas tus manos, porque quien los disparte lleva la peor parte, no dexé de meterme entre ellas por ser personas honradas, tambien por provar ventura, que a los osados ayuda la fortuna, y acaeciome con la una della que por una vez que mis ojos alcé dicen que la enamoré, de manera que por ser yo roxo como un cuervo antes cuez que yervas si no fuy del todo favorecido alomenos tuve esperanza que se podria hazer algo aunque pudieran dezir por mi hijo no tenemos, y nombre le ponemos; Verdad es que dicen, que lo que mucho se dessea no se cree aunque se vea, mas toda via pienso lo que podria ser, puesto que pensar no es saber, ni es siempre vero lo que suena el pandero, y con este relampago no vivo seguro, aunque en fin mal esta el fuego cabe la estopa, y esso es verde lo que el fuego no vee; A la verdad por memoria mi casa dexaria, en especial hallandome en ausencia de quien pudiera pesarle, pues dicen los ausentes por los presentes porque mas vale paxaro en mano que bueyre volando; Así estoy apercebido para lo que viniere, porque hombre apercebido, medio combatido, y porque no digan ya que ando como pedro por demas, y querria que fuesse oy antes oy que mañana, que no seria tan malo que con lo pasado no tuviesse hombre por bueno, que quien de mucho mal es duecho poco bien le abasta, y como quiera mas valdria tuerto que ciego: Mas si los coracones no senganan ello le hara sin dalle priessa que lo que está de dios ello se viene; no quiero pues mostrar-me muy codicioso, porque no digan, a moço goloso higo a dinero sino esperar con cordura, que quien ara corto, y hierra somero, va Cavallero, y el que menosprecia la yegua esse la lleva; Entre tanto passaré cochura por hermosura la qual nunca se podra dezir de mi si no quando mucho, tal te quiero cresta, y ella era tiñola, aunque quien feo amo hermoso le parece, que ojos ay que de legañas se enamoran. Desseoso estoy de entrar en esta casa hecha, que buenos dineros son casa con pucheros, y por no andar de bodegon en taverna, sino comer cabeza de olla, y por no tener quien mire por mi regalo, que mientras mas yela, más aprieta, y estoy ya cansado de andar tentando vados de coca en colodra; pero dexemos esto, para quando nos veamos, aunque no se si tendré quexa de mi porque le hē tantas vezes prometido de bolverle a ver, y no lo he hecho, pero quien tras otro cavalga no ensilla, quando quiere hase dilatado mi buelta, porque la gente pone, y Dios dispone; Tername en possession de mentiroso, pero dezir y hazer no es para todos hombres, mas quien viene no tarda; Y así lo entiendo hazer muy presto, plaziendo a Dios, el qual me lo dexe cumplir para tomar el parecer de vuestra merced pues mas veen quatro ojos que no dos.

A Dios paredes hasta la buelta.

THE RIGHT HONORABLE,
(My most endeered LORD)

RICHARD

Earl of CARBERRY, &c.

AT His Palace in Golden-Grove.

My LORD,

Having had the happiness to know your Person first at the Spanish Court (in those glorious times, when our Prince of Wales did court his Mistress so gallantly,) And looking upon that considerable Tract of Time, which hath intercurd since, I may claim the prerogative to be one of the ancientst Servants you have; therefore I hope, it will not be held an Intrusion, that I now make this publick address unto your Lordship; Nor will any well-weigh'd Reader find any Impertinence in this Dedicatory Address, if he regard the qualitie of the Work, your Lordship being the brightest Star that's fix'd in the British Firmament; whence from your fair Orb in Golden-Grove you display your Influences far and near, not only among those Hills, but to divers places also under the English Clime, who are witnesses of your Princely way of living, and noble Hospitalitie.

Now, my Lord, the design of this new Piece is, to redeem from the Dungeons of so long obscuritie, and to furbish up as it were from the rust of time the Cymraegan Proverbs, or Cambrian Adages, and old sayed Sawes, which were so frequent among the Bards, Nay, some of them reach up unto, and were contemporary with the Druids themselves, from whom they receiv'd their first rise long before the Roman Eagles planted their talons in this Iland; which Druids being the Divines and Sages of those Times, (as the Magi, and Philosophers were in other Countreyes) grew so famous all the World over, that the Gaules, (now the French) with other Nations came hither by often transfre-tations to be indoctrinated by Them: Whence some of the most Learned Glottographers infer, that the British was the first Language of France also, as well as of this Island, in regard they did mutually understand one another in those times, which was long before the Latine or Greek came this side the Alpes.

Lastly, my Lord, besides the two motives above mentioned, there was another which wrought strongly upon me, and induc'd me to this Dedication, which was, that I might exhibit to the World a publick Evidence of my acknowledgements for so many noble favours, And that hereby both the present Times may see how much I am, and future Ages may find how much I was.

T O T H E K N O W I N G R E D E R.

IT is a cleer and uncontroulable Truth, or rather an Historicall Principle among all Antiquaries both Domestick and Forren, that the first Human Cretures which Peepled this Iland were the Brittains, or old Cambrians; They are the very Aborigines and like the Arcadians in Greece, may be said to be contemporary with the Cuntrey it self: If the Nation be so ancient, surely their Language must be coetaneous with them, for they were not born dumb. Now, that Language was, and is still the Cymraecan Tounge, which is ranked by all Glottographers among the fourteen Maternall, and independent vernacular Languages of Europe; She hath divers Dialects, the first is the Cornubian or Cornish; the second the Armorican, which the Inhabitants of Brittany do speak in France, to which Cuntrey ther were divers Colonies transported hence: Ther was also another Dialect of the Cymraecan Tounge among the Picts, a valiant People, who, when the Romans had rush'd here into the Centre of the Countrey, retir'd to the Northern parts, as Westmerland, Cumberland, Northumberland, the Bishprick, and to some places beyond the Tweed, untill the whole Nation of the Scots orepowring them by multitudes, and ore-reaching them in craft, utterly extinguished both Them, and their Language in those parts: Moreover, the Irish was at first a Dialect of the Brittish, receiving her Alphabet, and ogums from Her, though afterwards it recieved some changes and interpolations by other Colonies which were introduced thither, as the last most Reverend Lord Primate Usher, and that very worthy Knight Sir James Ware in his late learned work called Antiquitates Hibernie doth acknowledge. Nay, some judicious observing Navigators have found out lately a Dialect of the British Tounge in the West Indies; which may well be, for Master Hackluyt and other authentick Writers have it upon Record, how not farre from Mexico there was a Colony of Brittains about six hundred years since, where there remain yet divers radicall words (as I have observed elsewhere) of the Brittish Tounge, with a stone Epitaph; and the Spaniards observ'd, that thereabouts the Cross was in great reverence, &c.

Now, this is a thing of speciall remark, that notwithstanding the various Revolutions, with the entire changes of government, and turns of Fortune which this Iland received by so many differing-tounge'd Nations, yet the British Language could never be subdued, but boare up still, and stood firm to her self; whereas the

Romans

To the knowing Reder.

Romans who kept constant footing here above three hundred yeers, were used to bring in their Language with the Lance as a mark of Conquest; which thing they did all Italy over, and France, with the Cuntreyes interjacent which are scattered among the Alpes, where not a syllable of the old Primitive Languages is left; Tis tru, that in Spain the Biscayners have retained their to this day, being Mountaneers as the present Brittains are, and twixt these two Peeple there is an extraordinary sympathy observed to be in point of naturall disposition in many things, specially in their great Civilities, and Candidness towards strangers, as also in their gutturall pronunciations: And as the Brittain here, so the Biscainer in Spain is held the antientest Inhabitant, and a pure incorrupt Peeple, having never mingled with the Moors; wherefore when any of them is to receive the habit of Knight-hood, the's no scrutiny made into his extraction, whether he be a Gentleman, or limpio de la sangre de los moros, free from Morisco bloud, as useth to be done before any other be admitted.

Now touching the version of these Cymraecan Proverbs into English, it must be confessed that divers of them lose much of their Primitive innate Elegance, cadencies, and quickness of fancy; for the Cambrian Tongue is so dainty, and so indulgent of her self, that as she will have none to pronounce her in the tru tone, but a Britain born, or he who hath bin bred there very young, so she is not easily made a turn-coat, or rendred into any other Language, but she loves to lie upon her own lees without fretations, or rackings to be powr'd into other Vessels; In so much, that whereas all Translations commonly are like the wrong side of a piece of Arras, (Every Language having some incommunicable Idioms of her own) this comparison may hold more properly in the British then in any other, for besides the ordinary cadencies of the rime (wherein the English Poetry chiefly consists) the British meeter hath a conceit almost in every second word, which love to lick one another by agnomination: And this was used to be the Genius of the old Italians also in former times, as appears in that famous Epistle, which Circe the daughter of the Sun sent to Ulysses, whereof I thought it not impertinent to insert here a few stanzas.

1. *Ulisfe à lasso, ò dolce Amor i' moro,
Se porci parci qui armento hor monta,
In selua salvo a me piu caro coro.*
2. *Ninfa non fù a Circe chente conta
Se bella ne sibilla ò falli felli
Donne ò danni che Febe affranto affronta*
3. *Fetonte si fè tanto ch'arse, & corse
Sul carro, ch'erra crudo che non crede
Di là dall' Alpi al pò si scarso scorse.*

To the knowing Reader.

This was just the Genius (and is still) of the British Bards in their Poetical compositions, and it is the difficultst way of Versifying, for non satis est verba in pedes cogere, & numeros observare, sed singula verba habent suos concentus; It is not onely sufficient to make words to go upon feet, and to observe the number of them with riming cadencies at the end (wherein onely consists the Poetry of other Nations) but there is sweetness of consonancy in every second word, which may be said to greet and kiss one another by mutual concent. There could be Volumes of instances produced hereof in the British Tounge, but this merry one shall serve herefor all: A Cobler having been at the Alehouse, where he had spent all his money, and going home drunk, he stumbled against the Cross in the Market-place, where he slept all night upon one of the staires; and awaking in the morning, and rubbing his eyes he thought to see two or three Crosses of one; but putting his hand in his pocket he had never a cross left there, hereupon he broke suddenly into this condid, or stanza:

*Ond digree iſ gweled dwy groes
A finne yn gridd heb vn groes,
Yn gorfedd amhen ar gerig
Yn cydfwrw yr cwrw ar cig.*

Thus in English.

Is't not a merry thing to see
One cross increase to two or three?
Yet I poor Cobler cannot find
One cross in pocket left behind.

Most of these British Proverbs run thus, therefore they must needs lose much of their grace in the version, as the best wines take wind by being poured from one vessell to another.

Now, touching the collection, and marshalling of these Proverbs thus into one file, and to teach them the English March, there were some very knowing Gentlemen that did cooperate with me, viz. Mr. R. Owen, Mr. W. Williams, and Mr. R. Evans, a hopeful young Gentleman towards the Law, one whereof is of South-wales, the other two of the North, where tis confessed, the purest Dialect of the British Tounge is still preserv'd, and spoken, in regard there hath not bin so much mixture, and coalition with the English.

A LETTER

A LETTER

To the AUTHOR from a worthy Gentleman, who supplied him with som British Proverbs.

My most learned Cuntreyman, and Noble Sir,

Ince you intend to teach the Age Wisdome, by compiling a Volume of Select Proverbs out of all those Languages, that have taken up their Sation in your capacious head; I hope you will make it appear that you are a Britain, and that however our Nation hath bin reproched of late years to have had no Religion among their Hills, the World may know, they have had sense derived to them by Tradition from their ancient Progenitors. Therefore you will be wanting to your self, unless you doe your own Mother-toung that honour, I may say, that Right, as to take notice of her Proverbs, which for sharpness of Wit, for brevity of Expression, for weight of Sense, and (in many of them) for sweetness of the Cadency and Rime, may (to speak soberly) keep company with those that Italy, France, or Spain affordeth. Behold here a few for taste, borrowed of Dr. Davies of famous memory, whose unwearied Labours have brought forth a Grammar and a Dictionary, to render the British Tongue, and himself immortall. It was not possible (for me at least, who am Domi Peregrinus) to put them into English, with their own conciseness, and significancy; there being hardly any Language under the Sun, that makes less use of Articles, and insignificant Ligaments of Speech, then ours doth, and that delivers more matter in fewer words; Nor shall you ever see a Translation bear up exactly with the Originall, much less in Proverbs, where sense and stuff is crowded up into a narrow room, and Brevity borders upon obscurity.

Have I need to Apologize for some few, that are homely, and may possibly nauseate the more delicate or grave Reader? You know modern Languages all of them have the like: This I dare pronounce for them, that not one offers to clash with Piety, Vertue, or good Manners; that generally they shew what men ought to do, or what men use to do; and that the attentive Reader may certainly learn here more then a little in re agibili, they are fetchd out of the bowels of Experience, they are gray-haired, and so fit to teach Wisdom, so claim a share in your perusall; and such of them as shall be found to bear weight in your Ballance, may be sent over to Posterity under your so wel-known Name, among the choicest Adages of Europe. To make short, here they are, Let them speak for themselves.

Eltham in Kent,

Aug. 20. 1657.

The man is wise, while he holds his peace.
It's a sory stake, that stands not the first year.
Ill doth the devil preserve his servant.
Bad is the way, that is trod but once.
Bad is a bad servant, but worse being without him.
Bad is the thing, that is not worth the asking.
Every mans neighbour is his looking-glass.
A work ill done, must be twice done.
God will distribute the cold, as he distributeth the cloaths.
There will come ice for the frog.
It is tedious parting with a thing we love.

A sharp April kills the pig.
One scabby fellow knoweth another.
A man knoweth when he goes, not when he returns.
A good aunt is a second mother.
You will easily prevail with one that loveth you.
Hee was slaine that had warning, not hee that tooke it.
Neither for peace nor for warre, will a dead Bee gather honey.
A sorry son is active in another mans house.
The easiest work is to miss (or fail.)

Every poor man is a fool.
Fly from bad land, not from a bad landlord.

A mans wealth is his enemy.
The active man will be a Lion, till gray hairs come.
Forbear the alehouse, forbeare not to pay.
Dispraise the meat and eat it.
Every mans eye is upon that he loveth.
The nimblest footman is a false tale.
Woe be to him that goeth from hip to hip, and hath nothing of his own.
Woe to him that bringeth his old servant to a Court of Justice.
Woe to him that loves, and is not loved.
Woe to him that hath a bad name in his youth.
Woe to him that seeks his landlord dayly.
Woe to the beast, that never seeth his owner.
Worse and worse, like the son of a goat.
Woe to that one man, that makes a hundred sad.
The day will discover the work of the night.
It is an easie work to beware.
A friends frown is better then a fools smiles.
An importunate begger cannot keep.
To cut a witth with a beetle.
Naturam expellas furca, &c.
After long languishing death.
A lion when old may be conquered.
To fish in a sheep-coat.
Too much cunning undoes.
A bird in hand is better then two in the bush.
Clear conscience a sure card.
A friend in Court, &c.
Good, though long stayed for is good.
A fair face and a foul heart.
To think his grandmother a maide.
To give pay with a ladle.
No more then the he-goat to the kill. Antipathy.
Better one braggadocio, then two fighters.

Better one pair of feet, then two pair of hands.
 Woe to the Owner of a weak bow.
 Woe to the servant of a weak Lord.
 Multitude conquers greatness.
 It is easie to cut out thongs of another mans skin.
 Howell is generous at the Countreys charge.
 The play of an old cur with a whelp.
 The young will cause beheading.
 Easier to censure then do.
 The bald will not believe till he sees his brains.
 It is easie to draw blood out of a skabbie head.
 The kinsmans ear will hear it.
 A womans commodity stronger then a rope.
 He that hath the daughters ~~eyes~~ will have the mothers heart.
 Long aiming, long shiting.
 A womans hand is the ~~stone~~ whetstone.

Enough is as good as a feast.
 Enough for each man what he can manage.
 Compare onely with thy compeers.
 Who complains without cause, may have cause to complain.
 Spare the surety, spare the principal.
 A small cause may produce much grief.
 Cause without cause.
 The besome ought still be busie.
 Without a good horse, to take the field is folly.
 Complain for fear of complaints.
 A house dry over head is happy.
 Long sorrow moulds misery.
 A cat may be cram'd with crums.
 Each owner his own.
 A child knowes who licks, but not who loves him.

Open-mouth'd hedges speak bad husband.
 Feed liberally, find labourers.

The wise and the fool have their fellows.
 Get a sonne, get a sword.
 Great promises, small performance.
 A fair ly, makes a fool laugh.
 The gray is ripe for the grave.
 The Hart brayes for the brook.
 The Hart being fed takes the field.
 The lewd and naught love long nights.
 Whom death kills, none recalls.
 Should not bad counsell be cancelled.
 He that bears the bag may fill his belly.
 He that steals an egg, will steal a nagg.
 Teach the child a Sunday, he will remember it a Munday.

If the Lion go to the field, God will be his shield.
 He that goes to Court without errand, may bring home an arrest.
 Who at horse play would learn skill, at home should leave his skinne.
 Time before Kine.

The sea is the Lords cell, or cellar.
Young and tame, sharp in time.
Praise a good woman I pray.
Hard reading a dumb mans meaning.
Well girt, well goes.
Love thy sister notwithstanding disasters.
Death's capps capacious, (or) death to all sorts pertains.
A snarling cur hath a scurvy coat.
Hunt all games have no gains.
A message too late lost.
Without penny penny.
Light knit, easily unknotted.
A horn heard soon, though hardly seen.
See to thy seed.
A leg thought a thigh.
My thought runs where my love rests.
Call God neere, when thou dost neeze.
Know a low, by his load.
The hen flaunts on the floor.
A good cow ever, a milking runs over.
Hee loofeth many a good bitt, that striveth with his betters.
Hang the poor hen.
The Beare pressed in the Lions presence, (or) strike the man before the master.
Rub a churles tail he will give thee a turd, (or) speak a churl fair, he will spit in thy face.
The dog bites hard, the bone's harder.
Pinch worse then pincers.
A fool laughs a life.
The hen's beak her mind doth speak, (or) the face without shewes what's within.
An old man is sick, Death ensueth.
Shake a row like a reed.
A short sword a foals supersedeas.
Once steal ever stayed, make much of a steer, when the rest is stolne.
Fall hard and clean, not on fowle clay.
Death falls the rich in the ridge.
Strange! a cock tied in a cove's time.
Goods long tried, not to be trusted.
Hasty, yet wise and wary.
Though day be long night comes at last.
What is nine dayes kept close, nine moneths discloseth.
Eat with a Lords son, play not with his Lordship.

As long as the cart calls it carries.
All ought to plead for the plow.
The colt stout as the stallion.
A greedy gut would all get.
Old wives medicines, sins.
The hand finds, where it feels.
Be a friend to the free.
Contemporaries, good and gaudy.
The rich man sells, the poor man seals.
The heart and pate, in plots copartners.
Confession free.
Wranglers, brats and brawlers.
Mans years as Iron.
As easie as the mouse trips in the trap.
As soon doth the lambs skin as the sheeps skin march to the market.
A plea after judgement.

The old if not fond, offend not.
 At home the churle keeps the chair.
 See the begger looks big.
 The killn sooner burns, then the barn.
 A watchman hies to stand on high.
 As good not stir as ride on a staff.
 As good the penny as the penny worth.
 He and she single may associate.
 Contend about fare, at length fast.
 Advise a lout too late.
 Unlucky wags long for wars.
 Youth loves to go hence, then longs to come home.

Play not such in a satchel.
 Play and grieve not, jest and disgrace not.

The dog plays a while with the whelp.
 So doth the sow with the pig also.
 The naked plaies now, the hungry plays not.

I plaid now a game, I had well nigh forgot.
 Cold laughing lies under ice.
 February singing, never stints stinging.
 Wine is sweet, till the reckoning greet.
 A churles feast is sweeter, to make up the meeter.
 Where Lovers like they laugh.
 The fool never droops, but laughs though he drowns.
 Praise innate to nature.
 Never cease searching.

Good for the wealthy to want sometimes.
 Good that the teeth guard the tongue.
 Pleading after judgement.
 The mountain fumes, a mouse comes forth.
 'Tis well God sends curst kine short horns.
 The spit and meat well met.

Him good man call that pleaseth all.
 Good whats musty, from bad pay-masters.
 Set the dog upon the hog.
 Keep house while thou canst.
 Give over when thou canst not.
 All faults if unfortunate.
 A stranger they say, blind on his way.
 Every chase, chance.
 Set dogs upon Dogs.
 Give a churle an inch, he will take an ell.

Folly to teach Tutors.
 Shew heavens seat to sinners.
 Shew the calf but not the curds.
 Two hungry meals belike, makes the third gorbelize.

Have great care, in works curious.
 Stand to thy wayes, wave wavering.
 Mans wrong remembered long.
 God is good, everlasting, long patient.
 Good the sword, with the word.
 Mishaps in haps, happy.
 Happy state loves highesteem.

In capite, is love the best tenure.
Once begun, half done.
Half the way to know the way.
Faiths best hold in the heart.
Carriage carries the respect.
Beauty is clear in good clothes.
The best pedigree, school degree.
Learning bald, if not bold.
Half way rod, when ready.
Towns keep their chairs, maintain their Charter.
Lest musick erre, give ear.
No gift well, without good will.
A jealous eye doth prophecy.
Choose yolk for Ox, or Ax.
Choose foul hag, of both foul hogs.
When all's done, go dine.
Ever a churl voids his chamber.
Happy son that's void of sin.
The poor man flee's, the rich man sleys.
The foul frog dies under ice.
God arms the harmless.
A friend, a fiend if offended.
Never loose if sedulous.
One God, enough for one good.
Too much musick proves tedious.
Fy, enough of figs.
A little play enough to please.
Ill favour'd, ill fam'd.
Each bird 'tis said loves to hear himself sing.
Fetch the people from the piper.
Grief looks sleepy, and be slubber'd.
Care keeps the wise awake.
Good cloths and closest.
A young swaggerer, an old begger.
An old man neate newes.
A town faithless, foul and falls.
Pause and let the water pass.
The bitter slanders his betters.
The industrious strives to stand both by sea and by land.

A knave lets pass peace.
Not espied despised.
Long without meal or meat.
A madmans stroke sad and sudden.
The end of the old is to keep sheep in the fold.
More carefull then the wolfe, for my own: (or) If thou wouldst not misse thy own message.
A mad puppy meets thorns in his pap.
All prone to promise.
Put thy hand upon thy heart.
Lend to the poor, late thou wilt be paid.
A seholler may be gull'd thrice,
A souldier owl'd but once.
For wise he may pass, that can hold his peace.
On all things by all means measure.
Heart of cares hardly cured.
Long comes at last.
The deere may pay double.
Wary to set, wise to sell
Twice swear pay dear.
A bad guest admitted makes something missed.
A bad Court where none come, (or) A Court void unless invited.

Were all knowu, most are knaves.
 That sinis fou that spreads fame.
 Bad to care no more then for to morrow.
 A bad one, as another.
 The devil a most bad master.
 Bad is bad, worse worst of all.
 That path's poore, but once trod o're.
 Bad servant bad, worse if none had.
 Stark naught, that's not worth asking.
 That office is servile, that's not worth the serving.
 Thy neighbour as thy self, see.
 Do it good, or do it again.
 Each wild wanton.
 A bawle in the hand of a booby.
 Wanton pranks seldom prosper.
 God will feed the simple.
 Man doth say, God doth send.
 Heaven's mine, if God doth say, Amen.
 God's Power, rights the poor.
 Woe frog, ware frost.
 Loose t' y fence that will not see.
 A fantick pate, loseth his part.
 A lought long for Art and learning.
 God ever sends in season.
 The dayes are bad, God send better.
 To persecute odd, and odious.
 No joy in a gaole.
 Grievous to leave, whom I love.
 A surety owes, and not owes.
 Begg of the free, until a frey.
 The old playes with the Owle.
 A foul abuse long abides.
 Much liquor makes eloquent.
 Tound fro, all out of frame.
 Teach the wise with gentle strains, teach the wild with stripes.
 Teach an old horse to pace home.
 To speak that, he knows not what.
 A cruel friend, Death's his end.
 Marry nere home, malice far hence.
 Give God the first fruits free.
 If April swell, ware swine.
 A churle rue's, that he was royal.
 Womens vomes double and vain.
 Scapes scapes together.
 The old cat knowes what to make of milk.
 The secrets now seen and nois'd.
 The dog shall yet see summer.
 Have at the curds, be chary of the cheese.
 I know when I goe, but not when I come again.
 The cat knowes and licks whom she likes.
 Each mans worth is praised by his works.
 The cat would have fish, but not wet her feet.
 Open thy bag to receive a pig.
 The world is a wide parish.
 The fool doth lift his hand full swift.
 A good aunt, almost a mother.
 Spare thy fist, spare not thy foot.
 A suit, where lov'd not lost.
 If not lov'd spare thy labour.
 Without power poore.

Give twice one Maid too much.
A hard thing to steal of a thief.
Hard to strain a Marrow-pie from a Poet.
Hard to make right, wrong.
Wooll is never taken from a Goats taile.
Never well do till well dy.
A dream makes not a young man.
The more perfect the less painful.
As easily disgraced, as graced.
No Ruler good, save God.
Man's not as currant as good gold.
The more thou look for, the less beloved.
Nor Ben nor Beß,
The dog did eat meat and nest.
He is not bald that stayes for hair.
The Cuckoe hath nothing to do,
But the same to say and sing to.
Difference 'twixt a Major and a Monk.
Not said gone, that comes again.
No speed without speed.
Not cheap said till made sure.
Not sleek till slander'd (or) not glorious till eclipsed.
It is not corporeal, makes gnats venereal.
Hell though ardent wants but order.
Nothing so awry as dividing wrong.
Misery cannot shun shame.
His need so great, hath not nails to scrape.

 To fox the Fox, no foxing.
 Ill and well note two natures.
 Orl and Priz't are not like natur'd.
 The fool and wise differ alwayes.
 'Tis not beauty makes women amiable.
 'Tis not by the bill the woodcock must be bought.
 Praise a fair day neither morn or noon, but at night.
 Call not every matron, Mother.
 The world about is but a ball.
 The mad doth not care for the meek.
 Rome was not done in one day.
 Needy poor and noddy pate, never part.
 Twixt fury and force no divorce.
 Love in shew doth pass over shame.
 Pimps and bawds hate those of their trades.
 Proud men care not to meet.
 The hand is the treasure of the heart.
 A high Feast, the hens farewell.
 Bents are known to have knots.

Little mischief too much.

Not hard to do, easily done.
 A fearfull Don, cries hold the dog.
 Forewarnd happy and arm'd.
 Offer too fair, pay for the folly.
 Some desires foul and faulty.
 Some sin incestuous.
 Too streight breaks, though strong.
 Too full ever runs over.
 The higher the fool, the greater the fall.
 A foe soon seen.
 The covetous spies through a perspective.
 Some odd ones become odious.
 Little and scarce is dear and scant.
 The Buck-kid leaps by kind.

Who kills discovers.
 Disgrace though conceal'd, not safe.
 The shepherd is oft the wolf.
 Blindness foreseen seven years.
 A long tale with a seven-lock'd boy, speaks Tomboy.
 What is safe, is safest.
 Jeffreys is the Helve, and Jeffreys the Hatchet.
 God mock with a dead Monk,
 Talk of Lammas when 'tis Christmass.
 Every lout lazy.
 Make clean for shame the plough-share.
 Fly and be gone speaks guilty.

Tables to play, taverns to talk.
 A tongue bad breaks bones, (or)
 A bad tongue turbulent.
 A golden tongue guides a tale.
 Believe no tales from an enemies tongue.

Over-loaded well rewarded.
 The silent chews most mischief.
 As like as a sack to a saddle.
 As like as a hogs cheek to a chalice.
 Without fault perfect and fair,
 Every one well featur'd and fair.
 Fire seen alwayes seasonable.
 A wanton wench bids thrice farewell.

Wanton lasses many lessons.
 Pay after sway and forswear.
 Who ends and wins takes the wager.
 Tell now much and have no more.
 The steed serves while the grass grows.

While the dog tires in the field,
 The Hare takes the Fal'el.
 The Oxe draws and is driven ever till evening.
 The oppression of orphans,
 The destruction of heirs.
 While harrow drawn mills must not dry.
 Covenant tried stronger then truth.
 Nature stronger then nurture.
 So God speed never despair.
 A weak Lord overtops a great Lurdane.
 Fortunes wiles forestall will.
 Wealth takes leave, but fame doth live.
 All sing or sigh are doom'd to dy.

*All sing, or sigh, are doom'd to dy.
 Stay thy vote, till invi ed.
 Stay for glory, if not for gain.
 Each mournfull soul sad.
 Turn about the Bush.
 Turn the Puz, in Phœbus.
 Mischance hardly eschewed.
 A staff firm, a third foot.
 Twt la, 'tis a horse lent.
 Deceive trust intrusted.
 The trap to high-born, Ambition.
 A bribe I know is a juggling knave.
 As the boy growes, his coat doth decrease.
 A Colt's height known by the hams.
 A Bullock grows big from the belly.
 A womans Fortune to be wanton.
 The saying concurs with the song.
 The womb not descried, till the child cry.
 A small fire-brand flies abroad.
 What God will not cannot prosper.*

*The wise sometimes is sad and sighs.
 The old wife may hap,
 Cry after her pap.
 One O wonder may nurse a hundred,
 (or) In one lap a hundred may ly.
 Neglect one step, make many a stride.
 One hand maketh Fire,
 But hundreds find to cull wooll faire.
 A Nurse not harmd, though one armd.
 Monoculus may be King in Cæus country.
 A penny hire brings in a hundred.
 The hen barr'd of Oats in Barn.
 Neezing's free, closed cannot be.
 Once my Lady would swim ore,
 She drown'd, O me ! she will swim no more.
 One head higher then two shoulders.*

*A sad countenance, a sorry Courtier.
 The Foxes procession-week.*

*The dark vertigo.
 The belly robs the back.
 Gain waves Impediments.
 A little milk, and that Butser-milk,
 Many littles make a great.
 If hanging for a dog thou wouldst shape,
 Say, he killeth sheep.
 The wedge that goes, drive again.
 The first that brings in Trist, let him grind.*

*The first heard he said it, for ever conceald it.
 Harrow fast, reap first.
 The drop wears out the stone,
 Not by force, but of falling on.
 The last that grindeth his meal in Mill,
 Deepest toll payes likely still.
 He that selleth his house, may ly on the hills.
 Hath a horn no ear to hear.
 The sinbe it ever so secret that thou dost commit, at length it will come out.
 The Mill stands that wants water.
 A Maid's pracontact, marr's her postcontract.*

Were the Cat-skin pure, they would sleigh it sure.
 Ride on still more, and still seekest thy mare.
 The gowne was given to many an one, and yet the gowne is not gone.
 The hand that gives, gathers.
 The grunting horse bears best.
 Though rarely sin, at length breeds shame.
 Hide the Calf, top of the coffer.
 Whatever is well hath its reward.
 In each bad saying, sin.
 In every choice, there is chariness.
 In every trade, there is want of truth.
 In every wound, there is danger.
 In every ground, men valiant and great.
 In every self, there is a soul.
 In every soul, there is sense.
 In every sense or meaning, a mind.
 In every mind good or bad abides.
 Death shews in all shapes.
 In every war, need to be wary.
 In every fault, there is folly.
 Wish the smith to fight in his own forge.
 Strive with a wise man, thou wilt be wiser.
 Strive with a fool, thou wilt be more foolish.
 In winter nights, God save our Neats.
 The dumb I traw, speaks truth.
 One year, a mother dear,
 The next a stepdame.
 Seeking the green grass dry,
 The Mare drown'd.
 He that shoots alwayes aright,
 Forfeits his Arrow.
 A foolish clown tears his own clothes.
 One poyson expels another.
 Have a horse of thy own, thou maist borrow another.
 In the skin, the Wolf goes in,
 The same no doubt, the Wolf goes out.
 Have much, have none, and thrive therefore.
 A bird hatch'd in Hell, thereout is nere well.
 The Goat in hue, black and blue.
 Hai and how, kill'd the Sow.
 Still Sow that grunts, eats all the grains.
 The Sow cries wee, till dead we see.
 The Lamb in shew, doth teach the Yew.
 The one bone payes.
 A good Mill, that refuseth meal.
 Do harm, to avoid harm.
 The liberal, doth give to all.
 Ten nails were made, to feed one mouth.
 Light Portage, piles.
 Light come, light go.
 The fiery Oxe outmost.
 Better play in, then play out of tune.
 All have full hands.
 Churls meat devour it, never thank him for it.
 The fools mess had before hand.

 A rich man uncharitable.
 A Justice without Justice.
 A Bishop without Learning.
 An old Man without Godliness.
 A young Man without Humility.
 A Man wise in words, without good works.

Wise Odiums.

A man

That knows not letter, and will not learn.
 That hath no servant, and will not serve himself.
 That hath much and gives nothing.
 That strives with his greater, till he go to his grave.
 That's no son of Mars, and yet proclaims wars.
 That mocks another for faults written in his own forehead.
 That thinks himself good and ſure, and is but a giddy fool.
 That borrows more pounds then he is able to pay.
 That supplies others need, and leaves himself nothing.
 That promises all things and performs nothing.
 That threatens all fierce, but none fear him.
 That talks over and over, and will hear no other.
 That seeks all things, and gets nothing.
 That commits his secrets to his enemy, or women.
 That cheapens all, and buys none.
 That perjures himself, and none believes him.
 That dishonours himself to honour another.
 That seeth good Arts and manners, and knoweth nothing o their meaning.
 That buys all he sees and gains nothing.
 That hates all, and is hated of all.
 That trusts none, and is trusted of none.
 That handles every Case, without cause.
 That gives his strength to a stranger.
 That believes a knave, though unknown.
 That doth so much in one day, that he can doe nothing in the next.
 That trusts to guiles in a gift.

That

That hath his choice, takes not the chief.
 That makes a price of pride.
 That shunneth his own good, lest his neighbour should gain.
 That doth no good nor suffers others.
 That fortifies himself in sin.
 That thinks he is wise, is but a wizard.
 That learns much, knows nothing.
 That leaves his fellow without fault found.
 That commits sin, and repents not soon.
 The poor that scorns pittance.
 That knows Gods Law, pleads against it though for meer reward, to him be woe.

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE,

And most R. F. in God,

BRIAN DUPPA,

Lo. Bishop of Salisbury.

My Lord,

That so many poor Infants after so hard a labour, may receive a Benediction now at the close, specially this last, which (though he comes in the Rank, I esteem mine own more then any of the rest, I make my humble addresse to your Lordshipp; For having called my Thoughts often to Counsell who should give this Blessing, they all concluded ther was none so fit to do it as your Lordshipp: And indeed ther were many reasons for it; First, the Character I have heard applied unto you, which was given of one of the Holiest Fathers of the Church, That you were Coelestis Homo, & Terrestris Angelus, A Heavenly Man, and Terrestriall Angell, being Pious in so intense a Degree; which Exemplary Piety goes attended with a becoming Reverentiall gravity, with such a meekness of spirit, and so many high Morall Vertues, together with a rare Equanimity in possessing your soul with so much patience and courage, by making your crosses stoop unto you after so long a time of pressure. Lastly, your most Exquisite Learning, and Universality of Knowledge, attended with such a soundnesse of Judgement, and clearnesse of Understanding; The pleasing Contemplation, and experimentall Knowledge of all these Particulars, induced me to this just Application of desiring your Blessing accordingly.

Touching

Touching the Ingredients of this last Peece, they cannot yet be called Proverbs, for as Rome was not built in a day, so a Proverb is not suddenly made, but it requires a long Tract of Time, and vulgarity of usage before it becomes a Proverb, it is the Common-people alone that have priviledge of making Proverbs.

To conclude, I thought it not amiss to apprehend this Oportunity, to make the world know the high Reverence I bear to your Lordship, and the sense I have ofundry Noble Civilities I received from time to time; as also of the favourable Opinion you please to have of divers Things of mine; which makes me in a due Reverenciall posture, thus to crave your Benediction, and to professe my self upon this publick Record,

The first Century.

Nake thou the furrowes, and God will feed thee feed.
In a flutish house the Devill fincks his taylor.
As fast as a Puritans knee, who will not bend to him who make it.
English Merchant, wilt thou gain?
Thou have Commerce, and peace with Spain.
As rodd as a Rags note, who was christened in paine.
Robb the King thou may it be hung'd,
Robb the Church thou wilt be damn'd.
The rich misers son quickly mewes his fathers reapure.
Want begens Peaces as a ruddy Evening a fair morn.
Doffe thy clothes till thou goest to bed,
Nor put on thy hose till thou art dead.
Burne thy fingers to thine another mans candle.
Whom thou to argue ere the cat be fared,
Lett slip his dogg before the Hare be fared.
Repentance is good, but Innocence is better.

Clear thy Conscience before thou close thy eyes, so thou mayest have golden dreams.
A good name like a Maydenhead, once lost irre-coverable.
If Spain had Bread enough, and Mons,
She of the Cook would make a Hen, viz. Of Gallies the French.
Sea sicknesse and child-birth pain
Are like, they both will not again.
The words of a Catholick, the words of a Puritan, and the Faith of a Protestant, may make a perfect Christian.
He is a true Author that creates a fancy.
Who adores gold is the worst idolater.
If thou wilt make a good Will, do it while thou art well.
As hot as a punkle place.
A Rebell, and mad dogg knock in the head,
They bite no more when they are dead.
The Devil is Gods stinelow.
Give not a Lawyer or Physician fee,
Unless it be as pure necessary.
You will make me believe as soon that the Spanish
Mons is as hot as the Swedish Sun.

As sneezing comes from a bad cause,
 So from ill manners come good lawes.
 As Mercury among the Planets, is the Frenchman
 among other Nations.
 From the Berry of the Grape, and Grain of the (Barly.
 Comes many a fray, and hurlyburly.
 Be thy breath never so sweet, thy own praise stinks out of it.
 An Essex Calf will never make a well Run.
 When comes from Heaven bear on thy knees, what from men on thy shoulders; viz. Man-fully.
 Worldly Accidents are but new Moons in the old ones shape.
 Gett Ireland to day, and England may be thine to morrow.
 Put all in the Pater-Noster, thy self only in thy Creed.
 We come into the world with our heads forward,
 we go out with our heels.
 I would not wish such an opinion to the worst of my enemies.
 Rash prayer is rather a sin then a sacrifice.
 Here is Wine indeed to be drunk in the Devils skull.
 Who woo's with fine clothes, maketh the Taylor his Broker.
 I think this Bacon was a piece of Lotts wives buttock, 'tis so salt.
 Truth is the result of Reason.
 As jealousy in Love, so is superstition in Religion.
 Rebellion the spawn of wealth and wantonnesse.
 Heaven once named, all things else are bables.
 The Dutch in drinking charge the brain with smal shott, the English with bullers, viz. Whole glasses.
 A shipp's a wooden horse, who carrieth his burden in his belly, and his bridle in his tayl.
Chameleons take all colours but the white,
 And Schismatics all fancies but the right.
 Idleness the Devils couch, and lust his cushion.
 The Master who correcteth the childe kisseth the Mother.
 The present Philosophers compar'd to the old, are as Dwarfs on Giants shoulders.
 Surely he knew well that coals would burn, who first invented fire-tongs.
 You must not expect perfumes in a Piggsty.
 As wise as the Mayor of Banbury, who would prove that Henry the Third, was before Hen-ry
 the Second.
 He may knock boldly, who bringeth good newes.
 The long Parlement made God Almighty the greatest Malignant, for they plundered his House most.
 He is as fit for that place, as an ambling horse is for a Coach.
 A loyall Subject like the Marigold should open and shutt with the Sun; viz. His Soveraign Prince.
 A good house-wife should twinkle in her house like a Starre in its Sphere.

God never turneth his face from us, till we turn our backs to him.
Plutarch gave life to many others, but the longest to himself.
 There is many that goe up Holborn, and so to Heaven in a string.
 Ther's no book all Gospel but the holy Scripture alone.
 The stripe of a friend, better then the stroaking of an enemy.
 A true friend a great treasure.
 Opportunity the greatest bawd.
 The Historian who speaketh well of all, speaketh well of none.
 VWho dies by a wrong Sentence is murdered by the sword of Justice.
 Parlemt Bills without the Princes consent like matches without fire.
 An opinion got into a Roundheads brain is like Quick-silver in a hot loaf.
 The lash of Conscience a fore-whipp.
 A true friend chimney-like is hottest in winter, viz.
In adversity.
 The Floure of England fine enough, the Bran very coarse; viz. the Gentry and Cominallty.
 As much differing as a Frenchmans speech and his writing.
 The rich Miler like the Swan sings sweetest before death, viz. When he makes his last Will.
 The way to Heaven is to pass through Hell.
 God striketh with the left hand and stroaketh with the right.
 The Glutton diggeth his grave with his teeth.
 He hath good parts, but a fool hath them in keeping.
 The Church-yard like a Chesseboard-bagg where all mates meet.
 Better to commend the vertue of an enemy, then flatter the vice of a friend.
 Choler opposed, is like a rapid torrent meeting with a dam.
Spanish wares better then Spanish wares.
 Opinion the greatest Lady that swayeth the world.
 Warm, but do not burn thy self at the fire of Passion.
 Take heed of a speedy friend in France, and of a slow enemy in Italy.
 Who goeth to right himself by Duel, may receive a greater wrong then the former.
 A wavering man like a skeyn of silk, the least thing entangleth him.
 The upbraiding of a courtesie half as bad as ingratitude.
 Pride a flower that groweth in the Devils garden.
French women are so kind, that at first entrance you may have acquaintance, and at first acquaintance you may have entrance.
 Where Mars pitcheth his Tent, Venus pitcheth her Pavilion.
 Thank that sin which moveth thee to Repentance.

Prayer maketh the first rain fall, but Prayse the second.
'Tis further from London to Highgate, then from Highgate to London.
Who is too familiar with his master stands too near the fire.

He is a sory souldier who stayeth for fair weather.
In Gods House there can be no exesse of Reverence.
The patient man is alwayes at home.

The second Century.

DO thou thy best, and leave to God the rest.
Had I left one of my ears in Scotland, I should hardly go thither to fetch it again.
The Presbyterian maketh Oathes his Engines to lay battery to the soul.
The Sword maketh Refon, where he findeth none.
One may draw a damn'd soul out of Hell, as draw a penny out of his purse.
The King represents God, the Parlement the People, tell me who is highest?
Peace with Heaven the best friendship.
'Tis good to be an Athiest 'mong them who make gold their god.
If we knew what would happen we should be all Politicians.
Nor walk nor water thy hott nagg,
So he will carry still thy bagg.
In a hundred pounds of Law, there is scarce an ounce of Love.
The way to improve thy Learning, is to teach another.
Ther's many husbands able Arithmeticians, yet they cannot multiply.
While the Cow chews the cudd the Horse still eateth.
Go to bedd dry, thou needst not fear death before the morning.
A Translator is an Author as a Cobler is a Shoemaker.
Some Gentlemen are better then Knights, as Chancery-lane is better then Knight-riders-street.
He lives in as much plenty as a Millers Cock.
If the Lion saith the Fox hath horns, he must have them.
New-England hath undone the old; viz. With distractions.
Ther's no danger to prostrate thy self at a Crosse, all the while thy mind is prostrate to thy Creator.
Schismatics like Snakes though cutt asunder, yet the pieces will cling again together.
Excise and plunder though Dutch words, yet are they of the Devils hatching.
Live in compasse, so thou mayst whet thy knife at the Counter-gate.

A wife were a fine Book if she were an Almanack, that a man might change her once a year.
The Apple groweth on the Tree, not the Cyder.
To live among bad men is worse then banishment.
The Pox in the bones not curable till the Resurrection.
Let thy Conscience be thy judge here, that he may not be thy accuser hereafter.
A Booke borrowed is sooner read then a Booke bought.
Two in the afternoon is more then ten in the morning.
Two heads are better then one, said old Weymark, when he wisht Sir W. Raleighs head upon Secretary Nantons shoulders.
Pride is oftner seen through a threedbare coat then through a silk cloak.
All your horses do amble.
Sloth breeds the Scurvy.
'Tis a dear collop that is cutt out of ones own flesh.
Before thou take for better or worse, be sure that one of the two have a good posse.
The Ducks have merry lifes, for they do nothing but tittle and swive.
Who marries a widdow falleth into a pit wherein another perisht.
The Devil will do me no hurt, for I married his kinswoman; quoth one that had a scold to his wife.
A clean-fingerd wife is not alwayes the best housewife.
The way to loose a Friend is to lend him money.
Day and Truth may be discerned through a little hole.
In marriage the Young tieth a knott, that all the teeth in the head cannot untie afterwards.
Hang pinching, lets drink the tother pott, we shall never do it younger.
The sweet savour which Vertue leaveth behind, is better then the black fudds of Vice.
With Time, and Art, the Mulberry leafe groweth to be a fig.
Rather bribe, then loose thy right.

Mans body is but the thorough-fare of sheep and Oxen.

Who laughs at his own jest, is like the hen that cackles when she hath laid an egg.

Deeds are Johns, and words Nans.
